KNUDSEN IS NOW MAN OF THE HOUR

MICHIGAN PLAYS LEADING ROLE IN NATION'S DEFENSE PROGRAM AGAINST HITLER

LANSING, Jan. 2 — When historians record the world events of 1941, Michigan may rightfully have merited a place of distinction.

We refer to an American man of the hour—William S. Knudsen.

Upon the shoulders of this General Motors past president rests a responsibility of appalling consequences.

Military experts agree that the second war has not been a battle of men, but a battle of machines. They also point out that Hitler's present domination of Europe, the constant parade of falling democracies, has been due, to a large degree, to a totalitarian application of mass production methods conceived in a democracy.

In other words, the Michigan automobile assembly line!

It is a sober fact that a decade ago, before Hitler's coup in 1933, a delegation of German industrial experts visited the Detroit automobile plants and witnessed with admiration the astonishing efficiency in production of a constantly advancing line of machine parts which finally grew into a finished product, ready for immediate consumer use.

It is significant that in the 1941 battle of machines, the fate of England may rest on whether the United States can achieve under democratic processes maximum production of vitally needed arms.

At the mass bombing of English industrial centers will continue to cripple the manufacture of munitions and arms, it is becoming increasingly evident that the English must put greater reliance on American plants to replace lost production and to effect ultimate superiority of machines.

And hence the importance of an appeal by Mr. Knudsen to the American people "to pull off their coats and roll up their sleeves and give their concentrated undivided attention to one thing—the swiftest possible production of the means of defense."

Because Michigan is first among all states in volume of government arms contracts let to date, we cannot dodge the responsibility that accompanies these defense orders. One newspaper writer in a dispatch from Detroit referred to the predominating sentiment of today in Michigan as "a mixture of determination and resentment" as follows:

"Determination to achieve a swift output of war machine goods.

Resentment against critics for expecting miracles to overnight in an engineering task that demands blue-prints and machine dies before mass production can begin.

In turning to Michigan industries the federal government is placing a heavy burden on not only management but also on labor.

Otto Tolischus, Pulitzer winner for foreign correspondence from Germany, recently pointed out at a dinner in Detroit that this war was one of motors and that Michigan held a trump card.

Unless we — and apply it to Michigan—can effect a further speed-up of supplies to Britain, the United States may face Hitler alone in 1941, he warned.

Tolischus said the French collapse was due to French emphasis on social benefits, while Germany was busily rearming herself. German industrial production rose from 54 to 130 while French fell from 75 to 67, all during the familiar period of 1932 to 1938.

Mr. Knudsen called it our Friday night to Monday "black-out." He admitted that plane production is 30 per cent below expectation. He deplored the machine-tool industry bottlenecks, and he appealed to management and labor alike, to accomplish the "impossible" in view of the "terrible urgency of the situation."

In breaking the bottlenecks, and in achieving the "impossible," industry is confronted with many problems. Here are a few:

1. Can labor be induced to work six days instead of five without the penalty of overtime wages?

2. Can labor be induced to forego strikes in national defense plants unless management is given ample advance notice, say 30 days?

Labor's problems include these:

1. Can management be induced to share the profits of war orders by payment of overtime wages?

2. How can labor retain its present social gains — collective bargaining, higher wages, etc.

If both management and labor fail to achieve the "impossible" in meeting the demands of the present crisis, then look for the declaration by the President of a national emergency which would bring the near equivalent of a military dictatorship.

A further step would be our actual military involvement in the war (we are already in the war financially) under which the Pres-

Chronology Of Old Year Is Printed By The Herald

A chronology of 1940, giving you the day and the date of the important happenings during the past 12 months, will be found on page six of today's issue. "The Year in Review" has been a regular feature of The Herald for years, and it is being repeated this year at the request of many readers who make it a practice of keeping the page for reference purposes.

Public speakers, teachers, ministers and others find the chronology very useful for reference work, as well as business men and club women who may deside to turn to it during the coming months to better fix in their minds the dates of important events. High school students also will find it useful in connection with the study of history and current events.

The Herald suggests that you turn to page six and refresh your memory on important dates. Then, after you have finished reading the paper, preserve the page for future reference.

AUTO TAX TOTAL HITS NEW PEAK

TOTAL RETURN TO COUNTIES WILL EXCEED $21,000,000 SURVEY SHOWS

LANSING, Jan. 2 — Indications this week pointed to an increase of more than $1,475,000 in disbursements of automobile weight tax to counties for the calendar year of 1940.

On the basis of collections already made, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy estimated that the weight tax disbursements to counties would total $21,370,000 for an all-time high.

In addition to the weight tax disbursements, the counties also receive $6,550,000 by statute from gasoline tax receipts, bringing the total amount for 1940 to an estimated $27,920,000, as compared with $26,443,910.27 for 1939, the previous all-time high.

Kennedy also stated that the state highway department was expected to benefit by an increase of approximately $2,280,691.56 from gasoline tax revenues over the 1939 figures. He estimated receipts from this source at $32,220,000, as compared with $29,939,408.44 for 1939.

Said Kennedy:

"Greatly increased use of our highways as reflected by better business conditions is responsible for the gain in gasoline and weight tax revenues upon which the state and county highway departments are largely dependent for operating funds."

In addition to the disbursements to counties, the state highway department also expended $15,400,000 for highway construction during the year, an increase of $5,232,751.72 over last year, Kennedy stated, while maintenance and traffic service figures were reduced from $6,785,290.17 in 1939 to $6,763,000 this year.

The highway department was also shown to have contributed $4,082,000 to the bond sinking fund from its 1940 receipts.

SIX ARE KILLED IN CAR MISHAPS

SCORES OF OTHERS HURT, 16 IN COUNTY, AS SNOWFALL BLOCKS TRAFFIC

The slippery pavements here Tuesday caused R. S. Brown, Toledo truck driver, to break a 10-year-no-accident record, besides damaging his machine and another driven by Charles Seitz.

The accident happened at West Pottawatamie and Van Buren streets, the two drivers being unable to halt their cars because of the icy condition of the streets.

It was the last day of the old year, but Brown's 10-year record was shattered.

The heaviest traffic death toll for a single day this winter, six killed in Michigan, and scores of others injured throughout the state, including 16 in Lenawee county — that was the result of Sunday's snowstorm which blocked highways in some sections, made driving extremely dangerous, and sent the mercury tumbling from the late fifties to the freezing mark.

Tecumseh and Lenawee county escaped without a fatality, but sheriff's officers and the state police reported that 18 persons were hurt in a series of accidents in widely separated sections of this district, Detroit's first traffic death in two days raised the total killed there for 1940 to 250, a twenty per cent increase over a year ago. The other five deaths occurred in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula.

The storm started with a drizzling rain on Saturday night, turning to snow at noon Sunday. Scores of motorists, away from their homes at the holiday season, figured in mishaps in this county, and officers said that dozens of cars were in the ditches on trunk line highways. Garagemen were kept busy all of Sunday night, and highway snowplows were called into service.

Wm. Emmett, sr., 46, of Ann Arbor, and five members of his family were treated at Bixby hospital, Adrian, for injuries received when their car skidded on the ice and plunged into a creek Sunday. Their car, loaded with Christmas packages, hit another driven by William Elliott who lives south of Adrian. He escaped with bruises. Both cars were badly damaged.

Three cars figured in a mishap on US-223 near the Ohio line, Sunday afternoon, when they were Carl Norton, Grand Rapids, C. J. Abbott, Toledo, and Mrs. Abbott, and Curtis McCaskey, Morenci and H. L. Everett, Sandusky, Ohio.

Mrs. Chas. Crandall, Birdsall, was hurt when the car driven by her husband collided on Sunday afternoon with one driven by Norman Van Auker, Adrian, on M-52, south of Madison Center.

Bert Eesley, Fremont, Ohio, suffered injuries to his shoulders and ribs when his car skidded near Riga, and rolled into a ditch. He was in water up to his neck and unable to free himself from the wreckage. Blissfield state police rescued him.

Leland Robinson, Adrian, and Eddie Stevens, Adrian, were the drivers of cars that collided Sunday on M-52 near Adrian. They were not hurt.

Six persons were injured in four accidents in Adrian, Sunday, a three-car crash resulted in injuries to four persons at the end of County Seat City. They were Mrs. L. A. Cameron, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson and Miss Zanifa Cadoo of Clayton, a passenger in the Wilson car. Mrs. Nellie Shanedour of Adrian, was hurt in another accident in Adrian, when the car in which she was riding collided with one driven by James Hunt of Clayton. Lester Waltz, Adrian, was cut and bruised when his car ran off the road near Palmyra.

In Tecumseh, garagemen said that there were no accidents that caused personal injury. Several cars were brought to garages for repair, however, some with badly wrinkled fenders, and others with radiators and wheels badly in need of repair.

INTERNAL STRENGTH NEEDED

At a time when every American is considerably interested—quite properly—in the physical defenses of our country, it is not inopportune to listen to careful but wise words about our internal economic strength. For without economic strength, we can not be physically strong.

On this point the recent views of Philip D. Reed, Chairman of the Board of the General Electric Co., aptly point up the situation.

As an example of the disintegration that results from lack of strong internal defense, Mr. Reed cites the tragic experience of France. "The battle of France was not won on the battlefield," he said, "nor was the much-vaunted French Army defeated in any real sense. Indeed, the battle was not won at all; it was lost before it began, and the real victor was economic anaemia and social dissention in the French Republic."

Analyzing our present economic condition, Mr. Reed points out to both the advantages and problems resulting from the sudden stimulation to industry of our national defense program. Thus, though the current high level of activity has resulted from defense production, a brand new set of problems is at hand. In discussing these problems, Mr. Reed states:

"The elements are with us that make for inflation and a war-time boom in prices. Government and industry alike are determined that this shall not occur. It can be prevented without government compulsion if, and only if, every company, every industry and every organized group in the country will firmly embrace and accept the principle that prices and wages shall not be advanced arbitrarily to take advantage of the situation created by the defense activity.

"Although profit margins on defense work will be narrow — indeed, too narrow to be justified under normal circumstances — we are here faced with very special conditions which call for cooperation and for sacrifice by all."

We concur in Mr. Reed's statement that it is the responsibility of all Americans "to exert at the proper time and place the full weight of our strength, our ideals, and our leadership toward a realistic, economic, and therefore lasting peace."

THE COUNTRY OF ROMANCE

There is something about this country of romance that stirs the imagination. In its history is the stuff of dreams, its future is still beyond imagining. Nothing like it has ever happened in the world before. Nothing like it will ever happen again.

It's rich — this country of romance, and powerful. But these are not the things that make it irresistible to the people of other less romantic lands. It's something in its spirit . . . in it's dreams . . . In the freedoms it takes for granted, in a world where freedom of any kind has become something very rare.

Little people — farmers, shoemakers, soldiers half a world away are thrilled with stories of this fabulous land. Their eyes brighten when they talk of it. The great men of this land are "giants in the earth." It's a land where great ideals have been realized and where humble people have found a chance to do the things they dream of only in other countries; where a great system of industry produces comforts for even the humblest. The great documents of this land are not tiresome legal papers. They are great epic poems. They glow with promise. They speak of man's rights. They even mention the pursuit of happiness. The pursuit of happiness in a document of state! It is incredible to those who haven't grown up taking it for granted.

It's easy to believe in this romantic land . . . in its ideals . . . its institutions. It's my way of carrying on the every-day affairs of life.

A little talk — a little explanation and men and women know that this is where the promise lies; that this country, with its brief romantic history and its inexhaustible riches, is the hope of the world.

But it MUST be talked about. It MUST be explained, not only to the millions of foreign born people within its borders but to millions of others who were born here. The barrage of criticism and actual untruth from overseas is having an effect. It must be counteracted by people who believe in the American way — for America is the country of romance.

The finest article in the world must be advertised. And even a country that believes so fundamentally in every individual's pursuit of happiness that it's written in its first great state paper, must tell its story to the people of the world!

To wish you all
and every happiness

Michigan Holiday Spirit Dampered By Federal Grand Jury Indictments

LANSING, Jan. 2—Joy is lacking in Michigan today when the old holiday refrain is sung: "Yo, ho, ho! And a bottle of rum!"

With a nosey federal grand jury returning indictments by the dozen as the result of a four-year-old investigation into the purchase and sale of liquor, this rummy business in Michigan is utterly devoid of "yo,ho, ho!" Believe us, mates!

Michigan is one of 14 states which have sought to control the sale of liquor for the purpose of preventing political, social and economic abuses. We have what is known as a "state liquor monopoly," and while the emphasis has seldom been on revenue, nevertheless the monopoly has paid handsome dividends to the taxpayers for state and municipal activities. The consumer pays the usual prices; yet a slice of the profit goes to the state. European countries even have established monopolies for tobacco, or salt, or even matches — all for the purpose of revenue for public services.

It is common law custom not to imply guilt until the accused has been convicted, and the innocence of a defendant is likewise assumed until court and jury decide otherwise.

Hence the grand jury indictments may be taken, for our purposes, only as a peg upon which to hang certain observations and interpretations, none of which will attempt to try the case in print.

In the first place, the grand jury inquiry has been under way for the past four years, two of which were under Democratic control and the other two years under Republican control.

The indictments cover a period of eight years. It is also noteworthy to observe that the fluctuating independent voting block of Michigan's electorate has swung the political scales from one party to the other every two years in the past decade.

Frank A. Picard, of Saginaw, now a federal judge in Detroit, was chairman of the state liquor control commission during the firts two years of the liquor control law in 1933 and 1934. Then came the first Fitzgerald administration with Judge John S. McDonald of Grand Rapids, a Republican, serving as chairman. After Frank Murphy, now a United States supreme court jurist, became governor on Jan. 1, 1937, Prof. Edward W. McFarland of Wayne university, Detroit, was appointed chairman as a Democratic member. The swinging pendulum back to Fitzgerald brought Orrin A. DeMass of Detroit, a Republican, into the position as commission chairman.

The making and sale of liquor is big business with two capital B's.

November sales in Michigan exceeded $3,000,000 of which 54 per cent were in Detroit. Package sales through private dealers accounted for 55 per cent of the state sales; licensees (clubs, taverns, etc.) 30 per cent, while the state liquor stores sold 15 per cent.

Detroit sales through private dealers or state stores were less than the state percentages, while purchases by the glass rose to 41 per cent instead of the 30 per cent state average.

Also of interest is the continued rising demand for hard liquors, and the lagging consumption of beer on the basis of pre-prohibition figures. Brewers have a real problem on thir hands, not only to dignify their product through the control of social abuses but to maintain popular consumption of their product.

The distillers, too, have had a perpetual headache. The Michigan situation, if so determined in court, was apparently just one annoyance of many.

It was seven years ago that the eighteenth amendment was repealed, and the liquor distillers have yet to solve the problem of stabilization through voluntary control.

Faced with a certainty that a repetition of liquor abuses, or lack of proper control, would invite the ultimate return of prohibition, leading distillers sought to impose self-regulation. They proposed for themselves a czar such as Will Hays for the motion picture industry, or Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis for organized baseball. Dr. Wesley Sturges, Yale professor, was selected to be director of the Distilled Spirits Institute.

The Institute sought to police its own affairs. The Michigan situation, wherein distillers are said to have made graft payments for the questionable (if not mythical) "privilege" of selling their products in Michigan, became just one of the numerous worries. However, disagreement among the distillers disrupted the liquor czar plan. Dr Sturges resigned. A price war recently broke out in New York City and Chicago. The U. S. Treasury department, successor to the defunct federal alcohol administration, is threatening to invoke powers against unfair trade practices, while the Federal Trade commission is swinging a club against so-called coltuitive fair-trade enforcement which is another price stabilization to the industry, or price-fixing to the consumer.

A recent survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion, headed by Dr. George Gallup, revealed that dry sentiment has not increased sharply in the past year or so. The trend toward prohibition is still to crystalize. Majority public opinion still holds as socially acceptable the drinking of cocktails by both men and women.

The Michigan Anti - Saloon league recently abandoned an effort for an initiatory law to prohibit liquor sales outside of municipalities, and there has even been some talk of changing the name of this venerable organization, now headed by Senator Earl Burhans, Paw Paw.

But the federal grand jury activity is bound to provoke certain repercussions in the 1941 state legislature. It has opened up, once again, the ancient problem of controlling the sale and consumption of that bottle of rum.

School Notes

Home Economics Classes

For the last four weeks the Sophomore girls "Home Economics" class has had the privilege of serving luncheon to the Rotary Club. The class was divided into four groups. Each group chose a chairman; then they planned the menu for the luncheon and bought the food, assigned jobs, set and decorated the tables, and the room, served the luncheon and paid all the bills. Halcyon Mead was chairman of the first group. The tables were decorated with the Rotary emblem which was in the center of the table with "Mums" as the hub of the wheel. There were vases of flowers at each end of the table.

Mary Louise Stevenson was chairman of the second group, who decorated the room and the tables in patriotic colors.

Jean Marie Herrick was the chairman of the third group. This time the tables were decorated in red and green with white "mums" as a center piece.

Yoland Baldwin is chairman of the fourth group. The tables and room will be decorated in green and gold. The Rotary club asked for a Christmas dinner, so the menu will consist of cock-tail, turkey and dressing, squash, creamed onions, mashed potatoes, cranberries, relishes, rolls, Christmas pudding, and coffee.

The Sophomore girls have enjoyed putting on the luncheons for the Rotary Club, and we hope that the members of the Rotary Club have enjoyed the luncheons, too.

Our school lunches have drawn large crowds this year. Last year the average was 83 people per day. The first week that lunches were served this year the average was 108 per day, and the second week the average was 105 people per day. Not less than 90 people have been served so far.

The seventh and eighth grades are working on their Christmas unit. Next week the seventh grade will make Christmas candy. The eighth graders are going to make candy, too, and they have made gifts. The Freshmen are also making candy.

Reporter, Betty Gray.

Mrs Bliel's Classes

In girls' gym classes this month basketball is being played. In each class there are groups called squads, made up of from eight to twelve girls. These squads have a captain, and they play other squads.

In the third hour gym class, Jean Lott's team is ahead with Mary Lou Carlson's team coming next. Nancy Tingley's team is leading the sixth hour class.

During the noon hour games are played between squads from both divisions of the gym classes. Mary Lou Carlson's, Lenore Larsen's and Joyce Sallows' teams are leading. The winners of the noon-hour games will play the Juniors' and the Seniors' teams.

Reporter, Delee Perin.

Sixth Grade
Mrs Smith, Teacher

In history we are studying the Crusades and their results. It is most interesting.

We have a new girl in our room whose name is Patricia Graham. She came from Adrian, and we will try to make her very happy with us.

Our hall and lawn monitors have new green-and-white arm bands.

In music we are getting ready for our Christmas play. We are learning Christmas songs.

In art we are working on "all-over" patterns.

Mrs Laidlaw gave us some yellow flowers to put in our room.

Jean Wilson brought in some spindles from the Clinton woolen mill to show how the thread is wound.

The room helpers are Phoebe Covell and Gwendolyn Watson.

Friday afternoon a group under the direction of Mr Camburn, gave us a demonstration of different types of instruments used in a band. We learned much about sound vibration, and we thank Mr Camburn and his group for our lesson.

Reporters, Martha Hewlett and Wilfred Waldron.

Fifth Grade
Miss Starr, Teacher

This week we tried to raise our "A" score, as a result of seeing our report cards. We were partly successful.

We have a new girl in our room, Jane Swick.

Our room won the prize from the Senior Class for selling the most tickets to their play. We haven't decided yet what we will get with the money. The boy who won the individual prize in our room for selling the most tickets was Bob Moore. In Music class we won the "Airplane-round-the-world" trip, too.

We have just finished our harvest art designs. We think them attractive.

The boys who were room-helpers this week were Tom Corkery, Stanley Swain, and Junior Martin.

Reporter, Jay Tressler.

Fourth and Fifth Grades
Mrs. Pfaus, Teacher

Irving Shaw brought a small plant to school a few weeks ago. The plant died, but some morning glory seeds that were in the dirt started to grow, and now we have plants several inches high with buds on them. We think it quite novel to have morning glories in winter.

When we returned to our room from music class last Thursday morning we found sixteen pictures of airplanes and several maps showing the main air routes in the United States displayed in our room. We were very much interested in these, and that afternoon eight model airplanes came to school. Some of the children plan on making an airport now.

Gertrude Shervino and Zoe Ann Pennington are room helpers this week.

Fourth Grade
Miss Cole, Teacher

We have been reading stories about animals in our English classes. We have searched at home and in the library and at school for all the animal stories we could find and have brought them to read to the class. After several stories had been read, we drew pictures of something that happened in the story which we liked best. When the pictures were all finished, we showed them to our class mates and had them try to tell us what story they illustrated.

Second Grade, West Branch
Miss La Pointe, Teacher

The following were not absent or tardy during the past four weeks of school: Billy Baker, Clara Belle Barnes, Jolene Barron, Donald Bickham, Joan Breitenwishcher, Owen Campbell, Larry Drewyor, Leroy Duncan, Jerry Eggleston, Richard Haight, Elizabeth Hayden, Charles Nobles, Howard Pennington, Mary Potts, Robert Shaw, Nancy Wilson, and Joan Hart.

November 26th was Kenneth Tomezack's seventh birthday, and in honor of the occasion Mrs Tomezack sent ice cream to the members of Kenneth's grade.

We have decided that it is time to feed the birds, so we are now using our feeding table every day.

We felt honored to have as our visitors, a grandfather and a grandmother. Nancy Wilson's grandparents, Mr and Mrs William Wilson of Gaylord visited us Thursday afternoon.

First Grade, West Branch
Miss Smith, Teacher

We are glad that we can give the names of nine boys and girls that have not been absent or tardy during the past six weeks. They are: Patty Johnson, Sharon Lee Muir, Larry Hart, Carl Freckelton, Diane Winfield, Richard Whelan, Robert Hall, Marilyn Nobles, and Jimmy Hite.

One reading class has finished their fourth book and are now ready to start their primers. The other classes have finished two and three pre-primers.

The fourth grade gave us a fireplace, which we enjoy. It makes a cozy corner in which the children play house.

MILD INFLUENZA EXPECTED

Influenza in the mild form which is spreading east and south from the Pacific coast may reach Michigan, and if it does the State Health Department says that any person who becomes ill with flu should call a physician immediately and go to bed.

"Going to bed under the care of a doctor is the best thing that a victim of influenza can do," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "The high fever, headache, pains in back and legs and extreme weakness which accompany flu make it unmistakeable. The attack is usually sudden, and comes on only a day or two after exposure to a case. Influenza is spread chiefly from person to person in the same way that a cold is spread."

The present epidemic of influenza may have been brought from Hawaii to the west coast when part of the fleet returned recently. Influenza became epidemic in the Hawaiian Islands in September.

C. A. R. MEETS

Mrs. D. F. Wright and daughter Mary were in charge of the program at the regular meeting of Charles Mickley chapter, Children of the American Revolution, held Saturday afternoon at Croswell house in Adrian. The program consisted of a vocal solo "Once In David's City" by Helen Claus accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Fisher at the piano and Herbert Fisher on the violin; A Christmas Story, Carolyn Bryant; Christmas readings, "Letter to Santa Claus," Mrs. Frank B. Bauer; piano solos, "Silent Night" and Chopin's "Prelude," Patricia Hough; reading "The Call of the Bells."

Refreshments in keeping with the Christmas season were served at the close of the program by the hostesses Mrs. John P. Rorick, Mrs. Harry Lundahl and Mary and Marjory Lundahl.

ident, by the 1936 mobilization plan, could commandeer any manufacturing plant, fix prices, regulate sale and distribution of commodities, and even provide "a system of licenses for organizations or persons engaged in manufacturing, mercantile, or public-service industries."

Roy O. Woodruff, Michigan representative to Congress, has even hinted that the bogging down of the defense program was a political conspiracy to create a public demand for the enactment by congress of the 1936 war dictatorship plan.

This may appear to be far-fetched, However, the question does remain: Will management and labor work together under a democratic peace-time economy to a degree greater than ever before? The alternative may be compulsory regimentation by Washington—the ultimate goal of national socialism.

Despite the vast astronomical spending of federal money in Michigan because of arms awards, the sentiment of Michigan residents is divided as to whether we should continue a policy of isolation under national defense or participate actively with men and arms in defense of Britain.

It is reported reliably that the preponderant opinion among the Polish element in Detroit is against all-out aid. Even Detroit's 100,000 Canadian-born residents are united on this point.

As for labor, both C. I. O. and A.F.L. leaders oppose the sending of man power overseas.

The American Legion through its national defense committee chairman recently declared: "We are against the use of a single soldier, sailor or ship in a way likely to get us into the war."

General Marshall, Secretary of War Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War Johnson and Mr. Knudsen all advise that an army of a million men will not be trained and equipped until the end of 1941.

A two-ocean navy will not be completed until 1945, although we do possess the largest single-ocean navy of any nation in the world.

Pilots and planes adequate to defend the United States will not be ready until 1942.

Representative Fred Bradley, Michigan, returned last week from a 12-day trip to the Canal Zone. Bradley asserted: "There is not a modern bomber in the Canal Zone ...I was told that the fastest airplane there was capable only of making 140 miles an hour."

Senator Arthur Vandenburg has asked Mr. Knudsen to make public "full information" on the progress of our defense program.

In this period of emergency the new governor of Michigan, Murray D. Van Wagoner, may wield a disciplining influence. He is capable of strong leadership; he has the confidence of a substantial majority of Michigan citizens.

Thus in our present national crisis—one which is also the crisis of Britain — fate has decreed that Michigan plants and Michigan men are to play crucial roles. What we do, or fail to do during the coming months may shape the course of our lives for many years to come.

Ironing meant Sad Irons and Sore Muscles?

Yes, it was a sad day for the homemaker when she had to spend long hours on her feet handling heavy cumbersome irons that were either too scorching hot or abruptly too cool. At the end of indigo Tuesday women sank exhausted into the nearest chair with aching backs, tired feet and often blistered hands.

Oh that they could have known the benefits of our great emancipator of modern times—electricity. . . . The manual bondage of laundry chores is unnecessary and unknown with modern laundry equipment. With electric ironers women accomplish the seemingly impossible by speedily turning out heavy linens and flat work, shirts and even dainty ruffled dresses while sitting comfortably in a chair. Electricity lifts the labor load in the modern home—decreases the working hours and brings comforts undreamed of and unknown a few decades ago. . . . Best of all, this priceless power is lower in price than ever before.

Members Hear Report Of Production Credit Ass'n.

Growth of the Adrian Production Credit Association, serving Lenawee, Monroe, Washtenw and Wayne Counties, was told to an audience of farmer-members and farm leaders in this territory by H. F. Johnston, secretary- treasurer, at the annual meeting of the stockholders held at Milan.

J. A. Cosner, president of the association, in his address of welcome to the members stressed the fact that the association was organized to benefit farmers, being cooperatively owned and operated by the members, under the rules and regulations of the Farm Credit Act of 1933. He also pointed out that this is not, by any means, a temporary organization, but is planned as a permanent institution to supply dependable short term credit to the farmers of the territory in which it serves.

H. F. Johnson pointed out that the association loaned $140,837 to farmers in in this area in 1940, for livestock and general purpose farming and he disclosed that reserves built up from earnings in the six years of operations totaled $7927. Repayments during the last year were more than $144,000. Losses through bad debts and otherwise were shown to be considerably less than one per cent of the volume loaned.

At the annual meeting, farmer-members reelected Guy J. Doty of Monroe, and elected Bert Merritt of Belleville, to the board of directors for 3-year terms. Other members of the board whose terms carry over are A. E. Anderson, Adrian, J. A. Cosner, Milan, and E. P. Hellner, Ann Arbor.

In addition to the local directors and officers who participated in the program, Leon H. Tolverson, of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, spoke, and there were talks by Garfield Farley from Albion, J. H. Turnbull, principal of the Lincoln Consolidated School, Ypsilanti, Mrs. Edith M. Wager, president of the Monroe Farm Bureau, and a talking picture entitled "Producer Coops in Action," was shown by H. S. Osler, county agent of Washtenaw county. Mr. Donaldson from M.S.C. gave a short talk illustrated by figures compiled from the reports of farmers cooperating with the Farm Management program. The entertainment also featured a recitation by Mrs. Frances Dixon, Milan, and a duet by the Joybringers from California.

Eighty-Seven Years Old and He Works Every Day

Joseph Grundy has been a railroad man all his life. When he got into his sixties the railroad, on which he had been employed since his youth, retired him.

But Mr. Grundy didn't like being retired. He felt full of pep and health and began looking around for another job.

At the age of 69 he landed one—with the Ford Motor Company. That was 18 years ago, and he's been there ever since. Not for a hobby, either his own or Henry Ford's; nor for charity, nor does he collect a dole. He puts in full work time at the north end of the switching yard.

And does Mr. Grundy want to be retired now, as he nears his 87th birthday?

He says emphatically, no.

He also says he's glad he landed with a company that doesn't have any blanket retirement age.

Products Company To Have Exhibit At Chicago Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 31—The Tecumseh Products Company of Tecumseh, Mich., is one of the 150 manufacturing concerns throughout the nation which have already taken space to exhibit their 1941 products at the Third All-Industry Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Exhibition to be held in the Stevens hotel, Chicago, Jan. 13 to 16.

This was announced here today by M. W. Knight, chairman of the exhibition committee who said the list of exhibitors already is far ahead of any previous show. Last year 121 exhibitors occupied 161 exhibit spaces. This year nearly 300 spaces have been provided for the use of an expected total of 175 exhibitors.

A new and interesting feature of the exhibition, he said, will be the military tinge imparted to the show by the industry's problem of assisting the government to provide 60 cubic feet of cold storage space for every 1,000 soldiers added to our military forces.

"The industry is looking forward to its biggest year in 1941 as a result of the government rearmament program," Knight asserted. "The government buying which will result from the construction and renovation of military establishments will be an important factor in this increase, but the greatest impetus is expected form expanding payrolls in industrial centers throughout the nation. Buying power stimulated by our national defense efforts will provide new markets throughout the country."

40 BED HOSPITAL READY ON SUNDAY

NEW ADDITION TO TECUMSEH HOSPITAL FURNISHED AND READY FOR USE

The $25,000 addition to Tecumseh Hospital, enlarging the institution sufficiently to care for some 40 adult patients and 12 infants, will be formally opened to the public on Sunday, January 12, R. W. Herrick, president of the board of trustees, announced today. Formerly the hospital's capacity was 18 adult patients and eight infants, the addition more than doubling the size of the institution.

Because the hospital is caring for some 34 adult patients and several babies at the present time, it was said that the opening of the new addition on Sunday would be a quiet one. Those who desire may visit the institution on an inspection trip, but no children will be admitted. "Open House Day," at all hospitals throughout the country on May 12, will be observed here, and it is believed that many people will wait until that time for an inspection tour, Miss Gertrude Spaulding, superintendent, declared.

Tecumseh Hospital, rated among the finest in the United States and at the top of the list in towns of the 3,000 class, offers the latest in equipment and convenience. The new addition houses a complete nursery and bath for 12 infants, sound-proof labor and delivery rooms, a maternity ward with removable curtains for privacy that will accommodate six or eight mothers, three single private rooms, two two-bed private rooms, and a de luxe private room, with bath, balcony and toilet, and special furniture. This room also is equipped with telephone. All private and two-bed private rooms are equipped with lavatories and toilet and special clothes closets.

The new addition also houses the hospital's kitchen, completely sound-proof and equipped with special suction fans, ventilators, steam tables, electric stove and dishwashers. There also is a nurses dining room, adjoining the kitchen. Throughout the addition special care has been exercised in connection with sound and lighting, the building having been built under the supervision of L. L. Stout, a member of a firm of Detroit architects.

With the opening of the addition the hospital now affords 11 private rooms, two two-bed private rooms, three wards, accommodating six men, six women and eight maternity cases, an X-ray room, an operating room, emergency room, and labor and delivery rooms. Thirty county doctors are members of the hospital's staff, headed by Dr. H. H. Hammel of Tecumseh. The hospital is under the direct supervision of Miss Spaulding, formerly of Ford Hospital, as superintendent, and there are 10 nurses, each of them a graduate and registered. The hospital's kitchen is in charge of Miss Gertrude Baker of Ridgeway and she has five assistants.

The original hospital, opened June 1, 1938, was built entirely through public subscription and without a cent of cost to the village. The drive to obtain funds for the hospital was headed by Mr. Herrick, and the block of land, on which the building is built, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford of Dearborn.

During the calendar year of 1940 the hospital operated at a profit of $1,515.70 after $1,440 had been charged off for depreciation. During the past 12 months there were 578 admissions, not including births. 138 babies were born there, there were 57 medical and 320 surgical patients, 142 maternity cases, 151 accident patients cared for but not admitted, 628 X-ray pictures were taken, and there were 60 medical and surgical pediatric cases. The hospital averaged 21.8 patients daily, and a total patient days (midnight count) of 7,999. These figures showed a striking increase over the year previous, when the average daily patient load was 16.5 with a total of patient days recorded of 5,889. Five sets of twins have been born in the hospital since its opening.

"We are mighty proud of the new addition to the hospital," Mr. Herrick said in making the announcement. "We are now compiling our figures to determine the exact cost of the building, and this will be announced soon. However, we know that the cost is well within the $26,000 bond issue, voted for the purpose. There are a few things that remain to be done to complete the building, and as quickly as we have all of our costs assembled we will issue a public statement." Mr. Herrick said that the hospital is in need of some pictures for some of the rooms, and he expressed the belief that contributions would be made by some of Tecumseh's civic clubs, relieving the board of this expense.

The construction of the addition was under Mr. Stout's super-

INDIAN CAGERS WIN 4TH GAME

WIN FROM BLISSFIELD NEXT WEEK WOULD PUT THEM IN LEAD OF LEAGUE

Tecumseh high school cagers won their fourth consecutive game of the season, Tuesday evening, defeating Clinton high on the local court, by a score of 37 to 9. Previously, they defeated Addison, Hudson, Morenci and Clinton, and the record showing is attracting large crowds hor the games.

Dopesters believe that Tecumseh will be able to take Blissfield when the Indians go there for their next basketball game on Tuesday evening, January 14. If they succeed, it will give Coach Raizk's men the high standing in the county league, and strength to defeat Manchester, when their league team comes here for a game a week from Friday evening.

In Tuesday's game, Green, center, Mohr, captain, and Wilson, Des Ermia and Carlson started for Tecumseh and played until late in the fourth quarter when they were replaced by Rumpf, Spillman, Laidlaw, Leonardson and Athey. Green completed two short shots out of five, and two free throws out of four. Mohr missed two long shots, one short one, and completed one free throw out of two tries. Wilson made one long shot out of three tries, two short shots out of three attempts, and two out of three free throws. Carlson made two long shots out of five, a short shots out of six, and Des Ermia missed one long shot, made five out of six short shots, and missed one free throw.

Clinton's score consisted of two long shots by Warner, and three free throws by Himendinger, and a long shot by Robinson. The fact that their score was made up of long shots speaks well for the efficiency of Tecumseh's defense. Warner attempted 25 times to poke the basket, and all but three of the number were from a long distance.

34 WILL ANSWER NEW DRAFT CALL

TO LEAVE ADRIAN ON JANUARY 22 FOR INDUCTION INTO FEDERAL SERVICE

Thirty-four Lenawee county men will leave Adrian January 22 to report for induction, under the selective service act, at the Light Guard Armory, in Detroit. Seventy-eight men from the county have been examined for the January call; 34 have been reported physically fit and 13 of this number are volunteers. Seven not yet filed will be substituted for those holding larger numbers, if they pass the examination.

Those inducted into service this month for a year's training will be sent first to Fort Custer at Battle Creek, and after preliminary training will be assigned to permanent organizations.

Fletcher Helton, a recent employee at Meyer Aircraft Co., and Lenawee county's No. 8 in the January draft, joined the U. S. Army Air Corps at Wichita, Kansas, and is already serving, and has been exempted from the Lenawee call.

Nearly 500 questionnaires were sent out in preparation for the January call. Three out of every 10 registrants failed to pass making about one in four available for draft according to averages to date.

The board was notified Tuesday by state headquarters that the county must fill a tentative quota of 68 men during February.

Cash Prize Essay Contest Announced By Auxiliary

An essay contest for high school pupils of Lenawee county is being conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Annis-Fint Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, located in Adrian, in which a cash prize of $15 will be awarded the writer of the first place essay, and $5 each to those placing second and third. The winning essay will be entered in the state contest and the state winner in the national contest in which $2000 in cash prizes are offered by the national organization.

As is customary the essay writers will be required to write on some phase or democracy. National unity being a subject paper-most in the minds of Americans in this critical period, this year's subject is "One Nation Indivisible." The essays are to be between 500 and 1,000 words in length and be written by students regularly enrolled in any high school. They must be the student's own work although he may obtain advice from his teacher. The manuscripts must be typewritten and one original and two carbon copies must be submitted on or before February 22.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS

FIRE DESTROYS M-52 FARMHOUSE

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. L. A. VAN GIESON BURNED TO THE GROUND

Fire, the origin of which has not been determined, completely destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Van Gieson, about three miles north of Tecumseh on M-52, last evening.

According to Chief Gibson of the Clinton department, the blaze was discovered by a passing motorist, and he in turn notified Clinton firemen. A call for assistance was sent to the Tecumseh department, and the rural truck was dispatched from here. A west wind carried the flames away from the farm buildings and they were saved.

Chief Gibson said that the farmhouse, of brick and frame construction, was burned to the ground, and that none of the furnishings was saved.

British Child Guests Grateful For Rotary's Christmas Gifts

British Child Guests in Canada thousands of miles away from their homes in England because of the war—this week expressed their gratitude to Michigan Rotarians for gifts received at Christmas time, delivered through the Children's Aid Society of Hamilton, Ontario.

Tecumseh Rotarians joined with with others in the 123rd District to send some 2,000 gifts to the English children who, for the duration of the war, are making their home with Canadian families. In a letter from the Society to E. M. Campbell, president of the local club, B. Beaumont, the managing director, declares that "it would be impossible to tell you how very happy your generous gifts made the children." The Society expressed its grateful appreciation, and besides, many local Rotarians have received personal letters from the children or their guardians.

Mr. Campbell also is in receipt of a Hamilton newspaper, carrying a story to the effect that every little Britisher registered with the C. A. S. received an appropriate gift from "Rotarians across the border." The Hamilton story, in part, follows:

"Ties of friendship between this country and the United States seem to grow stronger as the war progresses and an action taken recently by the Rotarians of Michigan should do much to further improve relations. The fruits of that action were received in Hamilton this morning with the arrival of a crate of gifts—gifts from the Rotarians of Michigan for every British child guest registered with the Hamilton Children's Aid society.

"The news—which came as a glad surprise to officials of the C. A. S.—was brought by Frank Seldon, of the local Rotary club, when he phoned and revealed that C. R. Davis, of Ridgetown, Mich., had dispatched a crate of presents and that they would arrive shortly. This morning that crate arrived, and when unpacked filled a large table in the C.A.S. office with a display of presents that would make a department store buyer turn green with envy. Package after package—all individually purchased and wrapped — were piled on top of one another awaiting sorting by Grant McEwen, president of the society, and Mrs. J. C. Westaway, chairman of the welfare committee. Each package bears a tag describing the present within, and stating for what age boy or girl it is most suitable.

"Distribution will be arranged for immediately after the sorting has been carried out, and Rotarians in Hamilton have volunteered to supply cars with which to carry the presents to the different children throughout the city. Mrs. Westaway and W. H. Forster will assist. Those foster parents who are able, however, are requested to call for them. This task of alloting the gifts to the children for whom they are best suited is no easy one, and it is expected that it will be a day or

MEYERS PLANT RUSHES SHIPS

NOW BUILDING PLANES AT RATE OF 13 TO 14 MONTHLY; 125 ARE EMPLOYED

The Meyers Aircraft Company, manufacturers of training airplanes for student pilots, is working at near-peak production, employing some 125 persons on shifts that total 13 hours daily. The company is producing between 13 and 14 ships monthly, and at the present time has 10 planes in process of manufacture.

The Meyers company recently expanded its factory, located at the Tecumseh airport on M-52 at the northern village limits, and again it finds itself cramped for room. The demand for training ships of the Meyers type is ever increasing, it was said, and the factory is running far behind on its orders. As yet, no defense orders have been received, either from the United States of Canadian governments, but it was pointed out that the ships now being built, because they are used for training purposes, are classified as semi-defense, and may be given such an official rating.

Allen Meyers, head of the company, accompanied by Bobby Lupton, national women's aerobatic champion, left Tecumseh on Monday for Miami, Fla., to attend the air races the latter part of this week. They flew in a special Meyers ship. Miss Lupton will fly a Meyers ship in the races, attempting to hold claim to her championship. Mr. Meyers was her instructor when she learned to fly.

It is expected that Mr. Meyers will be absent from Tecumseh for about 10 days, it being his intention to go to Havana from Miami, where he will confer with Cuban government officials.

The Myers plant delivered six planes within the last week, two of them going to Detroit for resale, and the others to Florida.

SPIRIT OF "77"

As the opening session of the Seventy-Seventh Congress of the United States get under way, it is eminently proper that its members and the general public alike have a clear definition in their minds of the problems and responsibilities that the people's representatives face in these troubled world times.

Nor it it hard, by a little thoughtful analysis, to list the most important points upon which Congress should fix its unwavering attention. They would certainly include the following:

1. National defense is of primary importance. It is industry's job to provide the materials for this defense; government's task, aided by expert military advice, is to define the country's defense needs and to employ them most effectively to safeguard our shores.

2. The rearmament program should be carried through with as little dislocation as possible of our regular peacetime economy.

3. No group in this country need lose any of the sound social gains that have been won over the course of the years. But the Congress does have a schedule of modification and clarification that it could well face this session in the interest of making aur economy function more soundly and for the good of all Americans. It has avoided decision so far on amendment of the National Labor Relations Act, so badly in need of repair: now the report of the Smith House Committee studying that Act and the Board administering it points once again to the necessity for changes. The principles behind the Walter-Logan Bill, which narrowly failed to become law this last session, are worthy ones; in some form, they are deserving of more Congressional thought. Measures following the pattern of these projected items of legislation virtually demand the consideration of the new Congress.

Essentially, the Seventy-Seventh Congress has this touchstone to test all its acts: Consider the safety of the United States, and promote internal harmony so that our industries and our whole national life will be strong. If it works in that spirit, it can make "77" a real lucky number for our great nation and all the people who dwell here in peace and in freedom.

As approved by the board of directors, the policy to all full-time employes and all part-time employes working at least 30 hours a week and with six months' continuous service.

"Ours is predominantly a masculine organization," Mr. Hartford said. "Many of our employes, therefore, are young men with the age limits of 21 through 35 and are consequently registered for military service. While the jobs and seniority of those who are selected are protected by the Burke-Wadsworth Bill, the company wants to supplement any compensation employes may receive in the performance of their patriotic duty."

Mr. Hartford stated that the plan provides for these empoyes who have joined the service either under the terms of the National Selective Service Act or as Volunteers or members of Naval Reserve or National Guard regiments called into service.

"The company employes who have entered the service since March 1, 1940, the beginning of the fiscal year, and who would have been eligible to receive payments under the policy, will receive them for those months of the 12-month period already elapsed, and monthly hereafter until the sum of the 12 monthly payments have been made in each case," he explained.

40 BED HOSPITAL

vision, acting in accord with the board of trustees. Raymond Kempf was the general contractor, Ray Sluyter the electrical contractor, and Chas. Seitz held the plumbing and heating contract.

Miss Spaulding also called the public's attention to the fact that daily the hospital is in touch with doctors who are members of the staff. She said that on Sundays and on Thursdays, when residents may find it inconvenient to locate doctors, a call to the hospital will be given prompt attention, and in the event of an emergency a doctor may be dispatched from the institution.

Dr. H. H. Hammel, chief of the hospital staff, has issued this statement in connection with the opening of the new addition:

"The American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons dictate the requirements that must be met, before a hospital is recognized as acceptable to the standard of living of the people of the United States.

"For many years, a modern hospital for Tecumseh was a fantastic dream. However, due to the vision and driving power of your present hospital board president, money for the building equipment was provided, and on June 1, 1938, Tecumseh Hospital was an accomplished fact. It is not my hospital, or your hospital, but OUR hospital. Some contributions were as large as $3,500. Most of them were below $100. Probably the greatest, in spirit, were those of fifty cents and a dollar, so truly it is OUR hospital.

"Planning of the professional set-up was left entirely to the medical profession in Tecumseh. From the beginning, our goal was a hospital acceptable to the American Medical Association and American College of Surgeons. With our limited funds, that was a distinct problem. Nevertheless, we have been accepted by the American Medical Association:

"Our hospital equipment is the equal of that in any hospital in the United States. We are indeed fortunate in having a superintendent who, for ten years, was on the staff of Henry Ford Hospital, which fact needs no further comment. Getting together a staff of nurses for a new hospital is a tremendous problem. Our nursing staff is now the equal of most, and superior to many, hospitals in this part of the country. Since the opening of this hospital, we have not even one case where a clean surgical case has shown an infection. This is indicative of the efficiency of the operating room technique.

"We are now very well equipped, except for one crying need, and that is a laboratory. A properly equipped laboratory will not only be self-supporting, but after the first year of operation, will make a small profit. All that is necessary is the money for the laboratory equipment. When our laboratory is equipped, we will have the same rating as the best hospitals in our largest cities.

"We, the staff of Tecumseh Hospital, wish the people of Tecumseh to know of our sincere appreciation of their generosity in providing the beautiful new addition, which should relieve, for a long period of time, the overcrowded condition which has existed for the past year. We assure you, that you will receive our very best efforts to merit the confidence that you have placed in us by making possible this modern institution in which to serve you in time of need."

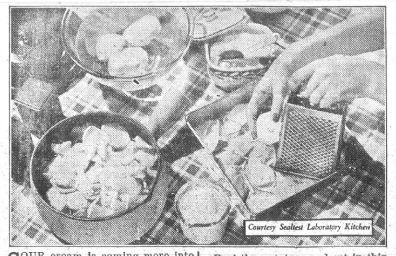
Potatoes With a Tang!

By BEULAH V. GILLASPIE
Director, Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen



Courtesy Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen

SOUR cream is coming more into its own, day by day, as an important and delightful ingredient for many recipes. It adds a "tangy" flavor to so many creamed dishes, to sauces, and to other phases of the daily menu. Here is a simple use of this wholesome ingredient in preparing escalloped potatoes.

SOUR CREAM ESCALLOPED POTATOES

6 medium potatoes
Salt and pepper
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups water
1 cup thick sour cream

Peel the potatoes and cut in thin slices. Place one-half of them in a buttered baking dish and sprinkle with salt, pepper and one-half of the flour. Dot with one-half of the butter. Cover with the remaining potatoes and sprinkle with salt, pepper and the remaining flour. Dot with the remaining butter. Pour the water over the top. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) for 45 minutes. Stir in the sour cream and continue to bake, uncovered for about 45 minutes longer or until the potatoes are tender. Serves six.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Ralph Bachman. She was attended by her twin sister Mrs. Robert T. Matteson of Woodstock, Vt., as matron of honor and Mrs. E. R. Morey of Jackson as bridesmaid. Stuart Hansen of Saginaw attended Mr. Schoen as best man and Norman Schoen of Detroit and Raymond Anglemyer of Clinton were ushers. A brief organ recital and two vocal selections "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" by Harold Koch of Dearborn preceded the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at Dearborn Inn for 65 guests.

100,000 INQUIRIES FOR VITAL STATE RECORDS

Certified copies of birth certificates and other vital records are being made by the Michigan Department of Health at the rate of more than 3,000 a week.

The greatest demand for such records that the department has ever known has come in the last year. Individual searches of vital records will total 100,000 for the year, as compared with 30,000 in 1939 and 18,000 in 1938, the highest totals up to that time.

Even though the demand for birth and other certificates had been heavy all year, it was increased in June when workers in national defense industries were required to show proof of citizenship. For most persons in the state, the easiest way to prove citizenship is to show a Michigan birth certificate.

For months the demand for certificates has kept two shifts of workers busy in the department vaults. The same demand has been evident in the offices of county clerks all over the state, and in offices of city clerks or full time health officers. City offices have records dating back to 1906, whereas county and state records go back to 1867.

This kid game they call "post office" is only good until a girl gets broken in.

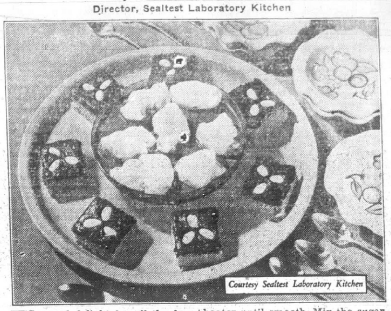
A Lovely, Simple Dessert

By BEULAH V. GILLASPIE
Director, Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen



Courtesy Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen

IT'S a real delight for all the family—for children and adults both. And it is a lovely dessert for guests at any time. Simple to prepare, too. Served with the chocolate cake squares as shown above, this "Floating Island" will bring any tired appetite to new life!

CHOCOLATE FLOATING ISLAND

- 3 cups milk
- 2 squares chocolate
- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup confectioners sugar

Heat 2½ cups of milk and the chocolate in a double boiler until the milk is scalded and the chocolate is melted. Beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Mix the sugar, flour and salt and stir in the remaining ½ cup of cold milk. Add to the hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly for 3 to 5 minutes or until thickened. Continue to cook for 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add about one-half of this mixture slowly to the slightly beaten egg yolks, mixing well. Return to the double boiler and cook, stirring constantly for 1 minute longer. Add the vanilla, chill and pour into serving dishes. Beat the egg whites until stiff and beat in the confectioners sugar and a few grains of salt. Drop by spoonfuls on gently boiling water and cook for about 5 minutes. Remove with a perforated spoon, chill and serve on the chocolate custard. Serves six. Serve with chocolate frosted cake squares.

The Song of the Angels

ONE of the sweetest songs ever heard on earth is surely that one sung by the heavenly host of angels (Luke 2:14), "On earth peace, good will toward men." The occasion of the song was the birth at Bethlehem of the babe Jesus.

The prophecy of peace made on that brilliant starlit night will some day be fulfilled universally, since a desire for peace has ever been cherished in the hearts of men. We may ask why it is, then, that this desire is not being more speedily realized. The reason undoubtedly is that men have looked for peace where no peace is to be found. No merely material system, supported by physical force, can offer lasting peace.

Today, many earnest endeavors are being made to reconcile men and nations, and to bring to all a fairer share of the earth's goods, thus eliminating, in some degree, the evils that tend to foment the worst passions in men, which often reach their climax in war. But material methods, even those motivated by unselfish desires, cannot bring about permanent peace, for this peace is found only in the realm of Spirit.

To reach a scientific, right conclusion we must of necessity start with a correct premise. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 492): "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, although we may not be united to its unlikeness, mortality." We learn from the Scriptures that God created all, "and, behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). The universe and the inhabitants thereof, then, are perfect, like their creator, and God's law of peace and harmony reigns supreme. This is spiritual fact.

The mist or Adam dream, of which we read in the second chapter of Genesis, presents the falsity that man is mortal and material, created out of dust and governed by various so-called powers, claiming to be both good and evil. From this false premise arise the claims of misunderstanding, rivalry, greed, strife, sickness, chaos, and war. This false premise implies also that man can be the football of chance and change, which is of course a lie. . . .

God, the divine Principle of man, perpetuates man as His reflection. It is not true that the child of God is both good and evil, peaceful and discordant, loving and hateful. These are but false beliefs of mortals, which are dispelled when we realize that man is what the Scriptures declare him to be, the image of his creator. Our freedom comes, then, as we recognize and acknowledge our true relationship to the Father, gratefully perceiving that "now are we the sons of God" (I John 3:2)—now, not sometime in a vague future, in a far-away place, but here and now. As children of God we dwell always in unity and peace.

All will agree that peace is a quality of divine Mind. Then it logically follows that peace is inherent in man, the representative of God. Peace cannot be lessened or destroyed, for it is now and forever established. And Love is awakening human consciousness to this great spiritual fact.

In the proportion that they understand the truth about God and man, men learn to trust in God more fully, and fear, suspicion, selfishness, and hatred correspondingly decrease. This Christlike understanding is expressed in the love which knows no destructive criticism, no greed, no resentment; in the joy which knows no gloom; in the gratitude which knows no fear. As the vision of spiritual good is cherished in individual consciousness, it serves as a beacon light to brighten our pathway in our ascent above mortal, material sense testimony. As "every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Revelation 5:9) learns to turn to God, Spirit, as all-power, universal peace will be demonstrated in human experience. May our prayer be that peace be not only talked, but so lived that the passerby will feel its holy influence. Mrs. Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 279), "The First Commandment in the Hebrew Decalogue — 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me'—obeyed, is sufficient to still all strife. God is the divine Mind. Hence the sequence: Had all peoples one Mind, peace would reign." When the world has learned to obey the one Mind, God, then we shall be able to sing with the angels, "On earth peace, good will toward men," in perfect confidence that permanent peace has been established.—The Christian Science Monitor.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

A GREAT TIME TO LIVE

1940 has gone to take its place in history as one of the awfulest years the human race has ever known. And we have already begun to live in 1941. That it promises still more disaster and change, no one will deny.

Philip Reed, Chairman of the Board of the General Electric Company, said recently, "Atlas has lost his balance, and as he struggles for a new firm foothold, the world careens." But in spite of the terror and destruction we see about us—in spite of the difficulties that lie ahead of our own great nation, it is a great time to be alive. We live a lifetime in a month, and what used to be a century of history is made in a year. Old things are passing away so rapidly that we can hardly believe it. New things are bound to come to take their place.

New things and better things; not a return to the oppression and the slavery of the dark ages. This is the thing we must believe in and must work for if we are to keep our own balance and do our part in keeping the United States strong and free. We must not, like frightened children, try to hide our heads or cower in a corner until the holocaust passes, but again quoting Mr. Reed, "Should we not count ourselves fortunate to be living and able to take some small part during these crucial years?"

As women we will not be called upon to train for an active part in the defense of our country. Not many of us will even have a chance to help produce the materials for this defense. But there is something that as women, we invariably do and it is important at this time that we do it wisely and well. That is help to create public opinion. It matters terribly in these days what the wives and mothers of the men of this nation believe in. Do we believe in our American freedom which rests on a tripod of (1) civil and religious liberty—which means our right to say and read and write what we please and to attend the church we choose; (2) representative democracy—which means we elect the men who govern us; and (3) free, private enterprise — which means we have the right to work at the job we wish and build a business if we please?

Or do we think perhaps the dictators of Europe have found a better way of running a country.

First of all, we must make up our mind which way of life is best for us and for our children. And having decided, we must talk and act, aye, and pray each day of 1941 in such a way that our influence will be on the side of freedom, hope and advancement for the individual. If we make a daily effort to serve the cause of freedom, we'll stop being afraid and discover that this is the most remarkable time in all history to be alive!

NEW GOVERNOR FACES BIG JOB

REPUBLICAN LEGISLATURE IS OPEN DOOR FOR CHARGES OF POLITICAL BUCK PASSING

LANSING, Jan. — Confronted with a state legislature that is not subservient to his command, Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, the third Democrat to occupy the state executive office in ten years, has undertaken a challenging task to "make democracy work" in Michigan.

Not mere pious words are these, as expressed in his inaugural address.

Critical days of 1941 demand a closely coordinated effort for national defense. And national defense, like democracy itself, has a way of beginning at home. It requires doing, not talking, to get things done.

In his emphasis on "making democracy live in America" by doing something about it in Michigan, the new governor served effective notice on the Republican majority in the senate and house, as well as the Republican office-holders at the Statehouse, that he expects their co-operation in making state government responsive to popular needs.

Today's situation at Lansing is extraordinary in several respects.

It is thoroughly bi-partisan. While the Democrats elected a governor, lieutenant governor, and state treasurer, the Republicans retained majority control of both houses of the legislature, elected an attorney general and re-elected a secretary of state and auditor general.

Responsibility is divided whereby each party may raise the hue and cry that the other is responsible for failure of accomplishment.

Phrased in more familiar language, the door is wide open for political buck-passing!

To make democracy work under these circumstances is a Herculean assignment, and it will take all the diplomatic skill of the practical-minded Van Wagoner to achieve even a moderate success.

"Men without jobs, children on crutches don't care for party labels," he cautioned in an appeal for "unity of will, unity of purpose, unity of administration."

The role of a governor battling against a selfish partisanship is one to inspire popular sympathy for Van Wagoner. Therein lies a peril to the the Republican leadership, as future developments may reveal.

In outlining his ideas about how a democracy should function, the governor presented a four-point platform:

First, "we must do our part in the national defense program."

Because of a previously voiced lack of sympathy for the illegal sit-down strikes of 1937 (declared illegal by the United States supreme court), Van Wagoner may be expected to discourage hastily-conceived strikes in Michigan plants where national defense awards are centered.

"It is the duty of state government and every citizen of, the state," he said, "to speed this important work to co-operate with the federal government so that the defense program may proceed unhampered and unmolested."

He praised labor and management for working more closely together in effecting national teamwork.

Second, "we must never lose sight of the real things we are building to defend our traditional constitutional rights."

What are these traditional rights? Freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of religion. Or in other words' freedom of a minority to criticize the majority; freedom of the individual to "believe and speak and write" as he chooses without fear.

As the governor expressed it, we should foster an "active spirit of tolerance for the beliefs of those who may happen to disagree with us."

Third objective of the Van Wagoner program is "to preserve and develop these social gains"—the right of labor to organize and to bargain collectively; the right of the farmer to a "fair share of our national income;" the right of the all to be "secure from the worst hazards of unemployment, old age and physical disability."

Governor Van Wagoner echoed the determination of President Roosevelt to withstand pressure "of many people" to curtail these newly granted rights on the assertion that they interfere with national defense.

Regardless of defense urgency, Van Wagoner indicates that he favors greater spending by the state government for old age pensions, unemployment compensation, crippled children benefits, state hospitals, and public schools.

The Fitzgerald-Dickinson administration emphasized home rule and a local financial responsibility. Van Wagoner's attitude would suggest a return to the conception of a strong centralized state government, and it may presage the opening wide of legislative purse-strings to the possible embarrassment of the executive office unless badly needed budget reforms are enacted during the 1941 session.

In his message to the legislature last Friday, Van Wagoner recommended more business-like collection and administration of state funds to prevent the recurrence of the $30,000,000 deficit left by his Democratic predecessor, Frank Murphy—only he did not say so in that many words.

Fourth objective of the Van Wagoner platform is this:

"The job of putting our own house in order."

Put your own interpretation on this sentence. The governor accompanied it with these words: "of seeing to it that our state government is honest and efficient and effective."

To many persons the fourth point has partisan implications, arising out of the federal grand jury indictments.

And yet the logic is irrefutable. The governor linked his fourth point to the general goal of making democracy work, and in a reference apparently to the the dictator's way of regimented efficiency he observed:

"A democratic government in our world of today just can't afford to be inefficient or ineffective or corrupt."

As Governor Van Wagoner well said, "The election is over . . . Ours is the sacred duty of working together for the common good."

And therein is a reflection that democracy, if it is truly to be a democracy, must recognize the will of the majority.

Regardless of the Republican victories, the electorate chose Murray D. Van Wagoner to be governor of Michigan.

Likewise, Franklin D. Roosevelt, although not the choice of a majority in Michigan, was re-elected to serve a third term as President of these United States.

Wendell L. Willkie in his Nov. 11 radio speech summed up the bi-partisan problem in these words: "Let us not, therefore, fall into the partisan error of opposing things just for the sake of opposition. Ours must not be an opposition against — it must be an opposition for — an opposition for a strong America, a productive America. For only the productive can be strong and only the strong can be free.

TAX COLLECTION TO 'UP' REVENUE

INCREASED COLLECTION EFFICIENCY AND PROSPERITY TO BOLSTER INCOME, 25 PER CENT

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing — The biennial legislative juggling act, appeasing pressure groups with more state aid while trying to balance the budget, is going to be something to behold in 1941.

Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner is confident that it can be done.

In fact, in his message to the state legislature he predicted boldly that the rising tide of prosperity in Michigan, plus increased efficiency in collection of taxes, would net a 25 per cent increase in state revenues during the coming two years.

Furthermore, he averred that a study of state finances had convinced him that "at least 25 per cent" of the existing state deficit, now $29,000,000, could be retired annually without curtailing "essential services."

All of this would be accomplished, the state executive explained, by a bi-partisan combination of "curtailing unnecessary expenditures" of some state agencies while other state agencies spent more money for specific public needs.

That Republican leaders are skeptical about the practicality of doing it all simultaneously is putting it gently.

Come of them are even wondering if Governor Van Wagoner didn't astutely put the Republican majority of the legislature squarely on the spot and right behind the eight ball. They are beginning to feel uncomfortable about it; a few are downright resentful, labeling the Van Wagoner program "smart politics."

Van Wagoner's message called for the following increases in state spending:

1. "A nominal appropriation" for state defense needs.

2. "Funds should be made available" for a public health program to help control cancer and social diseases, and otherwise match "available federal grants-in-aid."

3. "Needed funds" to help assist 7,000 crippled children and 20,000 afflicted children.

4. "Appropriate funds necessary for equipping and operating state hospital facilities to their maximum capacity."

5. Pensions for 30,000 persons, as well as aid for dependent children and assistance to the blind. The governor also said: "In the administration of the social welfare program wasteful practices prevail, particularly in direct welfare. In one county administrative costs were 17 per cent of the total budget. This should not be tolerated."

6. "Definite state aid that will guarantee every boy and girl a

You May Say 'Ain't' If You Like It, Because It 'Ain't' Too Badly Wrong

Mt. Pleasant — If you like "ain't," say "ain't," because it ain't too badly wrong.

Like many another slang word and contraction in everyday talk, "ain't" is rapidly being accepted by the American people from the standpoint of usage, if not of absolute correctness.

"Words like 'ain't' add color and individuality to our everyday language that set it apart from standard or book English," says Dr. E. C. Beck, English department head at Central State Teachers College.

"And, anyhow, the test of whether a word is right or wrong is the test of the 'language level.' What is right for colloquial language is not necessarily right for the level of standard English. At the same time, many phrases are acceptable on the 'slang' level that would not fit into either of the other two levels — colloquial and standard."

Aside from "language level," there are two approaches to this language business, Dr. Beck maintains. You can speak the "King's English" with all its stiff correctness; or you can unbend a little and talk "American."

"And if the ordinary fellow will stop to think about it," Dr. Beck says, "even the school teacher himself, he will admit he uses a good deal more 'American' than he does 'English.'

This is to say he uses words that color and punch and that drive a meaning home with clarity and precision. He says "car" and "bus" when Englishmen would insist on "automobile" and "omnibus."

"If the American people have contributed anything at all to the English language," Dr. Beck says, "it is this quality of shortness and terseness. It's part of our frontier tradition, by no means yet at an end. In the days of Indian fighting and homehewing; when so much of our national culture and tradition were founded, we had no time to go the long way 'round. We had to seek short, simple forms.

"And, with the speed-up of national life, this tendency to seek short forms has been expanded to the point where it is quite American to make one syllable do the work of two or three. So 'ain't' means 'am not' or 'are not' — at least on the colloquial level—and there isn't much to do about it but recognize it."

State Regent Of D. A. R. Guest Speaker Here

The January meeting of Abi Evans chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hoyt E. Whelan. This was guest day, and Mrs. Osmund D. Heavenrich of Jackson, state regent, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. E. D. Brown presided at the business meeting and the chapter voted to sponsor an essay contest in the local schools on the subject "My Duty to the United States Flag," with a special prize for each group to be given by the chapter. The sum of $2.50 was voted to plant an acre of pine trees in Northern Michigan for re-forestation, it was also planned to hold a "boar's head" dinner sometime in April.

Mrs. Brown is delegate to the Continental Congress in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Whelan, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. B. B. Turnbull and Mrs. J. F. Elliott were elected alternates. Mrs. Eugene Fisher was chosen delegate to the state conference in Port Huron; Mrs. D. F. Wright, Mrs. Clarence Fisher, Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw and Mrs. Whelan, the alternates.

Mrs. F. C. Dickinson was in charge of the program of American music which opened with a song "My Days Have Been So Wondrous Free," by Francis Hopkinson, the first American composer, sung by Mrs. R. S. Moore, and closed with "God Bless America," a more recent composition by Irving Berlin, sung by Grace Moore II. The program included vocal solos, "A Winter Lullaby" (DeKoven) and "Daisies" (Hawley) by Helen Claus; "Down In Old Me" (Homer), "Serenade" (Neidlinger) and "The Pine Tree" (Salter) by F. C. Dickinson; piano numbers, "To A Wild Rose" and "A Scotch Poem" (McDowell), by Mrs. Neville Hart.

Mrs. Heavenrich then told of the Golden Jubilee which she attended in Washington, D. C., and spoke on "Conservation, American Music, Americanism and Citizenship for Youth," the special projects of the D. A. R. She stated that the state organization has sent two ambulances to England to care for wounded civilians and money is now being collected for another, to be given in memory of Clara Barton.

Following the program tea was served by Mrs. Whelan, assisted by Mrs. Ida Spencer, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. H. H. Loeland, Mrs. Charles Munro, Mrs. Clifford Hardy and Mrs. Fay Whelan.

Preceding the meeting Mrs. Arthur H. Brown gave a luncheon complimenting Mrs. Heavenrich. Other guests were Mrs. E. D. Brown, Mrs. Leon Rosacrans, Mrs. W. J. Penman, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Whelan, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Laidlaw.

Schools Urged To Offer Full Course In Spanish

The January meeting of the Shawnee Republican Women's Club was held Wednesday, January 8, at the home of Mrs. Grace Kennedy in Clinton when the club went on record as supporting President Roosevelt in his defense program and also voted to work for Americanism, and against subversive activities, and to promote friendship between the United States and her Latin sister republics. Letters were read from Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Senator Prentiss Brown and Congressman Earl C. Michener, promising to support the request for an appropriation to continue the work of the Dies committee, exposing anti-American activities.

Mrs. Wyman and Miss Whelan presented a motion that the schools be urged to give instruction in the Spanish language, to promote better understanding between the two Americas. The motion was adopted unanimously.

The new flag was presented to the club at this time, Mrs. R. S. Moore sang "The Flag Song" and the pledge of allegiance was given by the assembly. Mrs. Jennie Law Hardy and Miss Lois Lancaster presided alternately at the meeting.

"HOME IS THE WRITER..."

For a number of years in the more recent history of this republic, disillusioned by the aftermath of the World War and further dismayed by the impact of depression, many of our leading writers toyed with left-wing ideas that had their origin in the darkest corners of foreign lands. Then things began happening abroad that put a different color on these foreign isms, no matter how attractively they were packaged. And our really sensible authors beat a fast retreat and began to realize anew the virtues of our American system. They suddenly saw that this side of the Atlantic harbored by far the best and happiest life for the individual. In other words, to paraphrase Stevenson's verse, "Home is the writer, home from the sea..."

Eloquent testimony of this new appreciation of our own land is found in the following words from one noted playwright, which scarcely need further comment:

"What of our own country? Ours is a vast, sprawling, young nation, composed of men and women of all conceivable racial origins, and all conceivable occupations and habits and points of view. We are by nature easy-going, haphazard, undisciplined and cornery. And yet—the building of America has been the most tremendously successful mass achievement in all human history.

"If efficiency is the same as effectiveness, then we are by far the most efficient people on earth.

"When you hear that Mussolini has made the trains run on time, or that Hitler has built a system of military roads all the way from France to Poland, just give a thought to the Panama Canal and Boulder Dam and the Imperial Valley in California and the Lincoln Highway and our free school system—and also to that magnificent and enduring structure, the Constitution of the United States...

"We are not going to abandon this system of life until we find a better one—and no better system has yet been devised by man or beast."

ONE FARM IN FIVE RENTED IN STATE

Is it detrimental or beneficial to Michigan agriculture that one farm in five and one acre in every four is operated by a tenant farmer?

That is a question that wrinkled brows at Michigan State College have not been able to penetrate other than to assemble figures and estimate merits and demerits of the tenant system.

For it is true that there are faults and credits in tenant farming. In the opinion of F. M. Atchley of the college farm management department, tenant farming does not necessarily mean either good or poor farming. Michigan is not in the same classification of southern states where tenancy is rated at 20 per cent and some corn belt states where it ranges up to 50 per cent as contrasted to this state's 19 per cent.

Greatest need is for a proper system of education for both tenants and landlords, says Atchley. Both should recognize the problems involved in establishing good farming on a permanent basis.

These problems include soil erosion, reduced productivity, crop adaption and the need for soil conservation and improvement.

Another phase is the need for improvement in farm leases. The written contract leads to a better understanding, according to Atchley. Usually the written contract leads to a longer and more satisfactory term of relationship between tenant and landlord.

AUTO DEATHS JUMP IN 1939

November automobile fatalities were the lowest since 1934, but the total for 1940 will be higher than for the last two years, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

"The November total of automobile fatalities, on and off the highways, was 159, and brought the total for the first 11 months of the year to 1,481. This compares with 1,355 for the first 11 months of 1939," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner.

When December deaths are reported, the total for the year will be higher than the 1939 total of 1,536 or the 1938 total of 1,474. The all-time high was 2,175 automobile fatalities in 1937.

"FIFTH COLUMN" GERMS MAKE COLDS DANGEROUS

Colds are dangerous because of the "fifth column" of germs which all persons have in their nose and throat at various times, Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner, said today.

"Normally, these 'fifth column' germs in the throat do no harm to the individual, because his body resistance holds them in check," Dr. Moyer explained. "But a cold often gives the germs a chance to multiply and cause trouble. The sinus cavities may become infected, and so may the middle ear, especially with children. Tonsils, adenoids, bronchial tubes are other points of danger. A large proportion of pneumonia cases develop from a cold, since most persons harbor the pneumococcus germ in the winter time."

If there are no complications, a cold usually runs its course in five to seven days. Rest in bed under a physician's care is the best treatment. The most critical period of a cold is the third or fourth day. The germ population reaches a high point of development in the throat at this time and may bring on one of the serious complications.

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGES?

HERE ARE SOME FACTS about Ford Labor.

During the year ended November 30th, 1940, the Ford Payroll throughout the United States averaged 113,628 hourly wage earners, not including office employes, students, or executives. They were paid $185,105,639.12. On this basis, the average annual wage was $1,629.05.

According to the latest available government figures, the annual average wage of all workers in employment covered by old age insurance law was $841.00.

If the 45,000,000 workers of this country received the same average wage as Ford employes, they would have had additional wages of more than $35,000,000,000, thus increasing the national income about 50%. Think what such an increase would mean to the workers of this country and to the American farmer, whose prices are based on the national income.

Wage scales in the Ford Rouge plants are divided into three classifications:

Unskilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 75c per hour

Semi-skilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 80c per hour

Skilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 90c per hour
Higher wages are in consideration of ability and years of service.

Minimum wage scales for unskilled labor at the Rouge plant are the highest in the industry. Top wages for skilled labor compare favorably with, or are higher than, wages in other automobile plants.

Now some facts on Ford labor conditions:

Not only are sanitation and other health conditions the best in the industry, but Ford also leads in safety devices for the protection of employes. Proof of this is found in the following comparison of compensation insurance costs:

The national average rate in automotive manufacturing plants as computed by the National Association of Underwriters is in excess of $1.50 premium on each $100 payroll. The Ford cost of workmen's compensation is less than 50c.

This indicates that the chance of injury in a Ford plant is much less than in the average automobile plant.

The Ford Motor Company has no age limit for labor, and in fact deliberately attempts to keep older workers working. The average age of Ford workers at the Rouge and nearby plants is 38.7.

A recent check-up shows that nearly one-half the workers at these Ford plants were 40 or over, falling into these age groups:

14,731 between 50 and 60
3,377 between 60 and 70
417 between 70 and 80
12 between 80 and 90

In addition to the so-called regular employes, the Ford Motor Company has hired, and now has on the payroll, at the same regular hourly wage, thousands of workers who are blind, crippled or otherwise incapacitated for normal productive work. They are not selected for their ability to build cars or to maintain the plant. They are on the payroll because of Henry Ford's belief that the responsibility of a large company to labor goes beyond the point at which the unfortunate worker can no longer produce profitably.

The above are facts. They are open to anyone who really wants to deal in facts. Anyone who wants to get a job . . . buy a car . . . or place a national defense contract on the basis of fair labor treatment must place Ford at the top of his eligible list.

SCHOOL NOTES

Chapel Notes
Jan. 13, 1941

Chapel was opened by a salute to the flag. Miss Humphrey then led us in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Reverend Hildebrand was our speaker. His text was from the fourth chapter of Proverbs.

His talk was about the importance of the heart and mind. He said that our heart was our feeling and character and that our minds were what we thought with. He also pointed out that sometimes it was better to have a poor mind and good heart than it was to have a poor heart and a good mind. He said that not everyone could have good minds but we could all train ourselves to have good hearts.

Reporter, Gay Larsen.

Chapel

Our chapel service on the Monday after vacation began with the flag salute. For an eye-opener this morning we sang "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" and "America."

Our speaker this morning was Reverend Green. He pointed out in different ways why religion is not only for little children but also for middle-aged people. He showed us what a difference in our lives it makes if we become Christians when we are young. We learn to concentrate on different incidents which occur each day in a more understanding way than we would if we led a non-Christian life. The chapel service closed with a prayer. We think that Reverend Green's talk was a good beginning for the New Year.

Reporter, Margaret Jack.

Display Case

The shop classes, under the direction of Mr Raizk, have put on a display this week in our showcase with articles that they have made.

Hanging from the ceiling is a model airplane, which was apparently made by one of the boys. A pin-up lamp is one of three interesting lamps shown. There were two other table lamps. In general metal work they made handforged chisels and punches. In the art metal work they made ash trays, serving trays, nut dishes, etc.

Three little displays show the making of an anvil. First, there is the pattern, which is in two pieces; second, there is the anvil casting just as it is taken from sand mold after being poured; and last, you see the finished anvil.

In the center of the case there is a huge molding flask, which is prepared for the pouring of hot metal into the mold to form a half moon ash tray. This is shown completed. The cold metal workers displayed two large trays and a huge fruit bowl All these prove interesting.

Reporter, Genevieve Dobek.

Mr Parsons' Classes

Willis Davenport, Allen Brooks, and Robert McKee are planning on buying steers in Blissfield on Friday, Jan. 10, for their project in Animal Husbandry. They will purchase the steers through the Cattle Feeders Company of Lenawee County. Wayne Jackson and Alfred Allen are both feeding lambs. Wayne has 150, and Alfred has 50. The rest of the class are studying "Practical Poultry Management."

The class in Farm Crops is planning to take a trip to the Hayden Mill Federal Egg Grading Station. They are now studying the proper selection of farm seeds. They have to identify 50 different seeds including all are well-known weed seeds.

The Biology students have been studying vitamins and their uses. They are now feeding two guinea pigs, Mert and Bert. They are trying to produce scurvy in one of them through improper diet.

The General Science class is studying a unit on light now.

Reporter, Joan Ward.

Sixth Grade
Mrs Smith, Teacher

We are getting adjusted in our work again after two weeks' vacation.

In English class last Monday we were each allowed a minute to tell about how we spent Christmas and our vacation.

Jim Sisson and Ben Hammack drew a map of Ausralia on the blackboard. It showed the natural regions.

In arithmetic class we do a lesson at home and a lesson at school each day.

We are studying the Rebirth of Europe in history. We find it the most interesting part of the book so far. In connection with the Revival of Learning we are studying about artists, and Wilfred Waldron, Jerry Murphy, and Jim Sisson brought in some pictures by the Old Masters.

We have chosen two hockey teams, one for the girls and one for the boys.

We chose LaMar Cheever for basketball captain.

Room helpers this week were Ralph Peotter and Jessie Gray.

Reporters: Martha Hewlett and Wilfred Waldron Jr.

Fifth Grade
Miss Starr, Teacher

We have elected officers. Jack Carlson is president; Jay Tressler, vice president; and Ardyth Cole, secretary. Bob Moore was elected room editor, and she chose Marlou Gilman to be his assistant. We also have a room monitor each week; Albert Cook was in charge this week.

We tied with the sixth grade in a note-reading race in music.

In spelling we are having a contest between the rows to see how many "A's" we can get. So far Ardyth Cole's row has the largest number. We are also placing the names of those with D's and E's in the "Danger Zone."

The boys have a basket-ball team which plays every Friday. We have tied twice and lost once. We hope to break the tie the next time we play.

Reporters: Bob Moore, Marlou Gilman.

Fourth and Fifth Grades
Mrs Phaus, Teacher

We are glad to be back in school after our long and pleasant vacation. Tuesday we brought our favorite gifts to show our classmates. Our room looked like a toy shop.

Wilmer Kimball told us about his recent trip to Texas and Mexico. Irene Hammel made New York City and West Point very vivid in our minds when she told us about her vacation trip.

In history the fifth grade is learning about the civil War and in geography, about the southern states. We are enjoying these states very much.

The fourth grade is visiting Rolf in Norway. It is interesting to learn about fiords and the skery guards.

The room helpers this week are Bonnie Beasley and Donna Adams.

Third Grade, East Branch
Mrs Truesdale, Teacher

Judging from the number of toys brought to school, everyone was well remembered at Christmas time. We had a toy parade in which all of the first, second, and third graders participated. Big dolls, little dolls, dolls that talk and dolls that go to sleep were in evidence. Airplanes, automobiles, trucks, trains, and tractors were proudly displayed also.

Mary Glancy is back in school after a tonsil operation. She was out for two weeks before our vacation. Jimmy Weller waited until after Christmas Day, and then, he too, had his tonsils removed. He said, "You see, that way I didn't miss my Christmas dinner."

The following had perfect lessons in spelling on the Friday test: Joann Buehrer, Gordon Keyser, Mary Glancy, Marian Cook, Josephine Powell, Norman Felger, Gerald Van Valkenburg, James Stuart, Shirley Teske, Jennie May Bird, Marilyn Lindsley, Jo Ann Johnston, Nora Lee Swift, Neil Hindall, Allen Dale Bender, and Donald Bailey.

Second Grade, West Branch
Miss LaPointe, Teacher

In our language periods we have been discussing the importance of thrift. We have also learned a few facts about Benjamin Franklin. Nancy Wilson brought a picture showing Franklin when he discovered electricity by means of a kite and key.

In art classes we are having lessons in paper tearing. We made a snow scene and mounted it on black paper.

Eleanor Treat has been absent on account of illness.

Patricia Schilberg, who attended school in Macon, is now a member of our class.

First & Second Grade, E. Branch
Miss Borgards, Teacher

Everyone seemed happy to return to school after our vacation. We were all anxious to talk about Christmas gifts, so on Monday afternoon everyone brought one of his gifts to school. Since we have 19 girls, dolls were leading in number. There were 13 lovely dolls, besides trunks, a doll buggy, dolls silver wear, electric iron, and such practical things as ear muffs and purses. The boys displayed trucks, a large airplane, tool chest, a typewriter, puzzles, and story books. We had a parade of toys for the third grade and they did the same for us.

One of our New Year's resolutions is to strive for cleanliness and better health. We are having a "doctor" and a "nurse" inspect our hands and fingernails every morning. Our room is divided into two groups, and we are running a contest to see who can get the most stars for cleanliness.

First Grade, West Branch
Miss Smith, Teacher

We have started the new year with almost 100% attendance. We hope that this record will continue throughout the year.

The children are enjoying train rides on their New York Central train. The favorite place of visit is Texas.

Our new project is building a house. The remainder of the school year will be spent on home and community projects.

One reading class has finished the fourth pre-primer and has started the primer.

We have begun number work, and we are enjoying it. Within the next week we shall make a booklet in which to keep our papers.

TAX COLLECTION

full school year and every teacher a full pay."

7. "A sufficient appropriation" to provide retirement pensions for non-teaching employees of our school systems.

8. "Full recognition should be given to the financial requirements of the University of Michigan, the Michigan State College, the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, and the State Normal colleges."

(At Michigan State College the last legislative appropriation for classroom facilities was in 1929, and student enrollment has tripled since then. The college board has asked for $2,500,000, explaining that state funds are needed imperatively to provide adequate room for instruction purposes.)

9. "Needed appropriations to place (five state institutions for handicapped and juvenile delinquents) on a standard or human decency and safety."

10. To overcome the "lack of adequate library facilities in many sections of the state," the legislature should make "an appropriation large enough to resume a reasonable library program."

11. To institute a long-range program of advertising Michigan as a whole, the state should double the present appropriation for tourist promotion from $100,000 to $200,000 annually.

12. "Acquire frontage on the Great Lakes in the southern part of the state, so that parks may be developed more accessible to the large population centers."

13 "Equip many existing state parks with more sanitation facilities and other conveniences to make them more attractive and useful."

14. Increased personnel for the unemployment compensation commission to take care of the servicing of employees who are now exempt and who, the governor believes, should be included in the state act. This change would affect smaller industries that employ less than eight persons and which at present are not taxed.

14. Establishment of a fair labor standards act in Michigan to police wages and hours of employees in intrastate industries. The exact language used by Governor Van Wagoner: "Wages and hours act adapted to Michigan conditions should be made available to all Michigan workers, and not only to those now employed by industries engaged in interstate commerce."

Legislators' reaction to this 15-point program of increased state spending were varied. Democrats enthused; Republicans, who possess control, expressed doubt as to the state's financial ability to spend more and to reduce the deficit, too.

Rep. John P. Espie (R) of Eagle pronounced: "Idealistic but very impractical."

Thus the preliminary sparring began.

Indications are already at hand that the bi-partisan honeymoon, if it ever existed, is already on the wane.

Service Sunday 10:45 a. m.

All literature at the public library.

"Life" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 19.

The Golden Text (Rev. 21:6,7) is: "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 36: 7,9): "How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 351): "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas."

The next time you receive your electric service statement make a guess at how much this twenty-four-hour-a-day service actually costs you . . . per day. Then divide the net amount of your bill by thirty to give you the actual daily cost. You will be surprised when you see how little it is. Then just for fun add up the number of services that electricity performs for you such as lights, fans, radio, washer, ironer, refrigerator, range, water heater, etc. Divide this number into the daily cost figure and you will have a better picture of how little your electric services really cost.

Wanted... a New Meat Course!

IS THERE anything "new under the sun?" Well, there are some mighty interesting and different ways to serve the food favorites. Proof? Here's a blending of veal and link sausage that makes us toothsome a serving as you've had in many a moon. Easy to prepare.

VEAL AND SAUSAGE ROLLS

1 pound ground veal
½ cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped celery
½ teaspoon chopped onion
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
6 sausage links
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
Salt and pepper

Combine the veal, bread crumbs, celery, onion, slightly beaten egg and the one teaspoon salt and toss lightly until well mixed. Divide in six portions and pat out on five-inch squares of waxed paper. Place a sausage link on each meat square, wrap the meat around the sausage and press the edges together. Place in a buttered baking dish. If desired the veal rolls may be browned in butter on all sides before placing in the baking dish. Melt the butter in a double boiler, add the flour and mix well. Add the milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Season with salt and pepper and pour around the rolls. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) about one hour. Serves six.

"Nothing ever happens.
They all want that same old number — 476 — The Herald's Advertising Department."

A Good Neighbor, a Welcome Visitor for Nearly a Century

For 90 years the people of Tecumseh and its trading territory have relied upon The Herald for the news of this community and the advertising messages of its merchants.

The Herald's enviable record of nearly a century of service has made it a welcome weekly visitor in homes, shops and stores, where annually hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent for food, clothing, farm implements, motor cars, luxuries, etc.

Your message, Mr. Business Man, if it appears in The Herald, is reaching these buying centers. Your advertising is included in a newspaper that is read by the members of the families that are spending these thousands of dollars each year for necessities and luxuries.

Consider for a moment:

You are a part of Tecumseh; are you doing your share of advertising for your store or business, your town and your community?

Are you, through advertising, attempting to bring more people to Tecumseh that they may learn of its advantages as a shopping center?

Your advertising—is it carefully planned and attractively presented? (Advertising, you know, is your representative. It is YOU in the printed form.)

Should you not consder a well-balanced, regular program of advertising; a program that will reflect the dignity of your business, the alertness of your enterprise?

When you advertise in The Herald you are advertising in a medium that has an enviable reputation for service; a newspaper that has kept abreast of the times for nearly 100 years; a newspaper its subscribers have learned to know as trustworthy.

Why not share with The Herald these advantages? Include your advertising message in a newspaper that is welcomed by the family circle. Present your story through a medium backed by 90 years of good neighborliness — through a friend that has a front-door entrance to every home where it calls.

PULVER HEADS LOCAL C. OF C.

OTHER OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS CHOSEN AT ANNUAL MEETING, THURSDAY

B. J. Pulver was elected president of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors, following the Chamber's annual dinner meeting, Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church parlors. C. W. Gilman was elected vice-president, and Wade L. Jones was named as secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors, elected by members at the meeting, is made up of Mr. Pulver, Mr. Gilman, John R. Thompson, George Wilson, S. Henry Smith, Fay Whelan and R. W. Herrick. At the board meeting Mr. Herrick, who served on the board last year, tendered his resignation because of other business responsibilities, and R. H. Moore was named in his place. Mr. Moore also served on the board a year ago. The board is to meet sometime next week to formulate plans for the new year.

Dwight Dumond, professor of history at the University of Michigan, was the speaker at the banquet meeting, attended by about 75 members of the Chamber. Mr. Dumond discussed the European war and its relation to the United States, and declared that he did not see how this nation can remain out of the conflict for any considerable length of time.

Speaking in a "not too optimistic tone," Prof. Dumond believes that it will be Japan who will fire the spark that brings the United States into the war, and he is of the opinion that there can be no world peace or prosperity so long as a dictator form of government is allowed to remain in the world.

"A dictator," he declared, "knows but one course. He must furnish employment, and to do this there is but one thing he can manufacture—implements of war. To believe that a dictator can operate normal business in peace time is ridiculous. The man never lived who could dictate to industry—who is smart enough to control manufacturing; to guess how many electric refrigerators, shoes, hosiery and automobiles the nation or the world will consume in a single year. He can, however, build war machinery with accuracy, because he can consume his product by making war."

Mr. Dumond said that the re-election of President Roosevelt to a third term was not a surprise to him and he is of the opinion that unless opposing politicians awaken Mr. Roosevelt or a man of his choice will be the fourth-term president.

"And don't be surprised if the choice is Mr. Willkie, the Republican standard bearer in 1940," Mr. Dumond warned. He indicated that it would not surprise him to see Mr. Willkie the candidate on the Democratic ticket in four years.

Mr. Dumond is a forceful speaker, thoroughly conversant with his subject. He spent considerable time in England during the early part of the war, and has been in conference with Anthony Eden and other British leaders.

6 ARE INJURED IN 4 ACCIDENTS

GIRL, TWO BOYS HURT IN WRECK; MILAN MAN LOSES HAND IN FARM MISHAP

Six persons were injured, three of them seriously, in four accidents in this vicinity during the past week. All of the victims were removed to Tecumseh Hospital for treatment.

Alta Dermeyer of Tecumseh, suffered a broken right leg, a dislocated left hip and other injuries, early Saturday morning, when the car in which she was riding with Robert Wolters and Gerald Driscoll struck a tree and was wrecked. The accident happened near the Green farm, four miles south of Tecumseh, as the young people were returning from Adrian, where they had attended a dance. Driscoll and Wolters fell asleep, causing Driscoll, who was driving the car, to lose control.

Miss Dermeyer was taken to Tecumseh Hospital. Wolters suffered broken ribs but Driscoll's injuries were not serious. The car was wrecked.

Glen Kilpatrick, a farmer residing near Milan, suffered injuries to his right hand that necessitated amputation at the wrist, when caught the member in a cornhusker. The accident happened on Tuesday. He was removed to Tecumseh hospital where the operation was performed.

Marian Cook, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Cook of Tecumseh, ran into the side of an automobile while crossing Chicago Boulevard in the downtown district, early Saturday evening.

INJURED IN FALL

Miss Minnie Russell fell Saturday on the icy walk and cracked a bone in her left arm which has been placed in a cast.

Don't Be Too Sure About Yourself, You May Be A Nuthouse Candidate

If you're quite sure you're perfectly normal, if your everyday life is a model of smooth routine and perfect precision — don't be too smug! You may be a candidate for the nuthouse!

On the other hand, if the papers pile so high on your desk you wonder if you'll ever see the top again, and life is a constant jumble of detail—well, you may be a potential Mozart or Shakespeare.

These may be extremes, to be sure. But they're pretty good indices to the way the human mind assembles itself, in the opinion of Donald D. Kinsey, psychologist at the Mt. Pleasant Central State Teachers College.

The psychotic—the fellow with the faraway stare in his eyes, who may turn up some day in a padded cell — seldom realizes he's any more or less than perfectly normal, Mr. Kinsey points out. And so he goes along, progressively from bad to worse, until the blow-up. Although his friends may feel that "John is sure acting funny lately," John himself is blissfully unaware of anything unusual.

The fellow whose disorderly desk and sloppy ways of doing business harass him day and night; the guy who faces some kind of mental stone wall and can't seem to find a way to hurdle it—if he brings the proper drive to bear, and has the mental equipment to find a solution, he may produce something really creative.

The struggle itself, Mr. Kinsey maintains, is not damaging. No one should avoid these mental conflicts—these stone walls. The damage comes when the stone wall is too high—or too hard—when the individual can neither jump over it nor ram through it. Then failure results—and the black wagon drives around to get you.

These conflicts, these stone walls, Mr. Kinsey says, may produce creative effort of many kinds. John Bunyan wrote his immortal "Pilgrim's Progress" while he was in prison; John Milton's "Paradise Lost" was written after he lost his eyesight—when the hurdle, the realignment with everyday living, must have seemed impossible.

So — all in all — the better off you think you are mentally, the more you probably need to look into the situation. And if there's a certain amount of nightmarish confusion about each day's job—well, don't worry about it, you're okay, provided you can be confused and still find your head again sooner or later.

WILL DISCUSS NIGHT SCHOOL

LOCAL DEFENSE TRAINING PROGRAM CONTEMPLATED IF INTEREST IS SUFFICIENT

The Tecumseh board of education is extending an invitation to all interested out-of-school rural and non-rural youth between the ages of 17 and 25 years to meet in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, January 28, to discuss the organization of night school courses designed to fit the particular needs of industries in the local community and also to increase the employability of those who enroll as defense workers. The organization of the courses, which are outlined below, will depend upon the amount of interest shown and upon the number who may desire to enroll. It is, therefore, highly necessary that all employed or unemployed youth between the ages of 17 and 25 years who are interested in the program plan to attend the meeting.

The night school program which is being contemplated makes possible the organization of general courses in automechanics, metal work, woodworking and electricity. Each course which is offered must be conducted for not less than 15 clock hours per week for a period of 10 weeks and must have a minimum initial enrollment of 15. There will be no tuition charge as all expenses for the courses are to be paid by the state board of control for vocational education and the local board of education.

Specific courses in riveting, welding, machine shop, aircraft sheet metal and radio service and repair may also be organized under the program provided facilities and instructional equipment can be made available in the community to carry on such courses for not less than 30 clock hours per week. A decision regarding the courses which will be offered will be based upon the demand which will be ascertained at the meeting next week Tuesday evening.

A metal training course has been arranged by the Britton high school under the national defense training program, and 21 students, all over high school age, attended the opening session last Thursday evening.

Reginald McArthur, attorney and graduate of Boston University, and a member of the public relations committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America, was the guest speaker at the regular noon-day luncheon meeting of the Tecumseh Rotary Club, Tuesday at the Boston Restaurant. Mr. McArthur was the guest of Guy E. Belding, who had charge of the program.

Mr. McArthur discussed the investment banking business as it affects our everyday lives, and declared that the cure to unemployment and depression is the more normal flow of idle money into industrial channels. He showed a series of talking pictures explaining the facts in detail. His address was very interesting.

Next Tuesday evening, the Rotary club joins with the Tecumseh Grange for a rural-urban meeting at the Grange hall. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock, and the program, in charge of Del Burleson, will include music and a speaker.

RAIZK INDIANS TROUNCE MILAN

VICTORY EXPECTED WHEN THEY PLAY ADDISON ON LOCAL COURT, TOMORROW

By Bob Larsen

The Tecumseh High School Indian Cagers scored their fifth victory out of six games played, when they defeated the Milan high school team on the local court, Tuesday evening, by a score of 40 to 20. Coach Raizk's defense stopped the visitors with but little effort. Milan sent two men to the charity stripe because of fouls and all together Tecumseh had 24 free pokes at the basket.

Tomorrow evening, on the local court, the Indians will meet the Addison high team. This will be Tecumseh's second engagement with Addison, the first one being on December 3, when they (Tecumseh) won by a score of 29 to 12.

In Tuesday's game, Mohr, Wilson, Des Ermia, Rumph and Green started for Tecumseh. Leonardson, Spillman and Laidlaw were substituted during the game.

A summary of the game shows Mohr missed three free throws, Wilson made one long shot out of seven, one short shot out of two and three free throws out of 4. Des Ermia made two long shots out of three, one short shot out of two and three free throws out of five. Rumph missed one long shot, made three out of four short shots, and made one out of two free throws. Green made two out of nine short shots, and six out of eight free throws. Lenardson made one long shot, Spillman made one shot out of five and Laidlaw made one short shot and one free throw out of two.

Green had high score with ten points. Des Ermia was next with nine and Wilson and Rumph next with seven. Laidlaw three, and Lenarson and Spillman with two each.

Don Carlson did not play because of illness. The varsity is shy one man, sophomore, John Hamilton, has been playing a good brand of reserve ball and would be the likely choice for the berth if Coach Raizk decides to fill it.

St. Peter's Parish House Is Being Remodeled

The parish house of St. Peter's Episcopal church is now in the process of being enlarged and modernized. An addition is being constructed on the west side of the present building which will embody a spacious well equipped kitchen, two toilets, and storage space for banquet tables. The partitions forming the present kitchen are being removed so that the whole interior of the parish house as it was originally will be given over entirely to church school, Guild, and banquet accommodations. Running water and sewer connections are being installed in the building for the first time. There will also be a spacious wardrobe for choir vestments, and storage cabinets for church school and miscellaneous supplies. Following the parlor type stove, the parish house will be heated with ducts connecting it to a large all-steel, forced-air, heating plant installed in the church three years ago. When this heating plant was put in, the vestry had such a plan in mind.

The estimated total cost of this project is $2,600. There is on hand $1,272.34 in cash. There are also pledges amounting to $750. The vestry hope to liquidate the unpaid balance of approximately $600 through this year's Easter and Christmas offerings.

The building committee is composed of the following people: Perry Satterthwaite, chairman; Karl M. Schneider, M. W. Wilson, Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Russell Thurlby, Mrs. R. K. Anderson, Mrs. Jack Smith, Leland Randall, Mrs. Charles Mensing, M. W. Wilson, W. P. Van Tuyle, and Lester Rogers. Raymond Kemp is the builder.

TO ESTABLISH FOOD COUNCIL

LOCAL GROUPS TO CONTROL SALES IN THE EVENT OF WAR EMERGENCY

LANSING — Anticipating a war emergency by spring, the Michigan Food Council comprising producers, retailers and distributors is taking steps to establish local and county food councils throughout Michigan.

The consumer will be recognized in the county personnel which is to include retailers, farmers and consumers.

As the consumer was penalized in the World war when selfish interests profiteered in the purchase and sale of foodstuffs, the state food council is on record today as advocating consumer protection through local advisory groups.

The names and addresses of members of all local food councils will be placed at the disposal of Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner "for any assignment he may deem advisable."

This decision was taken by representatives of independent and chain retailers, wholesalers, State Grange, state department of agriculture, and the state press.

To maintain law and order in Saginaw where rival labor groups had precipitated a strike in an industrial plant, Governor Van Wagoner recently ordered 200 state policemen to assist local law enforcement officers.

Production of national defense contracts was temporarily stopped.

It gives new importance to an opinion, made by Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton, that factories engaged in national defense work come within the "public interest" scope of the state labor mediation act and thus a 30-day strike notice must be given by labor. Directly involved also was the Duplex Printing Press Co. of Battle Creek which has a $6,000,000 contract from the war department for gun carriages.

The governor has not indicated his approval or disapproval of the strike notice part of the state mediation act, which was intended to afford a "cooling off period" and thus to discourage hastily-called strikes. For example, the governor may decide to permit national developments determine the advisability of any amendments in the state mediation set-up. As for extension of the federal wage and hour act to industries in intrastate commerce, the governor is already committed to the "all Michigan workers" under it.

PUBLIC SPEAKS ON DEFENSE

A short time ago, the Elmo Roper Organization, which conducts the extremely accurate elections polls for Fortune Magazine asked a number of questions on defense subjects, and the answers given by a cross-section of the American public have now been released by the National Association of Manufacturers.

The Roper Organization sought to find out if the public thought that certain possible actions would speed up or slow down the defense program, whether or not those questioned actually favored the measures or not.

Most of the answers throw a significant light on the public's thinking in regard to measures vitally important to the nation's welfare.

69 per cent of those questioned believed that it would speed up defense if strikes were prohibited by law in industries producing defense goods; about 10 per cent thought it would retard such production, and the rest either felt it would make no difference or had no opinion.

A total of 57 per cent held that regular factory working hours in national defense industries should be increased to more than 40 a week for the sake of defense efficiency, 12 per cent thought this would retard production.

One more particularly important thought turned up in answer to a question as to whether the National Defense Commission should be given more power. This move was favored by 54 per cent of those questioned, while only 6 per cent were definitely of the opinion that this would have the opposite effect.

These public attitudes on vital defense questions show that Americans everywhere are eager to see the program made more effective, and that the majority of them recognize definite steps in that direction. But they also indicate a large group who are undecided or hold no opinion at all, and it is only reasonable to hope that, in these grave times, this group will become more actively interested in the national welfare and the measures that will make our industries even stronger and more productive.

INFORMATIVE LABELS FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Further cooperation with organized consumer groups seeking simplified labelling of canned foods has been announced by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company following a series of conferences with the National Consumer-Retailer Council.

The company is extending to its full line of canned fruits and vegetables the A, B and C system of grade labelling, which it adopted several years ago. It will also place on every product in this line for which standards have been established by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, an informative panel which will explain differences between various grades, and the standards by which they are graded.

A&P's printing of labels is a continuous process and new printings will incorporate the new features. The informative panels will begin to find their way to store shelves within a few weeks.

The new program will affect 120 company labels. Vegetables include green, lima and baked beans, beets, asparagus, carrots, corn, peas and succotash, sauerkraut, spinach and squash. Fruits affected include apple sauce, apricots, aspberries, grapefruit and grapefruit juice, peaches, cherries, fruit cocktail, tomatoes and tomato juice, pears, plums, prunes, and pumpkin.

A SHORT, SHORT STORY OF FREEDOM

There were loud voices in the house next door. The argument was evidently becoming what we call "heated." We could hear some of the words as we passed on our way home.

"They seem to be taking the government apart," my husband remarked. "But then, Jones always gets excited when he talks about taxes." "Yes," said I, "and Mr Brown has very different ideas about defense."

With these few harmless observations we dismissed this vivid example of one of America's traditional freedoms — freedom of speech. Of course, people have the right to say what they want to, whether others believe it or not!

The evening paper, tightly folded, was on the porch when we got home. John opened it up as we went in and turned on the light. There on the front page was an editorial criticizing certain statements made recently by our chief executive. "Well," said he, "'J. B.' doesn't seem to agree with the President." We laughed, for that was putting it mildly for "J. B.," the editor, was rabid on the subject without the least fear concerning his paper or his person. And so, we calmly took for granted another of our national freedoms—freedom of the press.

A few minutes later Mary came rushing in the front door, cheeks flaming. "Mother!" she exclaimed, "I've just had the awfulest argument with Bill Sullivan. About religions. He told me everything that is wrong with our church. And I told him everything that was wrong with his. The idea of people being so blind and bigoted and old fashioned! I'll never speak to him again."

"There, there, Mary . . . calm yourself. People can be good friends and still have very different ideas about religion," I said, "and the thing that really matters is sincerity." Thus, was another of the fundamentals of our precious Bill of Rights accepted.

And then John's brother came in. We could see he had something on his mind. "That store down at the corner that I've told you about. Remember? Well, I've bought it! Got the money from old man Larkin and I'm opening up next month. Looks to me as if there was going to be more and more business out this way and if a fellow gets in on the ground floor . . ."

"Good for you, Bill," we said, congratulating him and never giving a thought to our system of free private enterprise that makes this type of individual initiative possible.

There, in a few simple home incidents is the story of our American way of life. A way unknown in much of the rest of the world today where men dare not speak their minds...or print the truth ...or express their opinions on religion...or undertake a business of their own.

There Is Hope

THERE is no hopelessness to those who trust in God as the loving, omnipotent, omnipresent Father and protector that He has been through all the ages. In periods of deep distress, such as the world is now passing through, the suggestion of futility presents itself over and over again. The belief in fatality attempts to establish the sense that man is a helpless victim of evil.

During times of war this false sense may say: "What is the use? What can be gained? There is no certain way out." But there is hope. There is always a way out. Even when the evidence before the physical senses seems aggressive, God is All, His glorious supremacy unchanged. When thoughts are deeply stirred, then do the words of Christ Jesus come clearly to us (Luke 21:28), "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh."

Every effort of mortal mind to tear down, to destroy, turns thought to the power of God and His goodness; for the destruction which seems to rage requires of us a clearer realization of the eternal fact that since God is omnipresent, He is ever at hand. As we turn to Him unreservedly, the loveliness of divine reality appears to our spiritualized thought.

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 97), "The more destructive matter becomes, the more its nothingness will appear, until matter reaches its mortal zenith in illusion and forever disappears." The effort of evil is to make all men acknowledge that it is something, and that it has power; that the world is in a critical condition; that civilization is threatened; that evil can overthrow good; but the old adage comes to thought with renewed clarity: "It is always darkest just before the dawn." In the midst of strife and darkness it may seem hard to comprehend the allness of God; but the childlike trust which loves Him, finds Him always at hand. . . .

The disappearance of evil is assured, even when error attempts to make itself heard above the ringing voice of Truth. Because of the oppressiveness of error one may seem to be hypnotized by it. But if, instead, one maintains his poise and quietness of heart, above the discordant cries of mortal belief the clear, ringing call of Truth will be heard. It can never be silent, but one requires spiritual listening, in order to be aware of it. Truth is not in the detonations of error, but one must lift one's thought to be able to hear the tones of good. . . .

The Bible continually points to life as eternal, and reveals man as one with God, Life. There should therefore be no despondency, no despair, no sense of uselessness, no lack of hope. We are not looking sadly upon the ashes of our endeavors. Rather are we looking up to see materiality disappear in the revelation of true being. Today offers rich opportunities to prove the supremacy of Spirit. Only in this way can we overcome the seeming aggressiveness of evil, and realize that God, good, is All. . . .

It is easy to yield to utter hopelessness in the face of evil claims of large numbers, greater force, or a cunning craftiness; but Mind is able to destroy any seeming cleverness that mortal mind may present, and there is never a moment when Mind is absent. Man is always in the presence of his heavenly Father. Mind illumines, protects, and leads from darkness into light. No matter how clouded the way, how desperate the situation, how befogged the mental outlook may appear to be, the one omnipresent divine intelligence leads into the enlightening knowledge of safety.

In her Message to The Mother Church for 1902, Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 11), "Divine Love waits and pleads to save mankind — and awaits with warrant and welcome, grace and glory, the earth weary and heavy-laden who find and point the path to heaven."—The Christian Science Monitor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

North Union Street

Service Sunday 10:45 a. m.

All literature at the public library.

"Truth" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 26.

The Golden Text (Ps. 119:151, 152) is: "Thou art near, O Lord; and all thy commandments are truth. Concerning thy testimonies, I have known of old that thou hast founded them for ever."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (IISam. 22: 1, 21): "And David spake unto the Lord the words of this song in the day that the Lord had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand or Saul: The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 288): "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light."

Leftover Chicken—With Glamor!

By BEULAH V. GILLASPIE
Director, Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen

Courtesy Sealtest Laboratory Kitchen

SOMETHING new, luscious and appealing to the eye . . . that's what women say of our Chicken Sandwich Loaf. It's simple to prepare, too; and it is a filling dish that lives long in the memory.

CHICKEN SANDWICH LOAF

2½ tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups milk
⅛ teaspoon celery salt
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1½ cups chopped cooked chicken
2 hard cooked eggs
1 small loaf bread
Soft butter

Melt the 2½ tablespoons of butter in a double boiler, add the flour and bouillon cubes and mix well. Add the milk gradually and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add the celery salt, salt and pepper. Combine ½ cup of the hot sauce with 1 cup of the chicken and the chopped eggs. Season with salt and pepper. Cut off crust from the loaf of bread and cut in four lengthwise slices. Spread the chicken mixture between the slices and put together in the shape of a loaf. Place in a shallow baking pan and spread soft butter on the outside. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) for about 25 minutes. To serve, slice with a sharp knife. Add the remaining ½ cup of chicken to the remaining sauce, reheat and serve with the loaf. If desired garnish with parsley and sliced hard cooked egg. Serves six.

Junior Class Notes

On Tuesday, January 14, we had a class meeting. We discussed several things. First, there was the assembly program which we are to give January 21. Bob Larsen will have charge of half of the program, which is to be a Quiz program, with a prize given for the best question offered by someone from the assembly. Bob Wilson and Bob Mohr are making up the other half of the program. It is to be something about Hiawatha done in pantomime. We think that the three Bobs will have a program worth seeing. We hope it will be the best program this year.

We also appointed Bob Bailey, Joyce Waldron, Margaret Hardy, and Don Carlson to pick out our Junior Play, which we hope you will all come to see.

We discussed the idea of an ice skating party. It was decided that we turn over to Macon, but as yet the date hasn't been set because we are waiting until after exams.

Reporter, Ethel Cook.

Freshman Class Notes

In their regular class meeting this week, the Freshman discussed plans for a candy sale and an assembly program. They learned that it is impossible to hold a candy sale while there are school lunches. The class will try to hold one at a coming basketball game.

Several ideas for an assembly program were brought up before the class, but nothing definite was decided upon.

Our three class officers (Jim Sisson, Ben Hammack, and Martha Hewlett), have organized an Activity Club.

Each morning we have a Health Inspection, to check our teeth, hands, nails, face, neck, and hair.

We won our basketball game over the 5th grade, 2-0. Our captain is LaMar Cheever. We have not lost a game yet.

Mrs Bert Ousterrout and Mrs Geodge Bailey were our first visitors during 1941.

We are now using the Weekly Readers and are deriving much good from them.

We were much pleased with the splendid cooperation of the mothers during our conference periods. We feel confident that these meetings between parents and teachers will result in much that is beneficial to the children in our schools.

$25,000 AWARDS TO GOOD DRIVERS

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED BY EDSEL FORD

With the nation's high schools preparing for second semester activities, the Ford Good Drivers League today announced details of its 1941 good driving contests, in which $25,800 in scholorships will be awarded boys and girls of high school age throughout the country.

Started last year by Edsel Ford to promote improved driving and increase motoring safety among youth, the Good Drivers League embarks on its second season with one major innovation that is expected to more than double the membership.

Where the nation-wide 1940 good driving contests were open only to boys, the 1941 contests will be open to girls as well as boys.

This major change in the League program already has produced widespread interest, with indications that girls are fully as anxious as the boys to demonstrate their knowledge and skill at handling an automobile.

Under the new rules set up by Mr. Ford as League president and his national advisory board, girls will compete in a separate division, while the boys also will have a section of their own. There will be no mixed contests.

As awards for the national winners, Mr. Ford revealed that 98 Good Drivers League scholarships would be presented as follows, with identical awards for both the boy and girl divisions: First prize, $5,000 university scholarship; second prize, $2,000 university scholarship; third, fourth and fifth prizes, each $500 scholarships; and the next 44 winners, $100 each.

The contests are open to boys and girls between 14 and 18. In order to qualify for membership in the Ford Good Drivers League, all entrants must be qualified and legally authorized to drive a car in the state in which they reside.

State competition throughout the nation is scheduled for next July 1, bringing together at a central point in each state the 12 leading boy and 12 best girl contestants. They will be chosen by the League board of judges on the basis of a road test under a qualified observer, a letter on the subject of safe driving, and their answers to a questionnaire on driving.

In each of the 49 state final contests, safety experts assigned by the League board of judges will rate the boys and girls on their driving ability in "on the spot" tests. The 49 boys and 49 girls chosen as state champions will be invited to compete in the national finals to be held in Dearborn, starting Aug. 6.

Winners of the 98 scholarships will be announced at the League's second annual banquet of champions on August 11 in Dearborn. Last year the first award of a $5,000 university scholarship was won by Gene M. Kennard of Evansville, Ind. Jimmy Hymer of Phoenix, Ariz., won the second award, a $2,000 scholarship.

Registration blanks can be obtained from Ford dealers or by writing to the national headquarters of the Ford Good Drivers League, Dearborn, Mich.

Mr and Mrs E. A. Collins win free tickets to Strand theatre.

TO ESTABLISH

He recently received a delegation of striking employees of the Neisner stores of Detroit and told them that he had plans for remedial legislation which would establish a floor for wages of retail employees.

Under the federal wage-hour act, most retailing is specially exempt. Legislative leaders see numerous complications ahead if the governor plans to regulate wages and hours of store clerks throughout the state. Another possibility would be enactment of a minimum wage law for women.

According to Irving C. Fox, counsel for the National Retail Dry Goods association, in session last week, new court decisions may place all retailing under the scope of the national labor relations act.

He reports that attempts are being made by legal procedure to establish that the receipt of merchandise from outside the state brings the receiver under the act with regard to collective bargaining for wages.

If a United States supreme court decision puts all retailing under the federal act, then the Van Wagoner program for labor would have these leading objectives:

1. Amendment to the unemployment compensation act to include firms which now have less than eight employees.

2. Wage-hour legislation, paraleling the federal set-up for employees of industries engaged in interstate commerce.

3. Restriction of court power to issue injunctions in labor disputes. A bill has been introduced in the house of representatives by Edward J. Walsh, Detroit Democrat, with administrative backing.

G. Donald Kenney, appointive state highway commissioner, is expected to be the Democrats' choice for the four-year position at the 1941 spring election. Kennedy was deputy to Murray D. Van Wagoner during the latter's administration.

Republican state officials are said to be favorable to Leroy Smith, Wayne county highway engineer. Smith lives in Democratic Detroit where the Republicans need votes badly.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Republican incumbent, will run for re-election as state superintendent of public instruction. Democratic opponents may be T. Thomas Thatcher, Ravenna, or Prof. Roy Hamilton, Alma college.

For the state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College, Republicans will probably name William H. Berkey, Cassopolis, and Clark L. Brody, Lansing, to succeed themselves. Candidates for university regents include Charles F. Hemans, Lansing, and Franklin M. Cook, Hillsdale, on the Democratic ticket. Alfred B. Connable Jr., Detroit, has announced his candidacy to the Republicans.

The Democratic state convention will convene Feb. 19, the Republicans' convention on Feb. 28, both in Grand Rapids.

Rep. Palmer Landon, Mr. Pleasant, proposed licensing of coin-operated pianos and music machines on $25 annual fee to be earmarked for old age pensions.

Legislation to "eliminate fraud" in petitions for referendums is being proposed. Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, appointed a committee to study it.

An "anti-boss" bill, aimed to prevent convention control, is sponsored by Rep. Robert N. Sawyer, Monroe, and Rep. F. Jack Neller, Battle Creek. It is patterned after the Elton R. Eaton Bill of 1939.

Six-year terms for five members of a commission of agriculture to be appointed by the governor are proposed by a bill introduced by Rep. Edward J. Walsh, Detroit house leader. Rep. Maurice D. Post's bill would provide for appointent of a commissioner by the state board of agriculture.

Sen. Otto W. Bishop, Alpena, introduced a bill to appropriate $200,000 per year to advertise Michigan; $100,000 for general advertising, $25,000 to each of the four tourist associations which are to repay 80 per cent of cost of the ads.

Ford Team In The Lead In Local Cage Schedule

The Ford team of the Tecumseh basketball league moved into first place by defeating their closest rivals, the Tecumseh Products Office, 20 to 17, Monday night at the high school gym. The farmer's steady floor play by which every player scored at least one bucket was impressive. Six free throws out of 10 chances against one out of 10 by the office was the deciding factor. The game was close and hard fought and with three minutes to go the losers were ahead 17 to 16. Barber's scoring of 13 points kept the losers in the game to the very end.

Philco beat the Business Men in a close finish 24 to 20 and moved into a tie with the Office for second place. Maynard lead the refrigerator men in scoring with 10 points to keep them in front all the way. Tecumseh Products Inspection walloped the Hermetic Assembly 20 to 2 in a slow one-sided game.

Next Monday night Philco meets the Inspectors, the Office battles the Business Men, and Fords take on the Hermetic Assembly.

NINETY - FIRST YEAR— NUMBER EIGHTEEN. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1941. FIVE CENTS PER COPY.

DRAFT CALL IS BOOSTED TO 71

THREE REJECTIONS AT DETROIT NECESSITATE INCREASE IN FEBRUARY CALL

Three Lenawee county young men, who left Adrian last week with the group of 34 to enter U. S. Army service for training under the selective service law, failed to pass the final examination in Detroit last Thursday and have returned to their homes. The young men are Otis McNicol of Adrian, a volunteer; James O. Wallace of Tipton and Robert B. Heckman of Adrian, drafted men. The rest of the Lenawee men were inducted on schedule.

The rejection of the three registrants increases the February quota from 68 to 71, as the deficiency must be made up in the February call.

The Lenawee draft board is mailing questionnaires at the rate of 50 a day and in sending them out emphasizes that every section and column in the questionnaire under dependency must be filled out. Members of the advisory board aiding registrants to fill out these questionnaires have been advised to be sure that page four of the questionnaire is filled out. The board here urged registrants who do not consult the advisory board to make sure that all information is made available. Failure to fill out the section may result in an incorrect classification.

Conference hours are from 3 to 5 o'clock daily except Saturday and Sunday and those desiring assistance or information must apply for it at those hours. No consideration will be given registrants calling at the homes of the board members for information.

Of the first 664 registrants classified by the board 182 were placed in Class 1. Some have been given physical examinations and are not available for service. Others are still to be examined. 422 registrants have been deferred because of dependents and placed in Class III. Of the 664 registrants already classified and examined, 16 were found fit for only limited service, 14 were found unfit physically, morally or mentally for any service at all; 12 students will be available after June 30; 10 men were deferred because of "key" jobs; one already serving in the army; two have completed U. S. military service; one minister was deferred by law; one conscientious objector and three aliens.

More Police Protection Sought By Petitioners

Petitions are being circulated this week, to be submitted soon to Oscar G. Olander, state police commissioner, asking that the status of the state police post at Clinton be changed from that of a sub-post to a post, and that a suitable building for the housing of the officers in or near that village be acquired by the state. Already the petitions have several hundred signatures, it was said.

The petitions are being circulated by residents of Clinton and Tecumseh who are interested in increasing the protection given locally by the state police, especially on US-112, where traffic is extremely heavy. Interested petitioners believe that by increasing the police protection on the federal highway would greatly reduce the traffic accidents in the Clinton area, now considered one of the most dangerous spots on the federal route between Detroit and Chicago.

At present, two officers are stationed at Clinton, and the village council building is used as an office. Lenawee already has one state police post, at Blissfield. A new building, to house the officers in that village, was erected about a year ago.

TEN NEW SCOUT TROOPS IS AIM

ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE DETERMINED TO INCREASE SIZE OF COUNCIL

The registration of 511 Boy Scouts and the organization of 10 new troops is requested localities in the aim of the Wolverine Council during 1941. The members of the organization committee will be assigned to localities in Monroe and Lenawee counties to organize the proposed new troops in an effort to register that number of boys. At a recent survey, 1022 boys of 12 years of age were reported in the area of the council and 50 per cent of that number is the quota for 1941.

Requests have been made recently for two troops in Adrian, two in Monroe, one each in Blissfield, Addison, Clayton, Deerfield, Maybee and Erie. Requests have also been made for Cub packs for boys from 9 to 12 in Monroe and Adrian.

At a meeting of the executive board held here Tuesday evening, plans were made for an appreciation banquet for all scout masters of the Council, to be held at the Masonic Temple in Adrian on Thursday, February 20. Geo. Hunter, business manager of the Port Huron Times Herald will be the speaker, Mr. Hunter has been active in scouting for many years.

The banquet has been arranged to pay tribute to the scoutmasters, their assistants and their wives in recognition of their leadership and efforts with the council's various troops during the last year. The members of the various troop committees and their wives also are to be the guests of the council at the banquet. A group of about 300 persons is expected to attend.

The disease was first felt in the schools last week, and is expected to reach its peak by the end of this week. TRUCK CATCHES FIRE

A truck, owned by Earl Cook, caught fire Monday evening when the muffler exploded, but quick action with a fire extinguisher checked the flames before any damage had been done. A call was sent to the Tecumseh fire department for aid, but the firemen did not respond, due to a council ruling that the department need not answer truck fire alarms outside the village limits. The Cook truck was about three miles south of Tecumseh when the accident occurred.

INDIANS HUMBLE ADDISON 33-20

TAKE SIXTH GAME OF THE SEASON; TO PLAY HUDSON ON FRIDAY

By Bob Larsen

The Tecumseh high school cagers won their sixth game of the season by defeating Addison on the local court, Friday evening, 33 to 20. This is the second time the Indians have defeated Addison, having first demonstrated the art to them on their own floor last December 3 to the tune of 29 o 12.

Addison set up a new defense in Friday's game which seemed to stop Raizk's boys for a while. Though Addison was unable to carry the offensive successfully they had the Indians plenty worried in the first half by their sterling defense. The Indians have been allowed by all previous opponents to carry the ball well past center court before they were checked. Addison met the guards deep in their own court and for a time prevented the offensive from getting under way.

Green was high man with 14 points to his credit. Lenardson followed with six, Wilson five, Mohr four, Spillman and Carlson two, and Des Ermia and Rumph 0.

The warriors meet Hudson tomorrow night at Hudson. Tecumseh defeated Hudson on the local court last December 6 by the score of 23-10. With the Indians burning up the league it will be hard to find anyone who will give Hudson an outside chance.

The Indians have been getting marvelous support from the fans and several of the parents are becoming real enthusiasts. The Raizk men have been playing excellent ball thus far but it seemed that they were not keyed up to previous battles. They may be sure that Hudson will not surrender without a struggle and Coach Raizk is making sure that the team does not take the Hudson game too lightly.

The reserves have been doing even better than the varsity. They have not lost a game thus far and it looks like they will continue. These boys will be excellent material for the varsity in the next few seasons.

Des Ermia, Carlson, Green, Mohr (capt.) and Wilson started for Tecumseh and Spillman, Rumph and Lenardson were substituted during the game.

INTEREST SHOWN IN NIGHT SCHOOL

25 LOCAL YOUTHS MEET WITH SCHOOL BOARD; NO TUITION TO BE CHARGED

The establishment of night school classes in sheet metal work and welding, in conection with a national defense training program locally for out-of-school rural and non-rural youth between the ages of 17 and 25 years, is being carefully considered by W. L. Berkhof, superintendent of the Tecumseh public schools, and members of the board of education, following a meeting here on Tuesday evening at which time such a course was discussed.

"As the result of Tuesday evening's meeting," Mr. Berkhof said, "about 25 young men, interested in obtaining such courses, met with the board of education at the school. The greatest interest, it seems, is for training in connection with aviation, and it is for this reason that we may offer the welding and metal courses. We would, however, like slightly larger classes, and if there are others interested in such training, they should communicate with us at once, at the high school. In all probability, the courses will be started within the next week or 10 days.

"There is no tuition charge for the courses," the superintendent pointed out, "all of the expense being paid by the state and the board."

Each course that is conducted, Mr. Berkhof said, will be for not less than 15 clock hours weekly, and must cover a period of not less than 10 weeks. The minimum enrollment in any class, he said, is 15.

The board held a special meeting Tuesday evening to consider the night school plan, and also to prepare to receive bids for the improvement of the athletic field, near the high school. Bids already received for grading and tiling of the land must be restated, Mr. Berkhof said, before they can be accepted by the board. This will be done within the next few days, and it is hoped that the work of grading the field can be started before the first of March.

FRIENDS CHURCH PLANS A MEMORIAL

BRONZE TABLET TO BE UNVEILED IN MEMORY OF ANNA SATTERTHWAITE

A memorial service will be held at the Tecumseh Friends Church on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at which time a bronze tablet will be unveiled to the memory of Miss Anna Satterthwaite.

The early records of the Tecumseh Friends Church record three marriages between two member families. One was the marriage of Joseph Satterthwaite to Elizabeth Comfort. Another was the marriage of Elwood Comfort to Elizabeth Satterthwaite. The third was the marriage of Samuel M. Satterthwaite to Jane Comfort. To this latter union were born two children, Edward, who died in childhood, and Anna, for whom the dedication is being held.

Anna Satterthwaite was born in Raisin township on February 2, 1860, and she died May 27, 1936, aged 76 years. Surrounded during her early life by that deep spiritual influence and example of her parents she received the training which was the background of a long life of christian service. She was a student at Raisin Valley Seminary where her father served as superintendent, and her mother as matron.

A birthright member of the Society of Friends her heart was always concerned with the expanding influence of this group. As a young woman she took an active part in the Christian Endeavor Society and other movements. This interest in young people she retained throughout her life.

Early in life she was afflicted with a condition which gradually resulted in the loss of her hearing. But although deprived of her physical hearing she was given a sense of spiritual understanding of public gatherings to a marked degree. She was a constant reader of the Scriptures. The home department of the Sunday school which she headed for years was a great joy to her, and a means of endearing herself to many shut-in people.

A bequest which she made to the Tecumseh Friends Church has made it possible for this church to secure the following additions and improvements: an electronic organ has been installed; also an air-conditioning and oil-burning furnace; improvements in the main auditorium of the church together with new carpeting; new church hymnals; an enlargement on the parsonage, and other improvements. In addition Miss Satterthwaite left the local Friends Church $2000 as a permanent trust fund, and she left the Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church $4000 as a permanent trust fund.

The memorial tablet will be unveiled by J. Newton Satterthwaite of Tecumseh. His father and Miss Satterthwaite's father were brothers, and their mothers were sisters. There will be special vocal and instrumental music at this service. Brief tributes will be paid to the memory of Miss Satterthwaite. The public is invited to the memorial service.

CIVIL SERVICE NOW DIGNIFIED

BI-PARTISAN STATE GOVERNMENT MAY PROVE ASSET, NOT LIABILITY

LANSING — Instead of a bipartisan form of state government being a liability, it may prove to be an asset in disguise.

Take it from Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner whose sense of humor has seldom failed him and whose broad smile has already earned for him the title of "Happy Pat."

Speaking at the Michigan State Society dinner in Washington, the Michigan executive put the situation this way: "When I propose anything to the legislature we have in Lansing today, it has to be good. Otherwise you can imagine what chance it has of getting any consideration at all."

The first truly bi-partisan act of the Van Wagoner administration was a ruling by the newly appointed civil service commission, created by constitutional authority, that all classified state employees—whether Republicans or Democrats—are to be considered henceforth as duly protected under civil service from patronage raids.

A ruling by Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton clearly vested the commission in complete jurisdiction over the state payroll covering 15,000 employees, and Rushton said in effect that the commission members constitute "a rule unto themselves."

The air-tight amendment setting up civil service in Michigan also impowered the commission with authority to make its own laws and to construe the amendment in every particular. The legislature is stripped of its rights completely; partisan bi-play is relegated to ancient history.

A YEAR OF PROOF

Walter Lippmann, columnist of the New York Herald Tribune, who is not given to false optimism, recently came forth with an assurance and a prophecy which everyone in this country ought to read. We quote from it:

"If this mighty continent goes to work as it can go to work when it goes all out, the year 1941 will see the end of doubt, division, and fear, and the gathering together of an America which is true to its past and equal to anything that the future may bring. Then we shall no only sleep well at night; in the day, having the consciousness of working hard and to a single purpose, we shall have done with anxiety.

"For this we depend upon the government for the plans, the specifications, the leadership. But for the results we depend upon the directors, the managers, the technicians, and the employees of American industry. The defense of America is in their hands. They are not the conscripted employees of a totalitarian state, and it is for them to show that a free industry can in fact keep the world free.

"If they succeed, as I believe they will, their success will insure the future of free industry by the only means through which its future can now be insured—by an overwhelming proof of its superiority in the struggle for existence....If now the free peoples are defeated, there will be no future anywhere for free industry...

"But American industry will not fail in the test...The world will see this year the proof that this young continent possesses the energy which, throttled down in these ten years of depression and confusion, will pour forth to astound the world."

Americans with faith in their country believe these words with all their hearts. They know that the year ahead is one in which this nation will again prove its industrial and its democratic power, and they face their part in that test with real confidence.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

LIFE COULD BE SO NICE!

She was very proud of her new house, tiny but perfect from the white enamel stove in the kitchen to the flower boxes at the entrance and she loved Jim's new car. It was new to them, anyhow, and took them the hundred miles to their parents' home and back every week end without a murmur.

"Life could be so nice," she said, "if it weren't for this awful war. Why do you suppose men want to fight each other? Jim says there's really plenty of everything to go around."

"Yes," I said, "there is plenty of everything and it goes around pretty well in this country. Take yourself, for instance. You and Jim haven't much money but you have this sweet house and a car. And you're perfectly sure that some day you're going to have a still bigger house and a better car. It's things and hopes like these, which you take for granted, that people in the countries ruled by dictators are so eager for. It isn't by accident that for years Hitler has promised his people an inexpensive car. If he could make that promise good so that almost every family in the country had its own little automobile, it would make more difference than all the territorial conquests in the world.

"And what do you think the Russians have been struggling for all these years? One of our most important newspaper women said what struck her when she went to Russia about 12 years ago was that the revolution she had gone to observe was actually an attempt at a violently imposed industrial advance. The Russians were trying to change from a feudal system of great land owners and peasant labor to the electric age almost overnight. What they were really doing was trying to catch up with us. Their aims haven't been achieved because they are the result not of a political but of industrial revolution.

"As you wash your dishes with water that flows at you from a faucet and clean your rugs with electricity and go places in your car, remember this. Russia and Germany have overturned governments, upset order and established a reign of terror in order to try to get what we have already ...distribution of the fruits of modern mass production among the people as a whole."

Grandma Did All Her Own Canning

The luxury, efficiency, convenience and economy of factory-canned foods were unknown to grandma. Today, few housewives feel they can afford to spend the time and money necessary for home canning.

Home laundering was economy, once, too. Today, it's old-fashioned. The modern laundry offers scientifically superior service that home laundering can't equal at any price. And the price is low, with a service to fit every need and purse. Phone 146R for details.

OVER 27,000 CLAIMS REPRESENTING
About $1,250,000 in Losses

Were Sustained by This Big Company Because of the Windstorm which Swept Over Michigan November 11, 1940

No other windstorm within the 55 years' experience of the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Company ever did such great damage in Michigan

CASH ON HAND TO PAY

Carrying a cash reserve on hand, a policy adopted by this progressive company a few years ago, has enabled the policyholders of the Michigan Mutual to always receive checks promptly in payment of their losses. Had it not been for this cash reserve this company would have had to levy an extra large assessment before these losses from the November storm could have been taken care of, causing policyholders to wait months for their pay. Under this cash reserve plan, here is what this big company has been able to do through the work of its competent adjusters and office workers,

ADJUST ALL LOSSES AND PAY ALL CLAIMS PROMPTLY WITHOUT SPECIAL ASSESSMENT

When the thousands of claims came piling into the home office after the storm of last November, our vast force of adjusters and office employees began at once the tremendous task of taking care of losses. While there have been certain delays, they have been in no way the fault of this company or its force. Bad roads and weather have sometimes slowed up the work of our adjusters. The chief obstacle to more rapid adjustments and payments was the overwhelming number of claims filed. Settlement of claims has been made just as rapidly and quickly as was humanly possible.

The progressive policy of this company has been vindicated. It has rendered a service to its policyholders unexcelled by any other windstorm insurance company, and at a minimum loss of time. The management of this company wishes to thank its policyholders for their splendid spirit of cooperation. This company still has a substantial cash reserve and is prepared to take care of its policyholders after the next windstorm.

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 26.

The Golden Text (Jeremiah 31: 3) is: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I John 4:7, 8): "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "The starting-point of divine Science is that God, Spirit, is All-in-all, and that there is no other might nor Mind.-that God is Love, and therefore He is divine Principle."

Of the amount $9,615 went to the county road commission, $6,293 for debt service, and the balance was allocated at the rate of 6 1-4 cents per person. Courtesy

HOW one appreciates courtesy! It may be expressed in one's opening of a door, in a smiling "Thank you," in the gracious doing of a commonplace duty, or in listening with interest to another's views. Courtesy includes deference and respectfulness. Yet, is there not something more than deference and respect involved in genuine courtesy? Indeed there is. It is love for mankind. Henry Drummond has spoken of courtesy as "love in little things."

If one truly loves, does he not express that love in even his least contact with others—in thoughtfulness for others, in deeds of kindness, in little helpful acts, all of which constitute what we are pleased to call courtesy?

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, in her "Miscellaneous Writings," says (p. 250): "Love is not something put upon a shelf, to be taken down on rare occasions with sugar-tongs and laid on a rose-leaf. I make strong demands on love, call for active witnesses to prove it, and noble sacrifices and grand achievements as its results." And she also says, "As a human quality, the glorious significance of affection is more than words: it is the tender, unselfish deed done in secret; the ceaseless prayer; the self-forgetful heart that overflows."

The Apostle Peter admonished thus (I Peter 3:8, 9): "Be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous: not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing."

The dictionary defines "courtesy," in part, as "an act of kindness, or favor performed with politeness." But what, then, is the source of inherent kindliness and considerateness? . . .

The real man is not the mortal, so-called man, who may or may not be kind. The man of God's creating is His own image and likeness, as stated in Genesis. And since God is Love, man is the forever expression of Love; hence love and kindness are inherent qualities of the real man.

But one may ask, Why do some persons appear to express much of love, while others seem almost devoid of it, and at times may be even discourteous and disagreeable? May not the logical explanation be that some are allowing man's true being as Love's reflection to find expression through their thinking and living; while others may have their thoughts so filled with a false sense of evil as real that love and goodness are not manifested through their thinking or living?

True courtesy expresses love. And loving consideration expressed to another arouses a kindred response from that one. The writer witnessed an example of this in a crowded streetcar one evening. Two women were standing in the aisle when a seat was vacated. The one who was obviously a worker made no attempt to take the seat, evidently expecting the other to do so. But instead, noting the telltale bag of the domestic servant, the other asked, "Have you been working all day?" To which there was a meek, "Yes, ma'am." "Then you take the seat," was the response. Soon the other was also seated, and when the worker arose to leave the car, she bestowed a most gracious and appreciative smile upon her courteous benefactor.

Is not the test of true culture, which must include courtesy, found in the respect with which one treats others?

All of God's children express equally His infinite love. Hence God loves all, and forever expresses through men His universal goodness and love. All men are in reality the children of God, subject to His love and care. When this is comprehended, one is enabled to look through and beyond the false sense of personality, differences in social standing, education, and race, and to see and love the man of God's creation.

Such a one will always be found manifesting loving thoughtfulness, consideration, and kindliness to all, even in the least of human affairs—in that expression of true culture which is known as courtesy. And need we add that he who includes all in his bestowal of courtesy has glimpsed the love which characterizes the real man, who reflects and expresses God, divine, impartial Love?—The Christian Science Monitor.

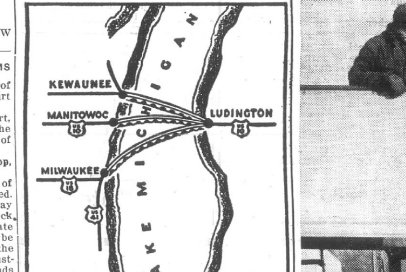
Her Maiden Trip Planned for Feb. 15



Her construction virtually completed, her machinery installed, the new $2,000,000, all-steel City of Midland, world's largest carferry, is scheduled to steam out of Manitowoc, Wis., for her maiden crossing of Lake Michigan, on February 15, loaded with a full cargo. Painters have just finished her rakish stack bearing the large red-ball insignia of the Pere Marquette fleet. Workmen (lower right) are grinding welds on the ship's bridge. Map shows the three trans-lake routes of the year-'round carferry service connecting Ludington, Mich., with Wisconsin ports.

Master shipbuilders and craftsmen, working in day and night shifts, are busy putting finishing touches to the interior construction and decoration of the $2,000,000, streamlined City of Midland which is scheduled to start active carferry service across Lake Michigan next month.

February 15 has been fixed tentatively as the date for the maiden trip which will inaugurate her all-year-'round operation as flagship of the Pere Marquette fleet in the trans-lake transportation of passengers, automobiles and loaded freight cars.

Prior to this maiden crossing, the City of Midland, which has a guaranteed service speed of 18 miles an hour, will be put through her paces in a trial run along the Wisconsin side of the lake. Aboard for this "sea trial" will be representatives of the Manitowoc Shipbuilding Company, her builders, executives of the mechanical and operating departments of the Pere Marquette Railway Company, and officials of the U. S. Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation.

The ship will be thoroughly tested for maneuverability, for precision of navigation instruments, for efficiency of all other equipment, and for satisfactory operation generally. Shipshape, resplendent in her finish and appointments, and with her public spaces luxuriously furnished in the modern manner, this largest, fastest, and most modern carferry ever built will then be ready for service.

Looks Like Ocean Liner

At her berth, adjacent to the shipyard, this all-steel carferry has now every outward appearance of a completed ship. Viewed from the river bank opposite her moorings, her rakish stack, displaying the huge red-ball insignia of the Pere Marquette fleet, and the superstructure atop the huge but graceful hull, seem to dominate the Manitowoc skyline. The flowing white band encircling her black hull accentuates her streamlined design and gives her more the appearance of a fast, modern liner of the trans-Atlantic lanes than that of a Great Lakes carrier.

Few signs of activity are visible on her decks; but, deep in her insides, there is a hubbub of activity as scores of workmen go about allotted tasks having to do, mainly, with precision adjustments to machinery, and with decorating and furnishing the ship's 74 staterooms, including 12 master suites, and her various public spaces. These public spaces include the main dining salon, forward on the main deck, accommodating 60 persons at a sitting; the two glass-enclosed smoking rooms, the main lounge, and the glass-enclosed after lounge for observation. The de luxe interior decoration of the ship is being handled by a Chicago firm of decorators.

Installed and ready for "sea trial" are the four huge, water-tube boilers, fired by automatic stokers, and the two propelling engines of the cross-compound-valve type—largest of their kind ever built.

Full Cargo for Maiden Trip

The City of Midland will steam out of Manitowoc on her 62-mile maiden trip from that port with her 4-tracked main deck loaded to capacity with railroad cars transporting the product of one of Wisconsin's dairy industries. The White House Milk Company, subsidiary of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, arranged for this capacity shipment which is to move, via Ludington, over the Pere Marquette Railway and connections, to destinations east and south of Michigan. This shipment, which consists of evaporated milk manufactured at Manitowoc, is a manifestation of the interest of Wisconsin shippers in the newest fleet unit of the Pere Marquette and her anticipated contribution to the trans-lake carferry service over the Ludington-Manitowoc route.

This route, along with routes to Milwaukee and Kewaunee, has been developed by the Pere Marquette as an important "bridge-line" for rail-road traffic to and from the Northwest and points east and south of Lake Michigan. The car-steel carferries plying these routes, in 1939, carried 100,738 freight cars, 18,724 automobiles and 60,536 passengers. Business is being handled over these routes in gradually increasing volume. Because they afford a by-pass of Chicago, busiest of rail terminals, these routes will have an even larger transportation significance in the event of a substantial traffic upsurge from the activities of a nation's defense. The Ludington-Manitowoc route furnishes a straight-line, trans-lake link in U. S. Highway 10, which saves motorists the long detour around the southern tip of Lake Michigan.

Less ceremonious than her christening, which was witnessed by more than 20,000 persons at Manitowoc, on September 18, will be the induction of the City of Midland into regular carferry service. A cross-section of Manitowoc's population will be on hand to see her off. The Manitowoc Marine Band, which sounded Hosannahs at her christening, will say "bon voyage" with music as the ship churns her course toward Michigan for her first time. Ship builders, business men of Wisconsin, and executives of the C. and O. and Pere Marquette will be among the passengers on this initial voyage across the lake.

Welcome at Ludington

Paralleling Manitowoc's "send-off" at departure will be the welcome that will be accorded to the City of Midland on her arrival at Ludington. She is being awaited there with unusual interest because of the descriptions of her luxuries and her equipment that have preceded her. On hand to greet her will be Ludington civic officials, local residents, and persons from nearby localities.

Opportunity will be afforded at Manitowoc, before departure, and at Ludington, after arrival, for public inspection of the new carferry, which has an overall length of 409 feet and a displacement of 8,200 tons.

CIVIL SERVICE

Competitive examinations have been ordered to fill the jobs of 2,785 state employees who have had no previous civil service status. And, furthermore, the commission has indicated that politics is to have no consideration in its merit ratings; Republicans or Democrats will retain equal privileges of opportunity.

Civil service advocates believe that the merit plan will increase governmental efficiency and lower payroll costs. Former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck went on record favoring a "living wage" to state workers in the lower pay bracket, indicating that stabilization of pay may make beginning jobs of government more attractive financially for career employees.

Civil service, once the butt of legislative jokes, has regained much of its lost dignity and respect at Lansing. This has been due, in no small degree, to the public-acclaimed calibre of the commission personnel headed by George J. Burke, Ann Arbor.

In other respects, however, signs were in evidence that bipartisan control would "by-party" —whether Republican or Democrat. Pick your own interpretation.

1. The house committee on agriculture released a bill whereby the commissioner of agriculture would be appointed by the state board of agriculture. It was expected to shelve a bill proposed by Rep. Edward J. Walsh, Detroit, Democratic floor leader, for appointment of a five-member agricultural commission on a staggered term basis.

2. Reporting out of Senate committee of a bill by Sen. D. Hale Brake, Stanton, providing for nomination and election of the state highway commissioner on a partisan basis. This was to clarify the 1939 amendment making judicial elections non-partisan, and is aimed at the anticipated candidacy of G. Donald Kennedy for state highway commissioner.

3. Ruling by Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton that the senate may confirm legally the Republican appointment of former Gov. Dickinson instead of the appointees of Gov. Van Wagoner. Eleven days before he left office Mr. Dickinson sent the names of 58 Republican appointments to Fred I. Chase, secretary of the Senate. On Jan. 1, inaugural day, Gov. Van Wagoner furnished a rival list of 44 names.

The Rushton ruling is expected to provide the Republican leadership with something tangible for trading purposes. It may result in a division of offices between the two parties, according to bargaining agreement.

Following up the appeal by William Knudsen, arms production chief, for an immediate survey of all industrial resources, Gov. Van Wagoner ordered the state planning commission to conduct such a survey in Michigan.

Greater flexibility is the need of the hour for decentralizing arms production, the governor pointed out in an interview at Washington. This would enable small industries to accept subcontracts for arms production, and would follow the success of British industry in parceling out smaller jobs to small companies.

Another project which has been given the governor's blessing is the Roosevelt-endorsed program to open the Great Lakes to ocean shipping.

At a time when sea-board shipyards are years behind in construction of war ships and commercial vessels, the Great Lakes ports may provide needed facilities.

John C. Beukema of Muskegon, chairman of the executive committee, National Seaway Council, points out: "No sound program for national and continental defense can be devised that does not include the St. Lawrence navigation and power project. The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system is a potential northern Baltic. Remove the obstructions along 68 miles of river and you open 2,500 miles of waterway, stretching as far as Duluth and Chicago, to ocean traffic.

"Within this landlocked security the merchant marine we and Britain so badly need can be built."

John L. Carey, mayor, Dearborn, also echoed the above belief that "this seaway would provide a means of building all of the necessary maritime shipping needs through the ability of our Great Lakes shipyards to build and deliver ships to salt water."

Providing the Middle-West with a seacost equal to that of Florida, the waterway would open ocean shipping to more than 85 inland communities with backyards extending into 17 states.

As would be expected, the railroads do not favor the waterways. Robert V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, has branded it as "unsound economically and dangerous politically." Eastern and southern interests are also cool to the idea.

LITTLE IS DONE BY LEGISLATURE

FIRST MONTH OF SESSION PROVES ONLY PRELIMINARY TO "MAIN BOUT"

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing, Feb. 6—One month of the 1941 legislative session has faded. The time is again at hand when followers of democracy droop in pessimism and pronounce with sadness that the two-chamber system of reflecting the people's will is hopelessly inefficient and utterly unproductive.

True, little has been outwardly accomplished.

A host of bills have been introduced, few of them possessing major interest to the state.

While perennial talk has been heard that the lawmakers would get down to business and make this a short session, old-timers merely smile at such rashness and predict that the ides of May or June will roll around before adjournment is possible.

The first month, like all others in recent years, has afforded the preliminary bout to the main fight. Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and the Republican legislature have engaged in some nimble sparring to test each other's powers.

For years prior to the New Deal, the Republican party held title to the farm vote. Democrats fared best in metropolitan areas.

The Roosevelt landslide of 1936 brought Frank Murphy and a Democratic legislature to Lansing, but the 1937 legislative session did little to cultivate the agrarian. Problems of labor dominated the scene. The 1939 legislature, led by a Republican administration, reflected interests of numerous members who came from rural and small town areas, and the pendulum swung back towards home rule in letting local government take the initiative in solving its own problems. Many farm laws were enacted.

Governor Van Wagoner, undaunted by the traditional hold which the Republicans have retained on the upstate farm vote, is contesting that control by insistence that the 1941 legislature, even though it be under G.O.P. leadership, take the state department of agriculture out of politics by creating a non-partisan commission.

Here is an issue, the governor believes, that merits farm support. It is just good business to provide for a continuity of effort and to stop the needless turnover of department heads every time a fickle bloc of independent voters in Michigan swings over to the other side and elects a new governor. Such has happened five

INDIANS READY FOR MORENCI HI

DEFEAT HUDSON SECOND TIME THIS SEASON BY SCORE OF 33 TO 18

By Bob Larsen

Tecumseh high school's cage Warriors won their seventh victory out of eight games played by defeating Hudson high, on Hudson's floor, last Friday evening, by a score of 33 to 18. Previously, on December 6, the Indians defeated Hudson, 23 to 10.

The Warriors will meet Morenci on the local court tomorrow evening, and dopesters give them a slight edge over the visitors. The Indians nosed out Morenci, in the Adrian college floor last December 19, by a score of 28 to 26, Tecumseh winning during the final minutes of play when both teams were putting forth capacity effort. If the Indians win their game tomorrow evening, and succeed in defeating Blissfield, a little later in the season, they will be tied for league honors. At the present time Blissfield is leading with eight wins, and the Indians are second with seven wins.

The Tecumseh team had a hard time getting started last Friday evening, but in the second half they were clicking in their regular style. The score at the end of the first quarter was even up at four. In the second quarter Hudson led Tecumseh for a short time but the Warriors soon made up this difference and forged into the lead which they held for the rest of the game.

The battle was of typical fire engine style, with neither team displaying their real colors and no real stars on either side.

Mohr, Wilson, Carlson, Lenardson, and Wheeler starred for Tecumseh with Des Ermia substituted during the game. Green was high point man with 14 points to his credit. Wilson followed with 10, Carlson six, Lenardson two, Des Ermia one, and Mohr nothing.

Again the Raizk defense paid huge dividends with Hudson shooting only nine times from any reasonable distance while they took 40 shots from far away. They averaged less than one out of six. This defense can be worked to as good advantage on Blissfield when they come here next February 21, the Indians still have a good chance for the championship.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR GENEVIEVE HALLADAY

Funeral services for Miss Genevieve Halladay, whose death occurred Monday in Lansing, were held Thursday afternoon at the Belding Funeral Home. Rev. A. C. Brazee officiated and bearers were Dr. Arthur H. Brown, D. F. Wright, Carl Chamberlain, and Ralph, Floyd and Ora Halladay. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Among those from away who attended the service were Harold Halladay of San Francisco, Cal., Mrs. George Smedley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fuller, Miss Mae Hale and Miss Hattian Bruce of Lansing, Mrs. Wayne Carpenter and daughter Gail of Rochester and others from Manchester, Adrian and Clinton.

K. OF P. MEETING

A district meeting of Knights of Pythias was held here Tuesday evening with the Tecumseh Knights as hosts. A large group attended from Dundee, Adrian, Tipton, Waldron and Hudson.

Homer Harkness of Adrian showed several reels of movies in color taken last summer in the Lake of the Woods district in Canada. Gar Brandt of Dundee presented a baseball skit, and Warren Wright and Gerald Simmons of Adrian put on a boxing match for their entertainment. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

The March meeting will be held in Waldron.

ROTARY SEES MOVIES

Motion pictures, depicting the growth of the motor car from its infancy, were shown at the program following the regular noonday luncheon meeting of the Rotary club, on Tuesday at the Boston Lunch. The program was in charge of Louis Schneider, and the pictures were shown by 'Bud' Gray of Blissfield. Several Rotarians will go to Royal Oak tonight for a district meeting of the clubs in the Detroit area, Tecumseh members will make the journey by motorbus.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

S. E. Lawrence of Britton was injured Tuesday evening when his automobile left the road south of Blissfield and struck a tree. Mr. Lawrence who was alone, suffered serious cuts on his head and a possible fracture of one hand. He was taken to Bixby hospital, Adrian. The car was badly damaged.

TO MEET FEB. 19

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society will meet Wednesday, February 19, at the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman on South Oneida street. Mrs. C. A. Slayton will conduct devotionals and Mrs. Harold Wilson is program leader.

26 Men Are Examined For February Draft Call

Twenty-six more county registrants were examined by the county medical board this week in preparation for the February draft call. Examinations are now being made every Tuesday instead of two days each week.

Lenawee's quota for February is 71 men, and the call is expected late this month. Nearly 1500 questionnaires have been mailed to date and registrants are being classified in preparation for the March and April calls.

Two From Tecumseh Ask For Citizenship

Jens Touborg and Nagy Kolman of Tecumseh are among 11 Lenawee county aliens to be given hearings for their final United States citizenship papers, February 13, in the circuit court at Adrian. Mr. Touborg is a native of Denmark and Mr. Kolman of Hungary.

Others to appear for hearing and the countries represented are Stanislaw Adamczyk of Britton (Poland), Marie Yurnikl of Blissfield (Czechoslovakia), Ernest Tiede of Britton (Germany), Margarethe Hahn of Blissfield (Germany), Sultan Bek Shakmanoff of Adrian (Russia), Juan Gonzalez of Clinton (Spain), Karl Walter of Adrian (Yugoslavia), Marie Dvorsky of Riga (Czechoslovakia), and Marie Hatfield of Adrian (Canada).

BOY SCOUT WEEK FEBRUARY 7-13

STRENGTHENING OF DEMOCRACY IS NEED IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

During Boy Scout Week 1941, February 7 to 13, the Boy Scouts of America is reminding Americans that "the paramount need in national defense is the strengthening and invigorating of democracy in the United States." This the organization proposes to do through its normal programs of activity and education.

Boy Scouts in this country following a non-military policy are engaged in a program of "learning by doing." Boys in every city are learning how to do the simple, necessary things of life from tying a knot that will hold to cooking a meal in the open. Their program is an active one, stressing outdoor life and the ability to think under emergency conditions.

This is not unfamiliar to the people of America. The Boy Scouts of this country have an enviable record in service which older people many times cannot match. Each year brings its quota of news stories, telling how some youngster who learned the rudiments of first aid from his Scoutmaster has saved the life a human being in some crisis. Drownings annually are lessened by the prompt actions of these boys in the khaki uniform. The 1938 New England hurricane disaster, bears witness to the prompt and valuable service of these boys. Carrying messages, taking care of refugees, and many times actually saving lives in dramatic episodes, these Scouts have shown themselves to be fine examples of all the best that America can create for the future.

The efforts upon the part of the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America to strengthen America by giving the boys of the country the ability to act quickly and effectively in times of emergency deserve the support of every person who believes in the value of democracy.

The Boy Scouts of America believe that the way to fight those forces which would attack our democracy is to be democratic. And to that end over three quarters and thirty thousand Americans are giving voluntary service to the million and a half members of the Scout group.

An example of the way in which Scouts are keeping clear and open minds under present conditions, is the welcoming of Scouts from foreign countries to affiliation with Troops in the Boy Scouts of America. American Scouts are mixing with foreign refugees, giving them the spirit of the American Way, and taking in return a true knowledge of conditions overseas. Scout Leaders are sparing no efforts to prepare American youth with the knowledge and skills which will make them valuable in times of emergency.

Former Resident Tells Of Border Patrol Duty

Francis Langthorne, formerly of Tecumseh, now a border patrol officer, residing at Mohall, N. Dakota, writes a very interesting letter from El Paso, Texas, where he is stationed for a short time, taking special instructions in regard to his position.

He describes the country as barren and devoid of vegetation except for a few types of cactus. His first impression he describes as an "eternal expanse of wild and desolate mountains with endless desert between." This is only about five miles from the New Mexico line.

Mr. Langthorne's classes in Spanish and law he describes as "exceedingly intensive and tough." Classes begin at 7:45 a. m. and continue until 6 p. m., with one hour at noon for lunch, and a three hour session on the patrol revolver range every other day.

DEFENSE COURSE MAY BE OFFERED

SCHOOL SEEKS EQUIPMENT TO MAKE COURSE IN WELDING AVAILABLE

George Parsons, a member of the Tecumseh high school faculty, is in Lansing today representing W. L. Berkhof, superintendent, at a meeting with state officials in an effort to secure sufficient equipment locally to make available a night school course here in electric welding. If local school authorities are given state permission, Mr. Berkhof said, such a course will be made immediately available in connection with the national defense training program.

"There is considerable interest locally," Mr. Berkhof declared, "in night school courses in connection with the defense training program. Already more than 25 young men between the ages of 17 and 25 years have contacted us regarding special work, and it appears that a majority of them are interested in an electrical welding course.

"This is one of the heaviest courses offered in the program, and it requires 20 clock hours of work weekly, meaning that classes would have to meet each night, possibly between six and 11 o'clock. Ten weeks of study and work is required, in all some 200 hours. We will be very happy to offer the course provided, of course, we are able to secure the equipment necessary, and it is to this end that Mr. Parsons is in Lansing today. In the event we get state approval, we can secure the tools and make the course available within a week or 10 days."

There also is considerable interest in airplane metal work, the superintendent said, and it is possible that a second class may be organized. Mr. Berkhof urged that all other boys who are interested in the courses, or in other courses, contact him at once, that plans for teaching may be arranged. He pointed out that there is no tuition charge, the entire expense being borne by the state.

Already a class has been formed in Britton under the defense training act and is functioning. Mr. Berkhof is of the opinion that one or two or more more courses may be available locally.

AN ENCOURAGING NOTE

Striking an encouraging note in the world unrest today has been the extended work of the Boy Scouts of America, the world's largest youth organization. The men and boys registered in this federally-chartered group have pledged themselves to follow a program of strengthening and invigorating democracy in the United States. A nine-point program stressing self-reliance and ability to react in times of emergency has been undertaken by more than a million and a half members of the Boy Scout Movement.

These twelve to sixteen year old boys, under the leadership of vounteer adult workers, are "learning by doing," Faced with practical situations demanding instantaneous and intelligent reactions these boys are receiving valuable training for emergency crises. In this preparation to act the Boy Scouts have pledged themselves to be "united with all lovers of freedom, whatever their tongue or origin. To keep our nation strong in valor and confident in freedom, so that the government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

To this end the 47,000 Scout units throughout the country have made a roll call of their entire membership to isolate weak spots in local organization. Troops have taken stock of themselves in order that they might organize emergency service corps in local communities, prepared to act when danger of any kind threatens.

These efforts hearten sincere and worried Americans who view the future with fear for this country's inherent rights and values. They are in keeping with the long service record of the Boy Scouts of America.

Floods, storms and fires have seen these khaki-clad youths in immediate action. New England and Florida still recovering from the hurricanes and floods of 1938 remember the Boy Scout work with appreciation. Older folks can remember them at work in war times. During World War, over 400,000,000 dollars worth of Liberty Loan subscriptions were sold by Boy Scouts. Forty-three million dollars worth of War Savings Stamps were distributed by these youngsters. Scouts under direction of national leaders located over 5,200 carloads of standing walnut trees for defense authorities. Herbert Hoover, food administrator for the United States, complimented Scouts upon their efficient cultivation of war gardens and farms. These teenage boys, directly aiding the government, delivered over thirty million pieces of literature.

American democracy is in the spotlight today. While the youth of the United States is being trained in a non-military fashion, not only to meet the exigencies of a war-time emergency, but also to meet the complexities of a peace-time existence, worried Americans may well relax their fears for the future.

Now You Won't Have to Build a New Garage

Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line now give you Big-Car Pleasure in More Compact Size!

*Buick SPECIAL 4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021. White sidewall tires extra

IN search for impressive size, cars have been getting longer every year.

Bumper has retreated from bumper until there's hardly room left in the family garage for the lawn mower and the good wife's gardening basket.

Does that mean you'll have to build a new garage to enjoy a big car's glories? Not now!

For there are four new Buicks on the market—additions to our 1941 SPECIAL series—that let you indulge your big-car tastes in spite of 1929-car-size garages.

They are big cars in ability—with a 115-horsepower Buick FIREBALL engine that can be stepped up to 125 "horse" by the addition of Compound Carburetion.*

They are big cars in their room—with plenty of leg-, elbow- and head-room in their spacious interiors.

But—they fit your garage, handle like baby carriages, park on small change—all because we have trimmed down their bumper-to-bumper length!

So if you've been itching for a big car—but wondering where you'd find room for it—better hop right over to see these beauties now. You'll call them the season's biggest news!

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the BUSINESS COUPE

*delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

*Optional on the Buick SPECIAL; standard on all other series.

CASE IS SETTLED

The suit of Stanley B. Wells of Dundee against the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, on trial in the circuit court at Adrian, ended yesterday morning when an out-of-court settlement was effected.

The suit, which had been in the courts for a number of years, involved the transfer of building and loan certificates by the bank, which the plaintiff claimed was illegal. He declared that he turned over to the bank certificates of $1,560 par value, which the bank agreed to apply on a federal land bank loan at $1,275. Instead, Wells claimed, the bank appropriated the stock and applied it on Wells' debt at the bank. In 1937 a circuit court jury returned a verdict in favor of Wells but it was set aside by Judge G. Arthur Rathbun who decided for the bank. Later, the Michigan Supreme Court upheld Judge Rathbun. Last year this case came to trial and resulted in a mistrial when Wells was seen talking to members of the jury.

Take It Easy

In a quiet country town a commercial traveler entered the general store. Going through to the parlor at the back, he came upon the proprietor and a friend engaged in a game of checkers.

"Mr. Jones," he said, "there are two customers in the shop."

Jones did not raise his eyes from the board. He merely nodded and whispered: "That's all right. Keep quiet and they'll go away again."

LITTLE IS DONE

times in the past ten years with clock-like regularity.

The new civil service amendment, jelling thousands of state employees with protected rights, was an almost cataclysmic blow to politicians. Patronage pap has sweetened many a campaign follower. It has also plagued state officials to the point where they were devoting most of their time to appeasing job-seekers and organization sponsors.

The civil service barrier to patronage was bad enough in the politician's mind, but then to go out deliberately and take away a tree full of choice sweet plums was something that called for a party caucus. The non-partisan commission for the department of agriculture has provoked a storm of discussion to the point that tempers are already ragged and hot words are being aired.

Here is the situation:

A bill to create a non-partisan commission for the agriculture department was introduced by Rep. Walsh, democratic floor leader in the House, as an administration measure.

Republicans countered promptly by pushing a bill introduced by Rep. Maurice E. Post to reorganize the state department by investing the state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College, with power to appoint the state commissioner of agriculture. Furthermore, Republicans are inclined to a conviction that if non-partisan control is good for the agricultural department, why is it not good for the highway department too?

(Administration answer: Has Michigan suffered from the elective system of highway commissioner. Since 1913 the state has had only three commissioners—Frank F. Rogers 1913-1929, Grover C. Dillman 1929-1933, and Murray D. Van Wagoner 1933-1941. G. Donald Kennedy is filling the latter's unexpired term.)

When Governor Van Wagoner issued a public statement calling on farm groups to support his stand, Republican legislators flung the retort "playing politics" and declared that the governor was trying to crawl out of a bad political hole.

So the feud has been raging.

The 30-day notice of strike, which the state mediation board requires where national defense contracts are involved, may receive support of the governor's office. The growing gravity of the British situation and the resultant need for speed in American defense are given as reasons.

State aid for advertising Michigan's tourist industry would be doubled from $100,000 to $200,000 a year by the Bishop bill which was passed by the Senate with only two negative votes.

A bill to empower the state land office board to construct state-owned homes for welfare clients in metropolitan areas will be introduced soon at the request of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown. This experiment in low cost state housing was advocated recently by Mr. Brown. Radical as it sounds, the plan follows the successful experience of socialistic Sweden and Norway and it illustrates how far our thinking has gone in the past decade.

The University of Michigan is receiving $446,000 less per year in state funds than in 1933 when there were 3,304 fewer students. Additional money is imperatively needed, according to President A. G. Ruthven.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

NINETY - FIRST YEAR— NUMBER TWENTY. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1941. FIVE CENTS PER COPY.

TWO NEW WELLS SUPPLY VILLAGE

$10,000 EXPENDITURE MORE THAN DOUBLES SUPPLY FOR LOCAL RESIDENTS

Two new village wells, located on Patterson street, today are furnishing Tecumseh with water supply—an amount nearly double that formerly available from the wells located in the eastern section of the village which have been pumped continuously for nearly two years. The so-called "east wells" have been shut down for much needed repairs, it was said, and in the future will be kept in reserve for any emergency.

The two new wells, each equipped with 600-gallon pumps, electrically operated, are housed in a new well house on the village property. They are near a well that was built by the village in 1930, and which was condemned by the state many months ago, because it was of the open type. The state, however, did permit its use in the event of necessity, but required that the village use chlorine in the water.

The maximum supply from the "east wells," it was said, amounted to about 600 gallons a minute. The new wells are equipped to supply 1,000 gallons a minute, and each are capable, with larger equipment, of furnishing the 1,000 capacity. A gasoline motor has been installed in the pump house, and can be used in the event of a break down in electrical energy.

The drilling of the two new wells, the installation of pumps and the electrical equipment, including pressure indicators, etc., the erection of the well house and the laying of new larger mains from the wells has cost the village in excess of $10,000, according to J. Floyd Elliott, chairman of the water committee. Mr. Elliott pointed out that there has been a steady growing demand for water here, due to the village's growth, and declared that with the present equipment the town is able to meet this need without cause for worry.

Records show that Tecumseh uses approximately 350,000 gallons of water daily, an amount about 100,000 gallons greater than a few years ago. This amount is so is heavier on some days, the maximum demand being in the neighborhood of 400,000 gallons in 24 hours.

English Professor Will Speak To Rotary-Anns

Norman Hidden, professor of English history at Adrian College, will be the speaker at the annual Ladies Night Banquet, to be given by the Tecumseh Rotary Club on Tuesday evening, February 18, in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church. INDIANS ON WAY TO CHAMPIONSHIP

WIN TWO MORE GAMES IN PAST SEVEN DAYS; BLISSFIELD IS TIED

By Bob Larsen

Tecumseh high school cagers chalked up two more victories in the past seven days, defeating Morenci here last Friday night and Onsted on the local court, Tuesday evening. The Indians have won nine out of ten games played, and four more remain on the schedule. They meet Clinton there, tomorrow evening, Blissfield here on February 21, Manchester there on February 28, and the Manchester game, postponed on January 17, will be played here on February 18.

The Warriors dropped their only game to Blissfield, there, during the early part of the season, and if they are successful in defeating the Sugar Boys when they come here on the 21st, they will be tied for the championship. This is assuming, of course, that the two teams are successful in in-between games. Tecumseh defeated Clinton last January 7 by a score of 37 to 9, which makes it hard to give Clinton even an outside chance when they meet the Indians tomorrow.

In the games during the past week, the Indians defeated Morenci, 19 to 15, and Onsted 23 to 10.

The Morenci game was a close battle all the way with both teams working to the limit to get the win. In the last minute and a half the score was 14-15 in favor of Tecumseh. Wilson took an almost impossible shot from center floor and put it in the hoop without even touching the rim. This put the game on ice for the Warriors. Carlson added a basket while Morenci made one point on a free throw.

In the Onsted game, while Tecumseh was sure of victory after the first quarter, the first few minutes put everybody on edge. The Onsted defense was holding the boys back almost to center court while Onsted was come through Tecumseh like water through a sieve. Lenardson, Carlson and Green all seemed to have butter or grease on their fingers and Onsted held the ball during all the first few minutes of play. Late in the first quarter the Warriors started clicking and the quarter closed 12-5 in favor of Tecumseh. Onsted, a team with work on defense, failed to come through with a terrific battle all the way and shot one more time than Tecumseh (45-44), but they just weren't rollin' 'em in.

Wilson's long shots were clicking in the first half and he made three from center court.

Wilson, Mohr, Carlson, Lenardson and Green started against Onsted and Des Ermia, Spillman and Laidlaw were substituted during the game.

The reserves have been playing an excellent brand of ball this year and have managed to win all games played. They have played one less than the Varsity as the Varsity game against Morenci on the Adrian College floor was a preliminary to the college game and there was no time for the reserves to play. These boys will be the varsity of 1943 and for two years after that as most of them are freshmen. Some of them will be varsity next season as the varsity loses two men, Des Ermia and Lenardson by graduation.

Mr. Berkhof was in Lansing yesterday advising with the officials in charge of the work, and hopes within a short time to gain approval of the program.

The superintendent was instructed to act in this matter at a regular meeting of the board, Tuesday evening, at which time the bid of a Jackson contractor for the leveling, grading and laying of tile at the newly acquired athletic field, near the high school, was accepted. A contract between the Jackson man and the board will be entered into within a few days and it is expected that work will be started during the latter part of the month.

BISHOP SPEAKS AT M. E. CHURCH

100 PERSONS ATTEND PATRIOTIC DINNER AT METHODIST CHURCH

Nearly 100 people from Tecumseh and neighboring communities attended the Patriotic Banquet at the Methodist church, Tuesday night, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service with Mrs. E. F. Hildebrand as general chairman.

A short, but interesting program of local talent was presented before the main address, the musical part of which was two numbers "Ashamed of Jesus" and "Kentucky Babe" by a male quartet composed of Aden Mead, George Parsons, Edward Beal and Andrew Taylor. The second part was a very inspiring reading and interpretation of Edwin Markham's poem "Lincoln, the Man of the People," by Mrs. Louis Carlson.

Dr. T. Rentschler, chairman of the evening, introduce Rev. E. F. Hildebrand, who in turn presented Bishop Raymond J. Wade of the Detroit area of the Methodist church, whose extensive work in the Scandinavian countries and on the European continent qualified him as an interesting and able speaker on the subject of "Patriotism in the United States of America."

The introduction to his speech was given over mostly to the customs of European countries. Later he developed his theme through comparison of attitudes here and abroad and then by constructive criticism pointed out ways wherein we have failed to appreciate our privileges. Time did not permit him to tell something of the lives of the great and sincere leaders of foreign countries, many of whom he has known personally.

Rev. Janis Laupmanis then told in an interesting manner about the status of his little country of Latvia which is now under Russian rule. He had been a minister in Bishop Wade's conference abroad and now is in this country working and studying under the Bishop's guidance.

The program closed with the assembly singing "God Bless America."

Ford Team Undefeated In Local Cage League

With two-thirds of the season past, the Ford team is still undefeated with six victories, in the Tecumseh Basketball League. The Office team is on their heels with only one loss and two wins to their credit. The Philco team is playing even in the won and lost column. Philco has a good team, however, and has been nosed out in the games they have lost.

Monday, the Office played a double-header and won both games 20 to 23, and the Business Men, 20 to 14. Shuttleworth had 12 points to star against Philco while Maynard and Linger had 10 each for the losers. Accuracy at the foul line won this game.

The Hermetic Assembly upset the Business Men in the first of their double defeats 15 to 14. This was a thriller. Fords played their usual speedy, but steady, game to outlast the inspectors in an interesting contest. Hall won the scoring honors with 11 points.

Standings:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Fords	6	0	1.000
T. P. Office	5	1	.833
T. P. Philco	3	3	.500
T. P. Inspection	2	4	.333

NOT FORGETTING DEPRESSIONS ...

This country of ours lived through ten years of depression recently, during which as individuals and groups most of us went through experiences which we would not care to repeat again. Naturally, too, we had our bad moments. Therefore, if we are wie, the fact that today our national income and employment are both at high levels should not lead us to forget, entirely about depressions.

It is encouraging to note that industry, at least, realizes this truth. Through the Committee on the Study of Depressions of the National Association of Manufacturers, it has been conducting a long-term study of this "depressing" but all-important subject. Just the other day, this Committee published an interim report in which it discussed impartially and factually the kind of sound economic policies which seemed most likely to alleviate or prevent future depressions.

The suggestions made covered a number of fields—governmental activities, the fiscal situation, employments relations, and many others. There were no panaceas among them, but there were the first parts in a pattern of national behavior that might go a long way towards keeping our economy on an even keel.

Industry deserves a few plaudits, in these rocky and chaotic times, for keeping the nation's long-term future so clearly in sight. It is indeed good news that this Committee on Depressions will continue to study its subject in the months immediately ahead.

OLD BUSINESS LAW STILL ADHERED TO BY A & P COMPANY

Business principles laid down 81 years ago—and adhered to closely ever since—assume new importance as a defense measure this week, R. C. Tritten, sales manager in this area for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, declared today.

Those principles, established George Huntington Hartford when he opened the first red-fronted A & P store in 1859, today serve as an effective brake against spiraling food prices such as took place during the last World War, Mr. Tritten said, and make the company's celebration of Founder's Week in Mr. Hartford's honor of particular importance this year.

"The growth of America's mass distribution system, although pioneered by Mr. Hartford through A & P has largely taken place since the last great war and today stands as an excellent form of insurance against exorbitant food costs due to speculation or inefficiencies in distribution," he pointed out.

The A &P system was founded on tea, Mr. Trittin said, explaining that Mr. Hartford reduced retail prices from a dollar a pound to about 30 cents by making his purchases direct and eliminating many in-between handling charges and unnecessary profits. By applying these same principles of direct buying and quick turn-over of large volume at small profit, he was able to add other commodities to his stock and later to expand the system through new stores.

Savings thus achieved are bulwarked by strict adherence to the company's policy against speculative buying of any kind, as well as its policy against pricing sales above its normal, nominal profit, he declared.

"As defense costs mount, everything possible must be done to assure the American public of the greatest amount of healthful foods at the most reasonable prices possible. In celebrating Founder's Week, we of the A & P are doubly pleased to reaffirm Mr. Hartford's original principles which have made material contributions to the the high American standard of living through narrowing the spread between retail prices and returns to producers." he said.

Grandma Cooked With Corncobs

It took half an hour every morning to get the old kitchen range going . . and Gran'ma had to watch the pesky thing all day long. Today, gas and electric ranges have made the old stove a museum piece.

Home laundering is antiquated, too. It may have been necessary once—but today, with the modern laundry offering services so far superior to the best work a home laundress could possibly produce, spending hours at back-breaking labor is downright foolish. There's a service to fill every need.

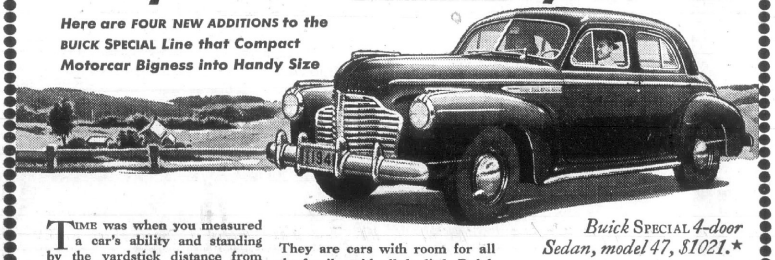
We've put one over on the yardsticks
Here are FOUR NEW ADDITIONS to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size


Buick SPECIAL 4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021.*
TIME was when you measured a car's ability and standing by the yardstick distance from bumper to bumper.
But not any more — not since Buick made ready the four new additions to its 1941 SPECIAL series that are built for big-car travel tastes — and small-car garages!
They are cars to take the measure of almost anything on the road in the lift and life of their 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL engines.*
They are cars with room for all the family, with all the little Buick luxury touches, with the unrivaled comfort of Buick's all-coil springing and steady-going roadability.
But bumper to bumper they are shorter — so they fit your garage.
Their wheelbase is 118 inches, so they park like a bicycle and flit through traffic with ridiculous ease.
They go farther on every gallon—farther, even, than other Buicks.
So you can't take their measure with a yardstick.
You've got to measure them by what they do for you—in the easier handling, the bigger thrill, the extra convenience they add — and by prices made lower by their new compactness.
How about seeing them — now?
*Add Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost and horsepower steps up to 125 while gasoline mileage goes even higher.
BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe
*delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

SCHOOL NOTES

Girl Scouts

We have a new place in which to hold our meetings. For a few weeks we are meeting in the Methodist Church instead of at the schoolhouse.

The members of Troop II are working on requirements for their tenderfoot and second class tests.

We have several new members in Troop I. For the next few weeks we are working on badges in connection with the Community Life program field. The first badge which we are working for is the Junior Citizen badge. In studying for this badge, we learn about various phases of citizenship; for example, patriotic symbols of our country, how one becomes a citizen of the United States, and how we can help our country by sharing in the responsibilities that go with the many privileges which we enjoy as citizens. Also we learn how the Statue of Liberty represents great events in our Nation's history. The aim of this badge is to arouse within us feelings of a great pride in something that is bigger than any one person — an unsurpassed pride in our country, the United States of America.

Freshman Class Notes

In their last class meeting the Freshmen discussed ways to win points towards the Activity Award. They are trying to start their first year in high school right by winning the award.

Plans are being made for a skating party soon. A committee has been appointed to take charge of it.

Arrangements are also being made for the carnival which will be held in the Spring sometime. The Freshmen hope to help make it the best one yet.

Sophomore Notes

Our drive for class dues is to end on March 14.

We are planning to have a roller-skating party at Sand Lake sometime in the near future, inviting students from other schools as well as our own.

Mrs Lipdyke, Teacher

Since we started our Pre-Primer reading, we have become very much interested in books. One day several of our boys started to build a library in our room. It is now nearly finished. We have a desk, several chairs, and two tables in it. Many colorful story-books are being brought to school, and we enjoy hearing them read and looking at them, too.

Robert Barnes celebrated his birthday at school on Friday. His mother brought us refreshments for a lovely party, and we all had a fine time.

The new play house is well on its way. The carpenters have completed the frame-work, and are ready to put on the roofing. We have decided on blue roofing.

One reading class will finish their primers within a week, and will be ready to start Book One.

Richard Whelan, Diane Winfield, and James Hite were present every day the first semester.

Second Grade, West Branch

On the day we read about Grandmother's churn in reading class we made butter, which was served on crackers and ginger snaps.

Howard Adams, a member of last year's class, is now attending school at Jackson. His grades for the first semester were so high that he has been transferred to the opportunity room in the Pearl Street school. Howard's friends will be glad to hear of his success.

In geography we are studying what used to be the French Republic. We have some difficulty in pronouncing the French words.

Our history is very interesting. The new world has been discovered, and the English and French have been colonizing and exploring.

We are learning the eight kinds of speech in English class, and so far we have learned nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and pronouns.

We have a new girl in our room. Her name is Peggy Garris, and she is from Britton. We are glad to have her with us.

Mr Raizk visited us and helped us with our science lesson, which concerns electricity. He explained the three kinds of electricity, the magnet, with its North and South poles, and gave us one or two experiments. Some of our boys are trying to use some of the equipment left for our use.

Health inspectors are Bill Hayden and Dorothy Jean Brandt, and room helpers are Rex Snellenberger and Wilfred Waldron.

Reporters, Martha Hewlett and Wilfred Waldron, Jr.

MEASELS EPIDEMIC

Measles cases reported to the Michigan Department of Health in January totaled 6,378, double the December total.

"The epidemic of measles expected this dinter is under way, and parents should do everything they can to protect babies and very young children against contact with anyone who has the disease," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer. "If the date of exposure is known, a treatment can be given by the physician up to the eighth day after exposure which will prevent or lighten the attack."

The measles cases reported in January this year are twice as many as occurred in the first month of the 1938 epidemic and five times as many a in January of the 1935 epidemic. Both those epidemics reached 80,000 cases, with March, April and May the biggest months.

Nearly every county reported measles in January. The United States army reported eight cases. Detroit reported 2,520 cases, 40 per cent of the month's total.

STATE TROOPERS FIND RADICALS

POTENTIAL SABOTEURS AND SPIES SPOTTED, CATALOGUED, BY OLANDER'S MEN

EAST LANSING, Feb. 13 — Michigan's potential fifth columnists — 9,374 of them — have been spotted and catalogued by the Michigan State Police.

Commissioner Oscar G. Olander declares his list was growing every day. The 9,374 represent the round-up in the first five months by his new division to combat subversive activity.

The files the state trooper organization are building as part of its national defense protective system include not only names and addresses of potential saboteurs but the ways in which each suspect might assist the enemy if war comes—retard the state's preparedness efforts.

The aim is to be a jump ahead of developments and round up foreign agents at the right time, according to Commissioner Olander. He warned that a wave of vigilantism might frighten suspects into moving where state police could not apprehend them instantaneously.

The new state police division has been compiled, Commissioner was organized last August and the personnel now includes 24 district detectives, a detective lieutenant and a sergeant plus one to two men at each post who are also assigned to investigation of subversive activities. This force has been engaged exclusively in defense work that embraced investigation of espionage and sabotage, plant intelligence work, surveys of law enforcement agencies, protection of vital points in the state essential to national defense, and cooperative work in these fields with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Naval and Army Intelligence, United States Bureau of Immigration, Federal communications commission and local draft boards.

Several hundred of Michigan's suspected saboteurs and subverters are known because of patriotic concern of citizens who keep an eye on their neighbors in perilous times. One man in each of the 41 state police posts is assigned to receive complaints relative to suspected subversive activities—and hundreds of these complaints, upon investigation, proved valuable in the round-up.

The report cites completion of arrangements whereby Michigan and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police exchange information on subversive activity and co-operate in anti-espionage work along 650 miles of border and within the respective boundaries of each.

An extensive file of information Olander said. Information is available both in alphabetical order and also by counties. Thus subversive activity in any area can be checked against un-American individuals and groups in that section.

One interesting survey is a compilation of information on resources of law-enforcement agencies, police personnel and physical resources in every part of Michigan, checked against emergency possibilities in the immediate area. The survey list the vital points to be protected in case of emergency — the important utilities, water supplies, bridges, tunnels, etc. Ambulance, hospital and medical facilities are known.

One hundred fifteen amateur radio operators throughout the state with licensed radio stations have been investigated and enlisted for emergency communication service in event of need.

In connection with the 9,374 known disloyalists catalogued in Michigan, Commissioner Olander said there were 186 locations in the state where his men had investigated and had under surveillance the meeting places of subversive groups.

In the five-month period covered by the report, Commissioner Olander declared that there had been 85 investigations of suspected sabotage conducted for and at the request of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In connection with the United States Navy, investigations have been conducted by the state police special squad in the form of an industrial intelligence survey of plants engaged in manufacture of defense materials. This survey includes a check of personnel of aliens, of persons employed who may be disloyal citizens, information on systems of plant protection and similar data. One thousand ninety-five industrial plants have been covered thus far in this survey.

Commissioner Olander declared that all complaints reaching his ment from citizens suspecting disloyal activity are investigated fully and confidentially. "We feel that when a citizen or organization has enough patriotic spirit and civic pride to offer us such information, it is our duty to investigate," he said. "We feel that as long as we can assure the state of Michigan that all of these complaints are being carefully investigated, this in itself is a contributing factor in preventing hysteria and minimizing disloyal activity."

Down in Florida a negro woman applied for relief during the cold spell of last winter. She reported she had four children.

She didn't remember, perhaps even know, the precise ages, but on being pressed for more exact information she told the investigator:

"I got one lap chile, one creeper, one porch chile and one yard goun."

EXACT CAUSE OF FLU IS YET UNDETERMINED

Michigan is fortunate in that the present influenza cases are mostly of a mild type, says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner. According to the United States Public Health Service, influenza is the only remaining epidemic disease attacking great numbers of people, that has not yet been brought under control.

"Several factors are responsible," said Dr. Moyer. "The exact cause for all types of flu has not been determined, the immunity produced by the disease itself is short, and no flu vaccine is yet out of the experimental stage.

The U. S. Public Health Service says that most flu is spread by persons in the early stages of flu, by those not ill enough to be in bed and by those recovering. "Since few, if any, can hope to escape contact, it it not rational to become panicky or to attempt to avoid infection in too elaborate ways," says the Public Health Service.

In an outbreak of influenza, Dr. Moyer said, it is important for a person with a cold to go to bed at the first signs of it and call a physician, especially if there is fever. Probably the peak of the influenza epidemic has been passed in the state, but as often happens in the course of an epidemic, some of the cases are more severe.

CHECK ARTIST

State police issued a warning here and throughout the county today to be on the lookout for a bad check artist who is working in this vicinity. He is described as 55 to 58 years of age, five and a half feet tall, and poses as a state employee offering small checks on the highway, auditor general or conservation departments. He is also known to have passed township or county checks. He generally purchases a small item and asks for the balance in cash. The name of the city, bank, title of person signing, and name of department, etc., is inserted in the check in typewriter. He also uses a check protector. State police warn that all state, county and township checks are printed, not typewritten, and a typewriter is used only to insert the name of the person to whom the check is issued. They ask that police be notified in event the man endeavors to pass such checks locally.

IF "MIND READERS" COULD REALLY SEE AHEAD

If so-called "mind-readers" could actually foretell your entire future, you'd rush to an insurance agency and buy certain types of insurance. Others, you wouldn't consider.

Unfortunately, you've no way of knowing on what types of insurance you'd collect. We haven't either. We do know, however, what types of protection you need most, and our Comprehensive Analysis of your personal and business insurance problems will show you why. We'd like to make it, without obligation on your part.

REGISTRATION NOTICE
For Village Election
MONDAY, MAR. 10TH, 1941

To the Qualified Electors of the Village of Tecumseh (Prect. No. ...), County of Lenawee, State of Michigan

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with Sec. 1, Chap. III, Part II of the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Village Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Village not already registered who may Apply To Me Personally for such registration.

Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the SECOND SATURDAY before any regular, special, or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby further given that I will be at my office in the old Lilley Bank Building on the twentieth day preceding said election as provided by Sec. 2767, Michigan Election Laws, Revision of 1939.

(In any village in which the clerk does not maintain regular daily office hours, the village council of such village may require that the clerk of such village shall be at his office or other designated place for the purpose of receiving applications for registration, or such other days as it shall designate prior to the last ayd ror registration, not exceeding five days in all.)

For General Registration by Personal Application for Said Election

The name of no person but an ACTUAL Resident of the Village at the time of said registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the ensuing election, shall be entered in the registration book.

NOTICE — Absent Voter Must Be Registered

Although Sec. 2774, Laws Relating to Elections, Revision of 1939, still provides that an absent voter may apply for registration at time of applying for ballot, and gives form of Affidavit he should make, Act 63 of P. A. 1939 stipulates that in absent voter's application for ballots he must state that he is a "duly qualified AND REGISTERED elector."

Opinion of the Attorney General is that Acts 66 and 63 "must be construed to repeal the inconsistent provision of Sec. 2774 permitting absentee registration AT THE TIME of making application for an absent voter's ballot."

Thus the Absent Voter's application and affidavit for registration are useful only in cases where voter may mail these in, then make application for ballots later, after registry has been completed.

The portion of application shown herewith enclosed in brackets should be crossed out when applying for registration.

"Good Old Days" In Politics Fast Slipping Into Memories

(Special To The Herald)

STATE CAPITOL, Feb. 13, Lansing—Stalwart partisans who take their politics seriously and who, likewise, believe devoutly in party responsibility, find Michigan's 1941 state government to be downright disturbing.

The "good old days," verily, are slipping fast into memories.

Whether for good or bad, better or worse, we are headed in a new direction, come what may. As every action brings a reaction, as the pendulum swings invariably from one side to another, so Michigan is undergoing a significant change.

And it is all the result of a steady trend in public opinion—how we look at things.

When voters went to the polls last November, they did not act deliberately with cool, calm foresight to create today's bi-partisan rule at Lansing.

They merely voted for their favorites.

Privileges of a democracy made it possible for them to choose simultaneously three Republicans (secretary of state, attorney general, and auditor general), and two Democrats (governor and state treasurer), while maintaining a Republican majority in each branch of the state legislature. And that's scrambling 'em a bit!

And yet the old-fashioned idea of putting one cross in one circle at the top of the ballots has been fading in Michigan for the past decade or so. A decisive bloc of independent voters crossed party lines exactly five times between 1930 and 1940 to elect a new governor at each election. Every two years, as a result of this flexible public opinion, old "rascals" would be turned out at Lansing and new "rascals" would be put in.

At Washington in 1933 a truly political phenomenon occurred.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt began his famous "New Deal" with the aid of Republican Harold Ickes as secretary of the interior and Republican Henry Wallace as secretary of agriculture.

In New York City a dynamic coalition candidate by the name of Fiorella H. La Guardia upset an entrenched Tammany.

Arthur Vandenberg, a man who has never been a politician in the true sense of the word and who has not been actively identified with party organization, became one of our outstanding independent leaders in the United States senate. The primary system, originally conceived as a remedy for boss - plagued conventions, paved the way.

In 1939 the voters of Michigan upheld in referendum a non-partisan judiciary, a reaction against a so-called political judiciary.

In 1940 the same voters stripped the legislature of its patronage powers and instituted a drastic and somewhat revolutionary program of civil service, jobs by merit.

Concurrently, the independent voters in 1940 performed other mental gymnastics just ar remarkable.

They cast a majority for Wendell L. Willkie, who was a lifelong Democrat until recently. They cast a majority also for Murray D. Van Wagoner.

Never in its history had the Republican party broke precedent nationally by crossing party line in its selection of a presidential candidate. The man, not the emblem, proved to be the irresistible magnet.

But this change in political thinking has not been the exclusive virtue (or sin, depending on how you look at it) of any one party. Witness these acts: The late Governor Frank Fitzgerald appointed a study commission for civil service, and his successor, Frank Murphy, signed the legislative act. Governor Murphy then appointed a study commission to recommend reforms in parole and prison management, and when a Democratic legislature provided for a bi-partisan commission, Republicans did not move to revise it.

Today's current dispute over bi-partisan appointment of the state commissioner of agriculture is just another case at point.

An administration measure would take the commissioner out of politics through appointment by a long-term bi-partisan commission. Counter to this Van Wagoner farm reform is a McPherson-sponsored bill for the commissioner's appointment by the state board of agriculture, Michigan State college's elective governing body.

Also being kicked around at Lansing is the idea of letting bi-partisan boards appoint the state highway commissioner and the state superintendent of public instruction.

A 1941 legislative bill would have regents of the University of Michigan elected by non-partisan ballots.

And so the signs multiply.

Michigan's bi-partisan administration appears to be, in part, the culmination of a trend of popular thinking that has disrgarded party labels in an insistent quest for more efficient and responsive government. What will be the voters' reaction to this? That answer is yet to be written.

STUDY $100,000 DISPOSAL PLANT

VILLAGE MUST ACT BEFORE 1948 ON STATE'S STREAM POLLUTION EDICT

Faced with an order from the Michigan Department of Health which prohibits the Village of Tecumseh from polluting the River Raisin and Evans Creek with sewage on and after December 31, 1945, the village council, in special session Monday evening, began the study of the report of a firm of Toledo engineers, incorporating a program of sewer main extensions and the erection of a sewage disposal plant, the cost of which would amount to $95,817.

Although the village was ordered some years ago to cease the pollution of the streams by emptying sewage into them, it was not until a few months ago that the state "cracked down" by forcing the village to take definite steps for the building of a disposal plant before it would permit the extension of sewer mains into Indian Acres, a new subdivision. At the time of the extension, the village agreed to begin an immediate study of the program, and the state fixed December, 1945, as the deadline.

The engineering report sets forth a program covering Tecumseh's needs for the future and also suggests a financing program, both with the aid of Works Progress Administration funds and through bond issues. An estimated cost with WPA aid amounts to about $50,000 to the village.

Members of the council did not comment on the program, except to say that it would be given careful study before any action is taken.

The council named officials for the coming March 10 election as follows: Inspectors, Helen Jones, Florence Howe, Edward Smalledge and A. B. Harding; clerks, Glenn Bowen, Helen Bowen, Pearl Elliott and Donna Elliott; gate keepers, E. J. Haines and Charles Nobles; election commissioners, Clarence Gilmore, Minnie Russell and Jay St. John.

Pre-Lenten Program Is Announced By St. Peter's

The first step in the 1941 Lenten program of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be made next Sunday, February 23. It will take the form of a pre-Lenten purely spiritual Every Member Canvass. This canvass is not connected in any way with money or finance. It has a two-fold spiritual purpose. First of all, it will promote fellowship and goodwill by demonstrating that official parish calls are made at other times than when financial pledges are desired by the church. Seoondly, coming as an introduction to Lent, this canvass quickens the spiritual lives of people by encouraging more faithful church attendance and a more regular daily practice of religion during the solemn penitential season. The teams will make a corporate communion at the 11:15 service next Sunday. Then in the afternoon they will go out and report their calls on every member and adherent of the parish. Sufficient teams have been secured so that the whole project can be completed in one afternoon.

This Friday evening, February 21, there will be a short meeting of all the team members in the Parish House at 7:30 o'clock. Calls will be assigned and directions given. Every team member is requested to be present.

Lent begins next week on Ash Wednesday, February 26. There will be a half hour of celebration of holy communion in the church at 10 o'clock in the morning and again at 12 noon. At 8 o'clock in the evening the Lenten prayer with penitential office and sermon will be held in the church.

Ash Wednesday is a day of very solemn obligation and every member and adherent of the parish should attend one of these services. The general public is also cordially invited.

Ray W. Herrick Speaker At Monroe Industrial Meet

Characterizing Tecumseh as the "greatest town on earth," Ray W. Herrick, president of Tecumseh Products Company, addressed a meeting of the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce in Monroe City, last Friday afternoon. The Chamber is conducting a survey for factory building funds, looking toward expansion.

Mr. Herrick, according to a columnelength article in the Monroe Evening News which referred to him as "a dynamic personality," reviewed the history of his company, explained how Tecumseh took a civic and financial interest in his plant at the time it moved here six years ago, and how the factory has increased its payroll from 50 to 1,000 employees.

The industrial executive also told the Monroe men about Tecumseh's community hospital, built entirely through a $40,000 public subscription program and turned over to the village, debt free. Since that time, two years ago, the hospital has doubled its capacity through a $25,000 addition, only recently opened. Mr. Herrick headed the original hospital building program. "We did this," Mr. Herrick said, "because we thought it was the reason why sick people in our town should have to go to Adrian for hospitalization."

"We have appreciated what the community of Tecumseh did for us and we are continuously trying to fulfill our obligations. If any of you have seen the new homes our employees are building, I think you will understand what I mean. Our company purchases a lot and presents it to any employee wishing to build a home, that's part of our obligation, we feel."

On the program with Mr. Herrick were several Monroe industrialists who are seeking a business revival in that city, particularly industrially.

INDIANS GRASP AT CAGE TITLE

WINNER OF BASKETBALL LEAGUE TROPHY MAY BE DECIDED AT TOMORROW'S CONTEST

By Bob Larsen

Tomorrow night, the Tecumseh high school basketball team will meet Blissfield on the local court in the game which will, in all probability, decide the championship of the league. Tecumseh has one more game with Manchester (Friday there), but after Tuesday's game, when Tecumseh won 29-11 from Manchester it looks like a sure thing for the Warriors next week Friday night. The Indians tasted defeat for the only time this year at the hands of Blissfield last January 14, to the tune of, 38-30. From this score it can be seen that Blissfield had a hard time defeating the Indians and the dopesters are giving Tecumseh a slight edge over the Sugar Boys when they come here tomorrow. An Indian victory would leave the two teams in a tie for the championship. This is, of course, assuming that Tecumseh will defeat Manchester a week from tomorrow. Or, should Tecumseh defeat Blissfield and should Blissfield lose its last game this would give Tecumseh the championship outright.

In the Clinton game last Friday Mohr, Wilson, Carlson, Green and Des Ermia started with Spillman and Laidlaw substituting. Green was high point man with 15. Then Des Ermia with eight, Mohr seven, Carlson six, Wilson four, Spillman three, and Laidlaw 0.Carlson had his six points in the first half and did not play in the second because he was charged with three personal fouls, and Coach Raick decided to save him in case of need late in the game. At the end of the first quarter Clinton was leading Tecumseh 8-7. They soon lost this lead and the half ended 20-14 in favor of Tecumseh. From this point the Warriors ran all over the Clinton team and while they ran up 23 more points in the second half, they held Clinton to only seven more. The final score was Tecumseh 43, Clinton 21.

Mohr, Wilson, Carlson, Green and Des Ermia started for Tecumseh against Manchester Tuesday evening, with Hamilton, Laidlaw, Spillman and Lenardson substituting. This game was a postponement from January 17. Green again led the field with 11 points. Wilson and Mohr were next with five each, Carlson and Des Ermia with four each and Hamilton, Laidlaw, Spiljman and Lenardson with 0. The reserves lost for the first time this season last Tuesday, when the Manchester reserves beat them 21-9.

In the varsity game, Tecumseh led Manchester from the start and climbed out to a lead of 12-3 in the first period. The final score favored Tecumseh 29 to 11.

Miss Mary Lue Curtiss Bride Of Roldon Sutton

St. Peter's church, with its old historical background, was the setting for a beautiful wedding Saturday afternoon when Mary Lue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman A. Curtiss, became the bride of Roldon Perkins Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Sutton, all of Tecumseh. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Chas. F. Jones gave a 15 minute organ recital and Miss Betty Joyce Green of Ypsilanti sang "Ave Maria."

Promptly at 4 o'clock the bridal party entered the church, the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, and approached the altar where they were met by the groom and his attendants, the Rev. Edward R. A. Green reading the impressive Episcopal service.

Ascension lilies and pink gladioluses and lighted tapers in candleabra decorated the chancel. The bride's gown was white brocade satin trimmed with seed pearls and tiny damask buttons made with long sleeves and a train and a finger tip veil worn by the bridegroom's mother. She carried a cluster of white gardenias tied with broad satin ribbon. Miss Adah Curtiss, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore turquoise blue, princess style and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, daisies and pink sweet peas tied with blue and pink satin ribbon. Carol Jean Sutton and Rae Nita Larsen in pale pink taffeta and Mrs. Charles Reynolds and Pearl Elaine Brown in rose taffeta were the bridesmaids; Gibbs Barber was the groom's attendant and the ushers were

ELLIOTT HEADS VILLAGE TICKET

ONLY ONE PARTY NOMINATES CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION, MARCH 10

J. Floyd Elliott, twice president of the Village of Tecumseh and a veteran member of the council, Monday evening was the unopposed nominee of the Peoples Party caucus for the office of village president at the March 10 election. Because any opposing political party failed to qualify for a caucus, there will be only one ticket in the field, and the nomination of the Peoples Party candidates, except for the formality, is equivalent to election.

Others nominated at the Peoples caucus, all of them incumbents, are: E. H. Van Vleet, a member of the council; Wade L. Jones, village clerk; Le Roy Titley, treasurer, and J. Fred Rector, assessor. Two names were added to this list for seats on the council, E. J. Marshall and H. W. Truesdale. Neither of these men have held public office here previously. Mr. Truesdale will not seek the seat vacated by Mr. Elliott and Mr. Marshall that of William Beardsley, whose term of office will expire with the coming election. Mr. Van Vleet is a candidate to succeed himself.

The caucus was called to order by Karl M. Schneider, who is rounding out his third term as president of the village and who announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. R. K. Anderson acted as chairman and A. W. Porter was the secretary.

About fifty persons attended the caucus.

U.S. TO DICTATE WORLD'S PEACE

ROTARY-ANNS HEAR NORMAN HIDDEN OF ENGLAND, DISCUSS PRESENT WAR

The United States will play an important part in dictating the peace terms that will follow the war between Great Britain and Germany and will, in a large measure, determine the kind of a world in which the next three or four generations will reside, Norman Hidden, English history professor at Adrian College and a British subject, told some 80 Rotarians, their wives and guests at the club's annual Rotary-Ann Banquet, Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church parlors.

"The United States is somewhat in the position of the fellow who pays the piper. The fellow who pays usually calls the tunes, and the United States, through its aid to Great Britain, will, in a large measure, name the peace terms. There are those who believe that out of this war will come a United States of Europe," the speaker said, "and this is possible. However, the people of the United States must decide, for under your form of government the people's will is law."

Prof. Hidden, a graduate of Oxford, an accredited air raid warden in England and who left the Isles just previous to the declaration of war, told an interesting story of England as it was before the Munich meeting between Hitler and Chamberlain, and after Germany's attack upon Poland. He described vividly the measures that are being taken in England to meet Hitler's attacks, told of letters he had received from his parents regarding air raids, and made it clear that Great Britain is determined to win the war. He praised the United States for the aid that it is giving to his country, and for the friendly spirit that exists between the nations.

The banquet meeting was in charge of E. M. Campbell, president of the club, who presided and introduced the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Van Denbergh and Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Eggleston. Preceding the dinner there was group singing led by William Berkhof, with Mrs. Chas Jones at the piano, and the invocation by the Rev. Edward Green.

MILLIONAIRE — A LA GOVERNMENT

Andrew Paanemen, a Finnish-born cranberry farmer of Carver, Mass., who works for the government, was "millionaire for a day" a short time ago. He is under the Department of Agriculture, sanding bogs as part of its soil conservation program, and the check he received the other week read this way, believe it or not: "Pay Exactly $1,000,015.25."

It was a clerical error, of course, and the individual incident was highly amusing. But thoughtful Americans, after they've had a good laugh at the picture of Mr. Paanemen presenting a perfectly good government check running to seven figures to the startled clerk at his local bank, will be inclined to consider the matter a little more deeply. Back of the simple accident involved is something far more serious. It is this:

As big government has steadily grown bigger—in many cases, as a necessity of the times — the temptation to political-minded individuals to become careless with the taxpayers' money has grown right along with it. Politicos in recent years have been far too inclined to shrug their shoulders and say: "Why shouldn't we spend the dough for this pet project? After all, what's another couple of million?"

As a result, the sum of one million dollars—which it would take the average citizen between five and ten centuries to earn—is considered no more worthy of close attention than an old hound dog. Carelessness with the people's money in non-defense matters is particularly serious at a time like this when so much is needed for the Army and Navy equipment upon which our national security will depend. Surely in these days beyond all others, politics needs to be reminded of the old expression that "money ain't hay"—and that millions of dollars aren't cranberries, either!

"MELODY COMES TO TOWN"
features John Deere Movie Program

Jean Parker Heads Cast; FREE TICKETS available at Whelan Implement Co.

Jean Parker, who has played leading roles in many movie hits during the last few years, heads the cast of "Melody Comes to Town," feature picture to be shown in the Strand Theatre here on Thursday, Feb. 27. This movie, fifty minutes in length, headlines the John Deere Day entertainment and educational program to be sponsored by the Whelan Implement Co. Admission will be by ticket only, but tickets may be obtained free of charge at the Whelan store.

"Melody Comes to Town" is an appealing story of a small-town girl who makes good as the youthful leader of a famous orchestra — but who comes back to help when her home folks are in trouble. It's the story of a "Scattergood Baines" newspaper editor who joins forces with a couple of high school boys to help a widowed mother and her injured son . . . of a football coach and the Ladies' Aid Society . . . of "Old Lady Dunham," who really is a charming, young teacher. Included in the cast are lovely Jean Parker, Jackie Moran, Joe Brown, jr., Frank Faylen, Natalie Moorhead, and stuttering Roscoe Ates.

In addition to "Melody Comes to Town," four other new, all-talking pictures will be shown. They include "The Road to Happiness"—an interesting story of John and Claire Blane, a typical small-farm couple who eliminated many long hours of tedious toil and found a new happiness in farm life . . . "The Sheppards Take a Vacation"—an educational picture showing the change in harvesting methods which is taking place on small and medium-sized farms throughout the country . . . "The Control of Quality"—an enlightening picture that takes you behind the scenes in the building of modern farm tractors . . . and a short news reel of "What's New in Farm Equipment for 1941."

Fay Whelan is extending a cordial invitation to all farmers readers of this newspaper — and their neighbors — to be his guests on John Deere Day, Feb. 27. Only—be sure to call at the Whelan store for your free tickets, if you don't already have them, before Feb. 27.

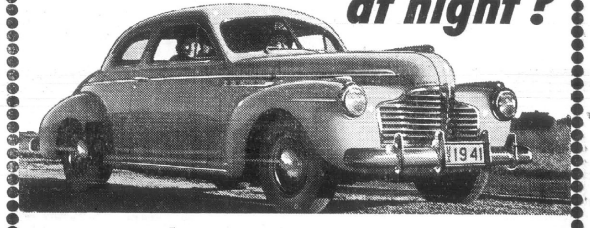
Do you have to "TUCK YOUR CAR IN" at night?



Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d —until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling — and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Knights Of Pythias Lodge Enjoys Its 70th Birthday

The Knights of Pythias, one of the world's largest fraternal societies, and one of two to be founded in the United States, celebrated its seventy seventh birthday, Wednesday, February 19.

Although the fraternal society was founded in the city of Washington, February 19, 1864, it had its actual beginning in the state of Michigan in 1858.

Justus H. Rathbone, a graduate of Madison University, New York, came to Eagle Harbor, Keweenaw county, in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in 1858, to teach school. To help occupy the long evenings, Rathbone, and others, formed an amateur theatrical society. One play was based on the story of Damon and Pythias. Reading the play, Rathbone was so impressed with the immortal friendship of the two Greeks that an idea for a new fraternal order occurred to him. Inspired, he wrote the Rituals one evening in the school house where he taught the three "R" during the day. The school house is still standing and beongs to the Knights of Pythias order.

In commemoration of the idea, for a anniversary of the founding of the order, many subordinate lodges in the Grand Domain of Michigan are planning celebrations of the event this week.

Although a Knights of Pythias lodge was organized here years ago it was disbanded in 1876 and the present lodge, No. 130, was instituted in 1895 through the efforts of the late Jas. T. McKinney, with 26 charter members, among them John R. Nyland, Ed Holdway and Robert Quackenbush. Since that time 516 names have been entered on the membership roll. The lodge now has 51 members.

The local Pythian Sisters celebrated their 40th anniversary at their regular meeting held last Wednesday evening when the Grand Chief from Detroit and another supreme officer from Dearborn were guests. A potluck supper preceded the meeting and featured a huge decorated birthday cake.

Britton was elected deegate and Mrs. Elmer Green, alternate, to the state convention in Grand Rapids, A communication was read from Eugene Elliott, state superintendent of schools, in regard to the teaching of Spanish in our public schools, in which he complimented the club on bringing the facts to his attention.

The program consisted of a paper on "The Life of Lincoln" by Mrs. Rose Teufel; vocal solos, Lincoln's favorite songs, by Mrs. Crawford, accompanied by Mrs. Bessie Travis; a poem "Lincoln, the Man of the People" (Markham) read by Mrs. Jerome Travis. Mrs. Swick and her committee served refreshments in conclusion.

The next meeting will be held March 12 at the home of Mrs. David Beck and Mrs. Louise Lott, three miles south of Tecumseh.

For Village Election
MONDAY, MAR. 10TH, 1941

To the Qualified Electors of the Village of Tecumseh (Precct. No. ....), County of Lenawee, State of Michigan

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with Sec. 4, Chap. III, Part II of the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Village Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Village not already registered who may Apply To Me Personally for such registration.

Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the SECOND SATURDAY before any regular, special, or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby further given that I will be at my office in the old Lilley Bank Building on the twentieth day preceding said election as provided by Sec. 2767, Michigan Election Laws, Revision of 1939.

(In any village in which the clerk does not maintain regular daily office hours, the village council of such village may require that the clerk of such village shall be at his office or other designated place for the purpose of receiving applications for registration, on such other days as it shall designate prior to the last day for registration, not exceeding five days in all.)

Saturday, Mar. 1st - Last Day

For General Registration by Personal Application for Said Election

The name of no person but an ACTUAL Resident of the Village at the time of said registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

NOTICE — Absent Voter Must Be Registered

Although Sec. 2774, Laws Relating to Elections, Revision of 1939, still provides that an absent voter may apply for registration at time of applying for ballot, and gives form of Affidavit he should make, Act 63 of P. A. 1939 stipulates that in absent voter's application for ballots he must state that he is a "duly qualified AND REGISTERED elector."

Opinion of the Attorney General is that Acts 66 and 63 "must be construed to repeal the inconsistent provision of Sec. 2774 permitting absentee registration AT THE TIME of making application for an absent voter's ballot."

Thus the Absent Voter's application and affidavit for registration are useful only in cases where voter may mail these in, then make application for ballots later, after registry has been completed.

The portion of application shown herewith enclosed in brackets should be crossed out when applying for registration.

3 LOCAL BOYS REPORT TO ARMY

23 YOUNG MEN, ALL VOLUNTEERS, MAKE UP THE FEBRUARY CALL

Twenty-three young men, all volunteers, comprising Lenawee's February quota for selective army service, left Adrian yesterday for Detroit where they will be inducted into service this morning and later will be sent to Fort Custer. Included in the group are three from Tecumseh, Robert N. Lowe, Edward B. Leighton and Robert F. Stone.

Others in the group are Leroy F. Montgomery and John H. Slick of Britton; Harold V. Payton of Tipton; Richard J. McGill, Leo D. Jennings and Harold G. Munson of Hudson; Wayne B. Allen of Clayton; Adelbert E. Brownell, James D. Rothfuss, Samuel O. Rothfuss and James E. Gilson of Blissfield; George R. Lane, Robert C. Hosler, Warren B. Totten, Arthur G. Crandell, Ambrose C. Marcier and Ray Verdow of Adrian; Worden W. Kahle of Palmyra and Ralph W. Biddex of Irenci.

The draft board still has 21 more volunteers available to fill part of the March quota, tentatively set at 71 men.

With the announcement of the March quota, the board also has been advised that no registrant will be accepted for regular Army enlistment after he has been ordered to report by the local board for induction for a year's training.

The announcement, by Col. S. M. Rosecrans, state director of the Selective Service System, asked boards to advise registrants that their enlistment in the regular Army will not be accepted after they have been ordered to report for training. The order to report for induction is given after physical examinations are taken and five days before actual induction.

The board ordered clerks to stop sending out questionnaires temporarily after Tuesday. Fifty questionnaires were sent out that morning, bringing the number issued so far through order No. 1075.

Company B, 126th Infantry, Michigan National Guards, has been moved from Camp Beauregard, La., to Camp Livingston, La., a new modern camp and the company is now learning to manipulate the new Garand rifle.

Hillsdale Professor To Speak At Lenten Meet

The first in the series of Lenten Sunday evening lecture classes at St. Peter's church will be held this Sunday evening, March 2, beginning at 7 o'clock. The speaker will be Professor Raymond Lyon Bowers of the music department at Hillsdale College.

Professor Bowers was listed on the Lenten program last year, but just before it was time for him to come, he was taken sick and had to cancel his lecture. His subject will be, "Music in the Bible and in the Church."

Professor Bower's ability in music is versatile as well as excellent. He has a fine tenor voice. Besides teaching the theory of music and musical education at the college, he is also an expert organist. He plans to illustrate his lecture here by singing a number of old plain-song chants. This type of devotional singing was used to a large extent in the early centuries of the church. It still prevails to a large degree in the Church of England, and its use in the Episcopal church in this country is growing.

Mr. Bowers is not entirely unknown to Tecumseh. He has addressed civic groups here a few years ago, and his audiences were delighted with his presentation.

The public is invited to attend his lecture.

WARRIORS DROP CHANCE AT TITLE

TECUMSEH LOSES TO BLISSFIELD IN CAGE GAME HERE, 41 TO 22

By Bob Larsen

The Tecumseh high school Warriors lost their chance at the county league cage title last Friday evening when they went down to defeat at the hands of Blissfield, by a score of 41 to 22. Tecumseh had previously been defeated by the Sugar Boys at Blissfield, last January 14, by a score of 38 to 30.

As the result of the loss of Friday's game, Tecumseh hurled over its shoulder its last chance at the county title, Had Tecumseh defeated Blissfield the local school would have been in a tie position for the cage honor. Today, however, Blissfield is the undisputed champion.

Although sport fans gave Tecumseh an even chance with the Beet Boys in last Friday's game, it appears that the difference between the two teams was Mulder, No. 13, for the Sugars. Beyond doubt he is the fastest man to appear in the league this year, and Friday night he made 18 of Blissfield's 41 points. Tecumseh appeared to have a chance at the end of the half, when the score was 15-18, Blissfield, but when the Indians came onto the floor for the second half they failed to click, while Blissfield's five sped like a well oiled machine.

Mohr, Wilson, Carlson, Des Ermia and Green started for Tecumseh with Spillman and Leonardson substituting. Green was injured in the third quarter and was fouled in the fourth quarter.

Tecumseh reserves also dropped their game to Blissfield here on Friday evening by a 14-15 score. Sisson threw a perfect basket just after the whistle.

Tomorrow, the Indians are scheduled to play Manchester there, and Coach Fred Raizx said today that he had as yet received no notice that the game would be postponed. Rumor had it that the game might be canceled because of a serious motor accident there last week, involving most of Manchester's cagers. If is expected, therefore, that the Warriors will for the most part meet second string men in Manchester tomorrow, and that the game will be a walkaway. Tecumseh defeated Manchester's varsity, February 18, by a 29-11 score.

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing, Feb. 27—One of the indirect results of the Governor Van Wagoner-state legislature dispute over the best way to remove the commissioner of agriculture from politics has been an increased recognition of the state board of agriculture, Michigan State college's governing body.

The board's official title originated in the day when the East Lansing institution was known "Michigan Agriculture College."

Today the board members are "regents" of an all-round state college whose 1940 freshman enrollment numbered 593 in liberal arts, 314 in home economics, 285 in engineering, 202 in agriculture and forestry, 41 in music, 68 in physical education, 1916 in applied sciences, and 99 in veterinary medicine.

Of the 1798 freshman total, 1491 reside in Michigan.

And, incidentally, this fact may surprise you: The 1940 freshman class led the University of Michigan freshman enrollment of the third successive year.

Thus the former "ag" school at the shadow of the state capitol has been growing up!

It was during the depression decade, just closed, that Michigan State experienced a remarkable surge in development.

Growing pains became acute. Enrollment rose from 3536 students in 1930 to 6,982 in 1940 (including summer school), the growth was 97.3 per cent. The undergraduate gain was even better, 111 per cent.

Legislative appropriations have lagged far behind, being $2,125,284 in 1930 and only $2,500,000 a decade later. Pinching every dollar until it bled, the state board cut the annual student cost from $366 to $244. Salaries of professors and others on the teaching staff were gradually squeezed from $3,458 average to $2,781.

This predicament prompted the state board, of which William H. Berkey of Cassopolis is chairman, to submit to the 1941 state legislature for $450,000 additional maintenance and operation funds.

And since the last legislative appropriation for construction facilities was $200,000 way back in 1932, nine years ago, the board is asking for a natural science building at a cost of $1,200,000. Four other structures, also badly needed, could be authorized later.

Because the legislature seems intent on giving the college board the duty of selecting the state commissioner of agriculture, as well as solving the college's own urgent needs, the above review of information is pertinent to the moment.

From Dr. Arthur Moehlman of the University of Michigan, a national authority on education and editor of "The Nation's Schools," comes a three-point program for Michigan educational reforms presented at the fourth annual citizens' conference on education held at Lansing this month, as follows:

1. Eliminate politics from the office of state superintendent of public instruction by making him an appointee of the state board of education.

2. Reduce board members on a non-partisan ballot for staggered terms.

3. Reorganize 6,500 local school districts into not more than 600.

Dr. Moehlman warned against the pitting of cities against rural areas, declaring "for generations professional politicians have panned the minor differences between rural and urban groups into strong conflicts."

Resistance to a consolidation of school districts, even in the interest of economy, come from these sources, reminded D. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent:

1. "Traditional point of view."

2. "Individual and group selfishness."

3. "Vested interests or the (21,000) board of school board members."

ONE TOWN'S STORY

There is one small costal town in New England that, in its place in the defense picture, is typical of hundreds of American communities—and on that basis, is worth a moment of thought and comment.

Like small cities in every state of the Union, this community energetically and patriotically set to work organizing its local facilities to assist in the defense program. That was a number of months ago. Emissaries were sent to Washington to represent the town. Washington, pressed with the urgent need for placing large contracts first, has indicated that the shipbuilding yards in the small town will eventually be put to work. But meanwhile, the first impact of speeded production in other centers has struck this small community. Its labor and purchasing power have started to leave for those production centers where work has begun. And some in the place are, of course, rather discouraged by the turn events have taken.

But, whether or not they realize the fact, the dawn of a new day lies ahead for small communities like this. The defense program is now reaching the stage where more and more work can be "sub-contracted"; that is to say, where the making of the parts that go into the manufacture of a complex piece of military equipment can be "farmed out" to a number of small plants in smaller towns.

The situation is even now being carefully surveyed with this in mind by the National Industrial Council, an organization of trade groups sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. Large companies and, equally important, small ones, are being asked to list the space, tools and other equipment that they possess which might be helpful in the defense effort. The small New England coast town and hundreds of others like it will profit eventually from this inventory.

When a lot of people are trying to get a big job done in a hurry, there are sure to be some mishaps. But taken all in all, this nation is working things out in pretty logical fashion, and in its own free traditional way, as it goes about making the defense of its liberties sure and secure. And the little town should soon be part of that picture.

Laid End to End They Add up to a Swell Idea

We mean these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Series that Give you Big-Car Thrill in less Curbside Space

THE way cars have been stretching out lately, it usually takes only a couple of cars to occupy the curb space of an extension-ladder fire truck.

Not so with the newest additions to the 1941 Buick line.

Here we've reversed the trend—just to prove that an honest-to-golly BIG car can be built without going overboard on bumper-to-bumper distance.

The four new models now adorning the Buick SPECIAL Series fit neatly into modest garages without putting a permanent crimp in the doors.

They slip into parking places smoothly as a rowboat nestles up to a dock—and the way they flit through traffic is a delight to wheel-weary drivers.

When it comes to action—well, they've got a 115-hp. FIREBALL eight under their bonnets that skims you down the road like a mallard heading home. You can add Compound Carburetion at small extra cost and have 125 horsepower that does things we hardly dare hint about in print.

But they're a handy six inches shorter, bumper to bumper, than other Buicks—a quartet of top-quality cars in a new and easily-handled size.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe

III, Part II of the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Village Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Village not already registered who may Apply To Me Personally for such registration.

Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the SECOND SATURDAY before any regular, special, or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby further given that I will be at my office in the old Lilley Bank Building on

Tuesday, Feb. 18th, 1941

(In any village in which the clerk does not maintain regular daily office hours, the village council of such village may require that the clerk of such village shall be at his office or other designated place for the purpose of receiving applications for registration, on such other days as it shall designate prior to the last ayd ror registration, not exceeding five days in all.)

The name of no person but an ACTUAL Resident of the Village at the time of said registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

NOTICE — Absent Voter Must Be Registered

Although Sec. 2774, Laws Relating to Elections, Revision of 1939, still provides that an absent voter may apply for registration at any time of applying for ballot, and gives form of Affidavit he should make, Act 63 of P. A. 1939 stipulates that in absent voter's application for ballots he must state that he is a "duly qualified AND REGISTERED elector."

Opinion of the Attorney General is that Acts 66 and 63 "must be construed to repeal the inconsistent provision of Sec. 2774 permitting absentee registration AT THE TIME of making application for an absent voter's ballot."

Thus the Absent Voter's application and affidavit for registration are useful only in cases where voter may mail these in, then make application for ballots later, after registry has been completed.

The portion of application shown herewith enclosed in brackets should be crossed out when applying for registration.

RIDGEWAY SCHOOL NEWS

Semester examinations are over. We are started on the last half of the school year. The Seniors are beginning to think about Commencement Days.

The 9th and 10th grades are making postures of Communication. These postures trace the way messages were sent from primitive times to the present.

The school board repainted the black boards over the week end. We can see board work much better now.

We have started our hot lunches this semester. A committee of four are appointed each week to help prepare and serve the lunch. The committee in charge this past week was Shirley Harvey, Raynor Spreeman, Vivian Van Wagner and George Kizer.

This past month we entertained the Board of Education for a day. They came early in the morning, enjoyed the lunch hour with us and in the afternoon took part in our chapel exercises. Those present were Mr and Mrs M. E. Bachman, Mr and Mrs Albert Filter, Mr and Mrs Clifford Southard, Mrs Emma Mae Benham and sons and Mr Carl Brown. Mrs L. Gittus and Mrs Van Wagner were additional guests for chapel. Vera Chase and Dorothy Gittus were in charge of the Chapel exercises.

The 5th and 6th Grades have been making Health Postures.

We are learning many patriotic songs this month. These songs tell us about our flag and great men like Lincoln, Edison, Washington and Longfellow.

We observed Lincoln's birthday with the following program given by both rooms:

Songs — Our Flag — February's Birthday Cake; Recitation: My Flag, Bobby Kizer; Recitation: Our Flag, Dorothy Jewell; Playlet: Abe's Birthday Cake, Primary Room; Song: Under the Red, White and Blue; Poem: Lincoln (Nancy Byrd Turner), Evelyn Gaul; Poem: Oh Captain! My Captain (Walt Whitman), Albert Todt; Gettysburg Adress, Geraldine Spreeman; Playlet: Abe' Best Friend,Upper Grades; Song: Washington and Lincoln.

Wayne Dunbar and Vivian Van Wagner gave us many interesting facts, Feb. 11 ,in observance of Thomas Edison's birthday.

The upper grades enjoyed a birthday dinner in the recreation room this past month. A three course dinner was prepared and served by the girls. The chief feature was a large birthday cake decorated in the school colors, green and white. Each person contributed a penny for each year of his age. Our club treasure was swelled in this way by an additional $2. Games and dancing were enjoyed later in the evening. Miss Alice Filter was our guest.

The H. S. room is recorated in patriotic colors. The committee in charge was Wayne Dunbar, Shirley Spaven and Jerry Filter. Our recreation room is decorated with the school colors. The committee in charge was Vera Chase, Dick Cadmus and Fred Peter.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

NINETY-FIRST YEAR— NUMBER TWENTY-THREE. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1941. FIVE CENTS PER COPY.

2 P. M. FRIDAY SET FOR STRIKE

CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY AND UNIONS IN LANSING CONFERENCE

Two o'clock Friday afternoon is the announced deadline for a showdown in the threatened Consumers Power Company strike, according to information received in Tecumseh from Lansing, late yesterday. Unless the company and the union reach an agreement before that hour, it was said that switches would be pulled, disrupting the electrical services in 900 Michigan cities and villages, including Tecumseh, Adrian and other sections of Lenawee county.

The federal government intervened yesterday in an attempt to avert the strike, Lucian Rye, Washington conciliator, arriving in Lansing where the company is conferring with union leaders.

"If we go out on strike we'll pull every switch in the state controlled by Consumers Power," W. P. Petty of Grand Rapids, international representative of the union was quoted as saying.

The union, in disagreement with the company over wages, etc., served notice 30 days ago of its intent to strike, fixing last midnight as the deadline. There were rumors here Monday that Tuesday midnight was the deadline, and yesterday that 2 p. m., Wednesday, or Wednesday at midnight were the appointed hours. As a result of the rumors, local merchants have been doing a land office business in candles, flashlight batteries, oil lamps, lanterns, etc. One hardware store in the county, a report said, sold 158 oil burning lamps in a few hours.

Aside from the fact that much of Tecumseh would be in darkness, should the switches be pulled, many homes, stores and offices also would be without heat or power. Homes and shops where oil burners or stokers are used for heating soon would grow cold and scores of housewives who use electric stoves would be unable to prepare the family meals.

Miss Joyce M. Clark Weds Kenneth E. Johnson

Miss Joyce M. Clark, daughter of Mrs. Leland Cheever and the late Hollis Clark of Tecumseh, and Kenneth M. Johnson, son of Edward Johnson of Saline, were married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Peter's Episcopal church. The service was read by the Rev. E. R. Green. The bridal group taking their places before a lovely setting of palms, snapdragons, carnations and lighted candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother James B. Clark, wore a gown of white slipper satin with lace yoke and seed pearl trimming and with a train and veil, and carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Miss Nelda Ann Daisher of Ypsilanti, the maid of honor, wore smoke blue chiffon, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, sweet peas and shasta daisies. The bridesmaids, Misses Jane Clark and Iota Skinner, were in powder blue organza with colonial bouquets of pink roses, sweet peas and daisies. Loren Campbell was the bridegroom's attendant and Clyde Mitchell and Roger Linger the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Clark in Indian Acres for 50 guests from Ypsilanti, Saline, Waterford, Adrian and Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left on a week's trip through the southern states and on their return will make their home in Ypsilanti where he is employed as a draftsman for the Central Specialty Company. Both young people are graduates of Tecumseh high school. Mr. Johnson also attended Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti and Mrs. Johnson has been employed in the office of the village clerk.

SEE LIGHT VOTE HERE MONDAY

ONLY ONE TICKET IN VILLAGE ELECTION AND LITTLE INTEREST SHOWN

With only one ticket in the field at the annual village election, to be held here Monday, March 10, political observers today forecast that voting would be exceptionally light, and that the election of the Peoples Ticket was little more than a formality.

J. Floyd Elliott, twice president of the village and now a member of the council, heads the Peoples Ticket for the office of president. He will succeed Karl M. Schneider, who will round out his third term on April 1, and who announced that he would not accept nomination or re-election.

Other nominees on the ticket are Wade L. Jones for village clerk; Le Roy Titley, treasurer, and J. Fred Rector, assessor. For seats on the council, E. H. Van Vleet is seeking re-election, and E. J. Marshall and Howard Truesdale, newcomers in local politics, are asking for chairs at the council table. Mr. Truesdale will fill the seat being vacated by Mr. Elliott and Mr. Marshall that of William Beardsley, whose term will expire, and who announced that he was not a candidate for the office.

Voting at Tecumseh elections has been light for the past two or three years, residents taking required to replace them, also a little interest in local politics.

This year, a year ago and two years ago, only one ticket was in the field, other parties failing to hold caucuses, it was believed today that the Monday vote would be one of the lightest cast here in three years, some observers forecasting that the total vote would not exceed 100.

Recruiting Contest Is Staged By Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts of Lenawee and Monroe counties are holding a recruiting contest in an effort to increase the present enrollment of Wolverine Council from 786 to 1000 or more during the year. The contest which began Saturday March 1, will continue through April 21 and in addition to President's or Class B awards, council and district awards will be made to troops having the best average in both recruiting and advancement; and to individual scouts for training and passing tenderfoot tests. The awards will be made April 28 for Lenawee.

SERVICE DRAFT LIST IS READY

82 MEN TO BE CALLED TO COLORS FROM LENAWEE ON MARCH 20

With the March quota in the selective service draft set at 82 men from Lenawee county and with 80 registrants, including 15 volunteers, now ready for induction, more than enough men to fill the call will be given physical examinations and classified before the call date, March 20.

Two of the February quota sent to Detroit were rejected. Robert Hosler and George Crandall, both of Adrian, failed to pass the tests, and the Lenawee board will be required to replace them, also a third man, registered in Fremont, Ohio, who was inducted for that board in the Lenawee quota.

Students To Be Guests Of Strand At War Movie

Junior and senior students of the Tecumseh high school and members of the faculty will be the guests of the management of the Strand theatre, Friday afternoon at 4 p. m., for a special showing of Carleton Reynolds' authentic sound movie pictures of the war in London. The war movie is being shown here next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the public, as an added attraction with Wesley Ruggles' "Arizona."

Mr. Reynolds, chief war correspondent for one of the nation's largest magazines, has "covered" the war in England since its beginning. He has seen London amid all its shot and shell, and has written an historical story and produced movies to be screened here, showing actual life in England during a day and a night of bombing.

Reynolds was in the thick of the fighting in English capital, his apartment was bombed and he suffered personal injury. He is now on a lecture tour of the United States, appearing in Detroit this week. Later, he is to return to London to resume his duties.

All proceeds derived from the rental of the war movie, at Mr. Reynolds' request, be paid over to the British War Relief Fund. The Strand management is making no charge to the students for the special showing, believing that the picture has sufficient historical value to warrant its being seen by them, that they may know how London acts under the fire of Nazi bombers.

WARRIORS WIN LAST CAGE GAME

DEFEAT MANCHESTER 37 TO 19; BLISSFIELD IS LEAGUE CHAMPION

By Bob Larsen

Tecumseh high school cagers won their last game for the 1940-41 season from Manchester, last Friday night, and on Manchester's floor. The score was 37 to 19. Contrary to expectations all but one of the boys injured in an automobile accident there two weeks ago, played in the game.

This leaves the Indians with a season of twelve wins and two defeats. The two defeats came from Blissfield, the current league champion. The Tecumseh team run up 486 points this season to their opponents 270, one of the best showings in the league. Next year, Blissfield loses all but one of its varsity which should give the Indians a very good chance at the title. With the exception of Des Ermia and Lenardson the Warriors do not lose any regulars through graduation this year. Reports have it that Proctor from Manchester will be on the Tecumseh squad next year, and this will make up for the loss of one of the graduates.

The game last Friday was very slow, mostly because neither team would be affected by the outcome.

Ben East Will Speak In Clinton On March 11

Ben East, popular Michigan lecturer and writer who has explored and recorded in picture and story Michigan's beautiful woods and waters, will give a free illustrated lecture Tuesday night, March 11, in the Clinton school auditorium. Mr. East will show moving pictures in natural color of Michigan's "Islands of the Inland Seas." He will describe the scenes in the pictures during the showing in the manner that has made the Grand Rapids writer a favorite with thousands of Michigan residents.

The lecture and pictures which Mr. East will use in his Clinton program will be presented the night of March 13 in Hill auditorium in Ann Arbor. Last year more than 8,000 persons in the Ann Arbor area heard him lecture on "Waters that Run to the Sea." Other thousands heard him lecture in a score of Michigan cities.

The lecture here will be sponsored by Clinton organizations and will begin at 7:45 o'clock, and is open to the general public without admission charge.

Mr. East's story and the color motion pictures that illustrate it will take his hearers back to the days when Michigan was part of the old Northwest Territory, when Detroit and Mackinac Island were outposts on the farthest fringe of civilization and when Detroit and the United States battled for possession of wilderness forts and the rich fur trade that went with them.

PRISON WARDEN ROTARY SPEAKER

SAYS FUTURE OF NATION RESTS WITH HOMES, CHURCH AND SCHOOLS

The future of America, as we have known it, rests with the home, the churches and the schools, Glenn Carpenter, deputy warden of the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, told members of the Tecumseh Rotary Club when he addressed a luncheon meeting of that organization here, Tuesday.

"I am an ordained minister and I have the right to stand behind the sacred desk in the church," Mr. Carpenter declared. "But I am of the opinion that the churches, for the most part, have failed to do their job. Too many ministers are interested in those high up, and are paying too little attention to those who are down. Today, too many people are born on the wrong side of the railroad tracks. We shouldn't have to worry too much about those who are high up. It is those who are down that require assistance."

Ministers today, Mr. Carpenter said, are preaching sermons pleasing to the ears of their heavy contributors to the budget, and are attending ladies aid society teas when they might better be out on the sand lot playing baseball with the boys from "the other side of the tracks."

"I told the women of one of my churches at an aid society meeting just that," he said, "and I nearly lost my job. However, the elders reconsidered the next day."

Discussing the schools, the deputy warden said that only recently a man entered his office who claimed California as his home state. I asked him what he had been doing since he came to Michigan. He told me that he had been preaching — preaching that the American flag should be torn down; that Americans were slaves under that flag; that there would be no liberty so long as it existed; that it should be replaced by the red banner of Russia.

"He told me," the deputy said, "that he received such a teaching from a high school teacher, that he had had a year of college training, and that since he left college he had spent his time preaching such a theory. He believed it, and he told me that when he got out of prison he intended to do the most to save the nation from crime and communism.

"About a week ago a father stood before my desk, tears running down his cheeks. His boy was in prison. He couldn't understand why. He had been a good boy, a bit wild at times, but he was his son. I asked him about home discipline. He told me that he (the father) as a youngster had been reared in a home where the rod had not been spared, and that he wanted to give his son an easier time than he had had. He had spared the rod. The boy was in prison. There had been a lack of home discipline."

Mr. Carpenter believes that respect for law and order, and for authority must be learned by the child at home. He does not believe that it is the school's job to do this work.

At the present time, the deputy said, there are 5,438 inmates at the Jackson prison, ranging in age from 13 to 103 years, representing every state in the union and the countries of the world. About one-fourth of the total population is colored. The prison's biggest job, he said, is to find jobs for the men, to keep their minds occupied, and to avoid trouble and disturbances. Jackson prison, he said, is rated among the top three penal institutions in the United States.

Mr. Carpenter is an able and forceful speaker. He was brought to Tecumseh by Lester Rogers, who had charge of the program.

The club elected four members to its board of directors at a short business session. They are Clarence Gilman, Carl Bentschler and Lou Carlson for three year terms, and M. L. Dannells for a two-year term.

WHAT'S YOUR PRICE

At what price do you value yourself? If you were buying yourself, what price would you pay? How much would you be willing to give a fellow who saved your life? In other words, what is your true value in your own estimation?

Peculiar thought, isn't it? Few people, perhaps, have ever stopped to appraise their own value of existence in dollars and cents. There's the story about the lady who was rescued from the sea, with considerable difficulty and risk by the boatman. What did she pay? She rewarded him with twenty-five cents, an example of self-depreciation carried to its fartherest point.

Has you been in the lady's shoes, what price would you have paid? We all know the price of groceries, meats, motor cars and clothing, but seldom do we pause to consider our own worth.

All of us know both men and women who wear their price tags in conspicious places. There are two types of these individuals. First, let's consider the egotist. His price is always high. He's never a bargain. His appraisal is very often exaggerated or inflated. Therefore he is a drug on the market. In society he is not an asset, in business he is tolerated. The best definition that we know of an egotist is a man who is lying to himself; a fellow who thinks he is somebody that he is not.

Then there is the man who undervalues himself. Since we have learned more about psychology we term this fellow as one with an inferiority complex. He puts his price too low. His true value is greater than he thinks. He sees no reason for stepping up his price. His life lacks challenge and new heights to climb, new victories to win.

What, then, is the true perspective of one's self, if one is to consider full appreciation of worth and a proper estimate of value? Modesty is always the mark of confident strength and true greatness. Strutting is the sign of false virtue and faint powers.

Modesty keeps one's feet on the ground and enables men to accept posterity without price, and to keep his head when rewards crown his efforts. A man is most normal under these circumstances. Conceit always marks you down. Detraction pins on a false price mark.

It pays to be modest.

BIRTHS NEAR ALL-TIME HIGH

Births in Michigan in 1940 were 10,000 more than they were only four years ago, and the provisional total of 99,139 reported to the Michigan Department of Health is only a few hundred under the all-time record of 1927. The total that year was 99,940.

"Records show that births are associated with economic conditions, for there are fewer births following depression periods and more births in good times," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "Births dropped 8,000 in 1931, another 5,000 in 1932 and still another 5,000 in 1933 when the low point of recent years was reached with 80,482 births. Better times recently have seen gains of 5,000 in 1938, and 6,000 in 1940."

Figured on the 1940 final census population of 5,256,106, the 1940 provisional birth rate is 18.86 births per 1,000 population. On the basis of revised population estimates, this is the highest rate since 1930, when it was 20.4.

YOKES BY YIMINY, YOKES ! !

Quick Thinking

A small boy was asked to dine at the home of his teacher. His mother questioned him on his return.

"You are sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite?"

"Why, no; nothing to speak of."

"Then something did happen?"

"Well, while I was trying to cut the meat, it slipped off to the floor. But I carried the situation off all right."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I just said carelessly, 'That's always the way with tough meat'."

DO YOU REMEMBER THIS ONE?

This off-the-record story of Noah and the Ark is reprinted from one of our exchanges. If you haven't heard it, it's time you had. If you have heard it, it won't do any harm to refresh your memory.

Noah and his family had sailed on the Ark many days and one day the dog noticed a hole in the bottom of the Ark. The water was rushing in and the dog thought this would be a good time to make a hero of himself. So he put his nose in the hole and stopped the water from leaking in. He stayed there two days and two nights, and boy, was that water cold! The colder the water got, the colder his nose got and the bigger the hole got. Finally he could stand it no longer and he ran to tell Mrs. Noah. She dashed down to the bottom of the Ark and found the water coming in faster than before. The hole had grown and she put her feet in it to stop the water. Three days she stayed at the leak and then too, the water had become unbearably cold for her to stand and she went and told Noah the trouble. He was angry that he had not been told of it before and rushed down into the hold of the ship. He arrived to find the hole getting bigger and bigger. In fact it was so big he had to sit on it to stop the water. There he sat until the flood waters went down and the ark was left sitting high on the mountain top. And that is why to this day, dear reader, a dog has a cold nose, a woman has cold feet and a man always stands with his back to an open fire.—Ovid (New York) Gazette.

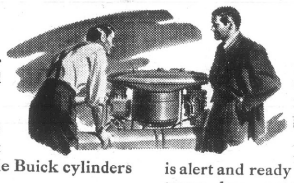
Two good mixers are better than one



THERE you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises.

Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight able Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action, giving you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftily, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

And owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

*Standard on all Buick SUPER, CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED models, available at slight extra cost on all Buick SPECIAL models.

FARMERS TURN TO ADVERTISING

WAVE OF AGRICULTURAL PROMOTION BILLS ABOUT TO REACH THE LEGISLATURE

(Special To The Herald)

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing, Mar. 6—A wave of agricultural advertising bills is about to reach the Michigan state legislature.

When the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the apple advertising tax, whereby a levy of one cent a bushel is assessed on the grower, which adds it to the consumer's bill just as the retailer does with the sales tax) the court opened the gates to similar legislation.

Dairy interests propose a similar advertising levy in the hope of stimulating consumption of milk and butter.

Cherry growers and canners also advocate a state cherry tax to solve the recurrent problem of how to dispose of a canned cherry surplus which, in 1941, is the greatest known in many years. The cherry industry of Michigan has been weakened by a competitive feud among leaders, and this co-operative action may not be easily effected.

Even egg producers—and Hamilton in Allegan county is the "egg capital" of Michigan — are studying the court ruling carefully. As the Hamilton co-operative has shown, eggs can be controlled in flavor, while scientific processing can preserve the "fresh" taste from six months to a year, and the average consumer can't tell the difference.

The bill by Rep. Maurice E. Post, (R) Rockford, to take the commissioner of agriculture out of politics by making him responsible to the state board of agriculture (governing body of Michigan State College) is beginning to back-fire.

Passed by the House, the measure is now before the Senate committee on agriculture. At a hearing last week a majority of farm spokesmen expressed opposition. Clark L. Brody, secretary of the Michigan Farm Bureau and a member of the college board, condemned the plan as being an unconstitutional invasion of the governor's executive authority. Fred P. Hibst, Cadillac, manager of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, warned it would involve the college "more and more with politics because politically-minded men will seek election to the board to dominate state department policies."

Even the possibility that state department employees would be removed from civil service protection has been raised by several senators. Educational institutions are now exempt.

Some bipartisan control for the agricultural department has been favored by farm groups for many years. Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner merely seized it in 1940 as a good campaign issue, and by this time he has put the Republican-dominated legislature in a pretty predicament. A veto is certain if the Post bill is passed.

Generally known as "publicity bills" are three measures, introduced by Senator Stanley Nowak, (D) Detroit, which are designed to institute labor reforms in Michigan.

Senate bills 51 and 52 would impose minimum wages for women and institute wage and hour requirements for all workers in intrastate commerce. Because of their drastic provisions at a time when national defense has the right of way, the bills repose quietly in the senate labor committee.

A third Nowak labor bill would forbid boys under 14 years of age and girls under 18 to engage in "street trades" including the sale of newspapers and magazines. Even time spent in school would be included in an eight hour day limit. (The average newsboy or magazine junior merchant devotes only an hour or so each day, in his spare time, to his "street trade." It is usually considered "spin money" rather than employment, as Michigan requires compulsory education for everyone 7 to 16 years of age.)

Office-holders realize the value of publicity, especially if it is at the public's expense and at the disadvantage of their opponents.

House Bill 99 would provide for the ballot designation of the occupation of a candidate who seeks re-election — a privilege which rivals would not possess. Thus, if the occupation of "state representative" could appear on ballots.

Senate bill 99 is aimed at the practice of state highway commissioners whose names adorn roadside signs, picnic tables and other state-owned buildings and equipment in large letters. This bill would prohibit use of the names of public officers on state signs, maps, etc., unless specifically provided for by law. Furthermore, a signature would be that of the department or office rather than the individual heading the same.

(Republican critics of G. Donald Kennedy, interim state highway commissioner, complain that Kennedy had his name painted on thousands of road-signs; held up printing of the winter highway map for revisions; and so on, at considerable expense—all in order to publicize himself prior to the spring election.)

Senate resolution C, introduced by Senator Joseph Baldwin, (R) Albion would earmark 10 per cent of the state gasoline tax refund annually (five and six million dollars) for old age pensions and to retire the state deficit. It would require a constitutional amendment.

Rising recognition of more adequate pensions recently prompted state representatives to over-ride the house ways and means committee and to add $161,000 to a deficiency bill.

Both parties are bidding for favor of the "oldsters," the Townsend bloc. No action is expected, however, until after the April election. The same observation can be made about the $46,000,000 school appropriation bill of the Michigan Education association.

Both retailers and consumers are interested in amendments proposed to the state sales tax to shift the taxing burden from merchant to buyer on sales under 17 cents.

Supported by the Michigan Retail Institute, Michigan State Pharmaceutical association (drug stores) and the Detroit Board of Commerce, the amendments would introduce a complicated scheme known as prepaid tax cards.

Each consumer would have two choices:

1. Pay sales tax by purchasing a prepaid card—$1 worth of taxes for 3 cents—from each merchant from whom a purchase is made. The merchant would punch the card, like a meal ticket.

2. Pay sales tax by cash but on sales under 17 cents. A 10 cent loaf of bread would require one cent sales tax. Total price, 11 cents, or a sales tax of 10 per cent.

Critics of the prepaid tax card declare that the consumer would have to buy a card from every merchant, carrying a pocketful of cards, one for each store, like a deck of cards.

The shopper might forget to bring them along. Or another member of the family might have them.

The result, say the critics, would be a consumer annoyance, a 10 per cent cash tax on small purchases, or the purchase of duplicating $1 tax cards.

While consumer benefits technically would reduce taxes on 16 price levels below 33 cents and increase taxes only on eight, critics maintain that the practical outcome would be for the average customer to ignore the multiple card system, pay higher taxes on small items, or patronize large business firms which would offer to absorb a cash tax on small items rather than annoy customers—a competitive practice that would not help the little retailer, the forgotten man whom the plan is intended to benefit.

During February 2,084 applicants were added to old age assistance rolls.

The state's new intangible tax will produce close to $3,500,000 revenue.

The Corner Pulpit

"The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed...The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven."—St. Matthew 13:31-33.

"A mustard seed is a very tiny thing, but it has great possibilities of growth. Yeast is hidden in the dough; yet it causes the whole mass to rise in lightness.

Christianity began with small beginnings; with One in touch with God. He drew to Himself a small company of men and women and entrusted to them His task—to change the world by winning it back from the powers of evil. At times those early Christians met with great opposition; but the work prospered, until others said of them that they were turning the world upside down.

A certain Scotch clergyman said during the last war, that if ten people could be found in each parish in England, wholly devoted to the will of God, the whole level of the thinking of a nation would be changed. Small groups of people have always been the leaven for the world in days of darkest need.

Are there such groups within the churches of our community?

3 ESCAPE INJURY

Karl Schneider, jr., Richard Hammel and Jack Osburn narrowly escaped serious injury, Sunday afternoon, when the car in which they were riding left the highway and balanced between a tree and the cement abutment of the North Main street bridge over the River Raisin in Adrian. It was not until after 9 o'clock Sunday evening that a garage service wrecker was able to remove the car. The accident happened when a car in front of the Schneider car stopped suddenly at the approach of the bridge, believing it too narrow to permit the passage of his car and a car that was approaching. Young Schneider, in an effort to avoid striking the suddenly halted car, applied his brakes. None of the boys suffered serious injury. The car was not badly damaged.

Boar's Head Dinner To Be Served Here April 1

An old English boar's head dinner, the subject for a variety of legends, is being sponsored in Tecumseh by the D. A. R., and will be served in the gymnasium of Tecumseh high school on Tuesday evening, April 1, at 6:30 o'clock. It will be open to the public. Included in the program that will follow will be a floor show and an address by Adolfo G. Dominquez, Mexican consul, who will discuss pan-American friendship.

Many stories are told about the old English boars head dinners, always served during the winter months when huntsmen sought the wild boar. Royal banquets as early as 1170 featured such dinners, and in 1588 turkey was added to the menu and later potatoes. Frumenty, a food made of wheat and boiled milk with raisins, sugar and spices, the basis of the now popular mince pie, made its first appearance on tables laden with boar's head.

A boar's head dinner is still regulary served at Queens College, Oxford, and several times at the royal table during the reign of Queen Victoria.

The local dinner, it was said, will include all of the foods so popular at the early dinners, and all attendants will be in costume.

TELLS BENEFIT OF CITY GOV'T.

PLYMOUTH MANAGER IS ROTARY SPEAKER; BRUCE NAMED PRESIDENT

Clarence H. Elliott, manager of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, for the past five years, was the guest speaker at the regular noonday luncheon of the Rotary club here, when Mr. Elliott discussed advantages of manager government, declaring that it is possible to effect tax savings under such a system.

Pointing out that it would be impossible for him to make any definite statements as to Tecumseh's possible savings without first conducting a survey, Mr. Elliott declared that beyond doubt economies effected would be sufficient to more than offset a manager's salary. In Plymouth, he said, he had for several years brought about interest savings amounting to $10,000 annually.

"There is nothing mysterious about the manager form of government," the speaker pointed out. "It is just sound business principles applied to government. In Tecumseh you have an assessed valuation of more than $2,000,000. Your village is a $2,000,000 corporation, yet you ask half a dozen men, who receive $60 annually for their work, to give of their time to operate this two-million dollar business successfully."

Cities and villages that have turned to the manager form, he declared, are effecting neat tax savings, and are finding that through the coordination of departments, and the elimination of department heads, the business of government functions more smoothly.

At the meeting of the club's board of directors, immediately following the meeting, William Bruce was named as president of the club for the year 1941-42, taking office in June. E. M. Campbell, the retiring president becomes vice-president. Wade L. Jones and Lester Rogers were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Other guests at Tuesday's meeting were Rev. Fr. John Ross and J. R. Foreman of Clinton, Charles Spies of Adrian, and A. L. Van Winkle of Tecumseh.

Oh, Yes, Mr. W. L. Jones, Clothes Do Make The Man

While he may not have told his wife, Wade L. Jones, well-known former Tecumseh and Adrian clothier who for many years has practiced and preached that "clothes make the man," recently was guilty of a social error.

Mr. Jones a few days ago attended a meeting at Detroit of Michigan clothiers. Upon his return here he told his friends of a "delightful convention," but he failed to mention his error. It was not until last Sunday, in one of the state newspapers, that the news came out. Here it is, as it was printed in the Jackson Citizen-Patriot:

One of the best known lads in our Middlewest is none other than Wade L. "Winkie" Jones, sage of Tecumseh, city clerk, and man-about-town. Long a high official in the Michigan Retail Clothing Assn., "Wrink" attends most of the doings staged by that organization. Recently they pitched one in Detroit. Wade lingered for afternoon crullers and mush so just had about enough time to climb into his zoopanvish and make the speaker's table. Humming a song about the birds and the bees, this pride of Tecumseh pulled on his Tux coat and the sleeve came to his ELBOWS! Seems like "Winkie" had tossed in his SON'S outfit instead of his OWN—take it from here, Toots!

At the evening session the fifth degree was conferred on a class of 10 candidates among them Mr. and Mrs. Don Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Opel and Blanche Strahle of Tipton, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Winkin of Onsted.

The next meeting will be held April 3 at the Rollin Grange hall with the home economics committee arranging the program.

WARRIORS WIN CAGE TOURNEY

TO PLAY BLISSFIELD THIS EVENING IN REGIONAL MEET AT YPSI

By Bob Larsen

The Tecumseh high school cage cage team proved itself victorious in the District Basketball Tournament at Dundee last Friday and Saturday evenings, defeating Ida and Lambertville schools by easy margins. Tecumseh was on the long end of a 29 to 16 score with Ida, and downed Lambertville, 48 to 27.

Besides winning the gold cage trophy, to be added to other athletic souvenirs at the high school here, Tecumseh also won the right to Dundee to enter in the regional tournament to be played at Ypsilanti, tonight, Friday and Saturday. At Ypsilanti, Tecumseh must play Blissfield, the only team in the Lenawee league that defeated the Warriors during the season. Twice the Sugar Boys downed the Indians, and the game in Ypsi tonight is expected to be filled with fight. The Warriors are determined that Blissfield will not be victorious three times in a row, and they also are determined to repay the Sugar Eaters for the two defeats by trouncing them in the tournament.

Mohr, Wilson, Carlson, Green and Des Ermia started for Tecumseh against Ida and Lenardson and Hamilton were substituted during the game. Green led with eight points, Wilson with seven, Lenardson five, Des Ermia four, Carlson three, Mohr two, and Hamilton nothing.

Mohr, Wilson, Lenardson, Carlson and Green started for Tecumseh against Lambertville, Spillman, Des Ermia and Laidlaw were substituted during the game. Wilson led the field with 14 points, Carlson close behind with 12, Des Ermia eight, Green six, Mohr five, Lenardson three, Spillman and Laidaw nothing.

Wilson was the star of the Lambertville game and for once classed any man on the floor. He was conspicious for his fast breaks and he carried the offensive for Tecumseh throughout the game. Carlson played a splendid game each night, considering that he was ill for three days before the tournament started. Green played both games despite illness and seemed to have to drive himself each step of the way.

Wilson is ill at the present time and it is not known whether he will play against Blissfield or not. It will be a great loss to the team if he is unable to participate.

THERE'S NO SUBSTITUTE

Your newspaper comes to your home once each week or each day, as the case may be, and it is certain to receive attention. In a vast majority of the homes it is a welcome visitor. Some member of the family is expecting it, waiting for it, glad to receive it. It is given an immediate admission to the family circle, furnishes a basis for hours of conversation and discussion, and in nine out of ten instances is read by every member of the family before it is discarded.

Impartial surveys conducted by colleges, advertising agencies and manufacturers show that no other news or advertising medium as yet has been able to approach or nearly approach the newspaper's high standard of value in the eyes of the American family. Even the radio, with its thrilling and colorful stories, its hour-long dramas, its news broadcasts and free advertising gifts, finds that it cannot win the American home from the American newspaper. "Shut that thing off. I'm reading," is a common and almost daily phrase in every home, a family decree that the radio, despite the millions it is spending, must be silenced when the newspaper reading time arrives. Busy people find that it takes two or three times as long to listen to a news broadcast as it does to read the same material in a newspaper. You cannot skip parts of a news broadcast; you must listen to the whole thing.

The American newspaper very definitely is a part of American life, a part of the American way of living. It is an American institution. Hundred of millions of them are sold each week to an ever increasing market, conclusive proof that Americans, for pleasure and for information, prefer the newspaper in its present form.

No other medium can come within a mile of furnishing the comprehensive information available in the neat order of the news and advertising columns of the newspaper.

LIPSTICK — AN AFFRONT TO THE STATE!

Grandmother was old at forty. Or if she was unusually vigirous she might be forty-five before she took to sitting by the fireplace and wearing lace caps at home and "bonnets" for church.

Today a woman of forty still has a firm hold on life. Some of the glamorous ladies of Hollywood have been making pictures for 20 years. Several of our most popular actresses are frankly this old. And everywhere there are young women of forty and more still feeling, and what is more, looking young. Perhaps that is half the battle.

Grandmother frizzed her hair with curl papers and used a little rice powder now and then. Today's woman goes in frankly for permanent waves, for creams and lotions and make-up. The right use of face powder is considered a virtue and lipstick is a badge of courage with which any woman is able to face the world more bravely. Indeed, with the help of diet, exercise and cosmetics, she has gone a long way toward discovering the fountain of youth and her life of usefulness has been lengthened by a decade or more.

But across the ocean there are countries where an interest in looks is frowned on and make-up is considered an affront to the state. Woman's place is definitely in the home and her job is motherhood, or work in field or factory depending on the demands of the state. So what does it matter how she looks? The men of those countries propose to run them in their own way without feminine suggestions or advice and each year women are surrounded by more of the limitations from which we had, with such pains, escaped. A woman in these countries is no longer an individual with freedom of expression and actions. She no longer has an opportunity for higher education or a professional career of her own if her bent is that way.

The threat of the dictator countries is bed enough for men. But for women it means the end of everything for which she has struggled for hundreds of years. Our freedom to take part in the affairs of our communities . . . to be companions to our children . . .to dress as we please and can afford. . .to use the beauty-giving preparations that modern business has provided. . .to be young and useful for into "middle age" all depend on living in a country whose government believes the individual is more important than the state. . .And that women are individuals as well as men!

The Corner Pulpit

"For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." (St. Matthew 6-14-15)

Our greatest problem in life is to get along with other people. If a machine breaks down in a factory, emergency steps at least can usually be taken which will soon restore production. But let a strike impend or take place—something which involves human feelings and emotions—and the remedy is much more complicated. Men with high ideals give themselves to a noble cause, and instead of having their efforts appreciated, the very people they are trying to serve criticize and ridicule them. Sooner or later we all encounter experiences along this line, and the temptation is to become disappointed, or bitter, or suspicious, or resentful. Regardless of who or what is at fault, it is a law of the spirit that if our relationships with others are not loving and forgiving, then our contact with God is lessened, if not broken.

Have the nations learned to forgive? Not yet. Wars create more wars that pile up hate and bitterness that takes generations to heal. But nations will never learn to forgive until the individuals within them master the art.

If you find it difficult to forgive, meditate on these words of Jesus. More people are kept away from a real experience of God by an unforgiving spirit than by almost anything else.

Eight Balls of Fire and how they can travel!

IF you like fireworks, and who doesn't, it's really too bad you can't see what goes on inside that sparkling big Buick FIREBALL eight that romps you so easily down the broad highway.

There you'd see eight busy cylinders, with pistons flashing up and down . . .

You'd see each fuel charge packed tight into a tiny bundle shaped like a flattened ball . . .

You'd see the spark leap, the flame spread, the piston thrust down with extra force as each furious fireball lets go its pent-up wallop.

You'd see all this happening as fast as thirty times a second in each of those eight cylinders—and we think you'd understand then just why there's such a special and exciting satisfaction in the way a Buick travels.

Gasoline gives up more of its power when it's packed as tightly as it is here.

That special, flat-tened-ball shape of the compressed fuel charge means smoother, better burning, full focus of the power on the piston head, where it counts.

So when you've got these eight balls of fire working busily under the bonnet, you really travel!

You travel farther on every gallon and you travel more pleasurably.

You travel—but, shucks! Why listen to talk when there's a Buick dealer nearby waiting to show you how you travel behind a FIREBALL?

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Designed on a large scale; and giving an impression of even greater spaciousness than is evidenced by the well planned interior, the Oakleigh is a low rambling, farmhouse type of home which requires a plot with 100 foot frontage for full effectiveness and desired proportion between home and land.

Note that the garage of this All-American Home has been planned lengthwise, giving extended length to the entire structure, and suggesting a charming circular roadway as part of the landscaping.

For an approximate cost of $6,000 the Oakleigh can be built in or close to this city. Necessary building plans and specifications are available through this newspaper for $3.75. Begin to build at once, and move your family into this All-American Home before the year's over!

"The jewels of Love"

PRECIOUS STONES of rare beauty are set in the crowns of the monarchs of the world; their brilliancy is pleasing, and their monetary value often can scarcely be estimated. There are other stones, individually inexpensive, whose setting is not beautiful, but which have work to do in speeding up industrial production. These stones are small diamonds set in hardest steel, which grind and cut metal in a most effective way. They are valuable because of the work they accomplish.

Certain good and lovely qualities of thought have been likened to jewels, but their true and full worth can be rightly estimated only by those who have learned to discern spiritual good. The materially-minded know little of these jewels, just as the outside world knows little of the work done by the small diamonds in the factories. Among these beautiful qualities are meekness and temperance, and one may attain them, and prove their practical value. These qualities are indispensable to our progress heavenward; but they must be desired, and made one's own.

In "Retrospection and Introspection" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, we read (p. 79): "Be temperate in thought, word, and deed. Meekness and temperance are the jewels of Love, set in wisdom." Many people have a wrong concept of these qualities, and believe that meekness indicates weakness of character and submission to another's human will. Rightly considered, it denotes true strength and a noble attitude of thought. Meekness and humility are, generally speaking, synonymous, and one who is truly meek and lowly is free from pride and arrogance. He is not self-assertive. One who is temperate is moderate in his desires, and therefore is not self-indulgent. Are not these lovely qualities God-given? True wisdom and all right action proceed from God, Mind, and are expressed by the real man, the reflection of God.

Students of the Bible know full well that the great Master, Christ Jesus, was meek and temperate. Under what appeared to be the most trying circumstances, he was gentle and kind. He was strong also, because he was patient. He said of himself (Matthew 11:29) that he was "meek and lowly in heart;" and yet has any man been more richly endowed with the Christ, Truth, than the Master? Because of his meekness he was loving and compassionate. He knew that all good qualities belonged to him as part of man's divine inheritance. This knowledge enabled him to heal the sick, and to restore wholeness to those bound by sinful beliefs. Jesus declared (John 5:30), "I can of mine own self do nothing." It was his clear understanding of God as divine Truth, Life, and Love, and his equally clear recognition of the real man as the image and likeness of God, that enabled the Way-shower to do his good works.

On page 360 of "Miscellaneous Writings" Mrs. Eddy states, "Meekness, moderating human desire, inspires wisdom and procures divine power." This should encourage mankind now, for many progressive, clear thinkers are doing this, for they know that it enables them to make right decisions, and to deal justly with new home and where is it wise to buy the best? This is a problem that most home builders face more than once during construction. And what is the answer? It is a problem that every home owner must settle to the best of his ability with the help of his contractor and architect.

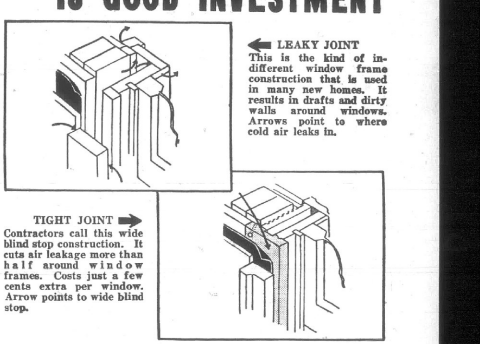
Replacement Big Factor

There is one general principle that can be set down here, however. Briefly, it is this. Any part of your house that it is not practical to replace should have the best in construction materials. By this, we mean such items as footings and foundation, timber skeleton and frame work, windows and window frames, which are really part of the house frame, concealed ducts and wiring. All these things must last the life of the house.

Wiser to Wait

It is wiser to wait for some of the attractive furnishings and fixtures until more money is available, rather than to skimp on

FEW CENTS EXTRA FOR TIGHT WINDOW FRAMES IS GOOD INVESTMENT



Don't overlook the importance of the lowly window frame when you build your new house. It is the one thing that permanently joins your windows with the framework of your house. A window frame properly constructed keeps out dirt and drafts by making a weather-tight joint with the wall. A window frame indifferently constructed will allow as much as 174 cubic feet of air per hour to leak into your home, air that is often loaded with dust, to dirty up walls and cause drafts.

Good Construction Costs Little

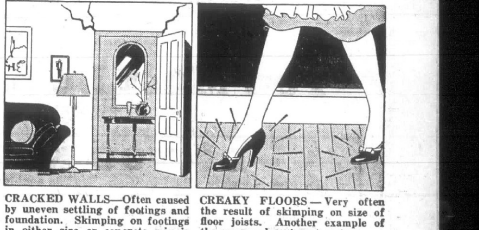
Wide blind stop construction in window frames has been in use for many years, yet jerry builders will use frames without it in order to cut costs without regard to consequences. This type of construction costs about 30c to 50c more per window opening than ordinary construction and it will quickly pay for itself in heat saved and added comfort.

Window Frames Permanent

Remember window frames are a permanent part of the wall in your new home. To tear them out and replace them is not only a mess but a big expense as well. The easiest way to avoid leaky window frames in your new home is to buy frames that make a weathertight wall joint and that means wide blind stop construction.

SKIMPING IN WRONG PLACES OFTEN COSTLY IN LONG RUN

CUTTING COSTS ON FUNDAMENTALS MEANS ENDLESS TROUBLE AND EXPENSE IN YEARS TO COME



CRACKED WALLS—Often caused by uneven settling of footings and foundation. Skimping on footings in either size or concrete mix is poor economy.

CREAKY FLOORS—Very often the result of skimping on size of floor joists. Another example of the wrong place to cut costs.

DRAFTY WINDOWS—Result of poor fitting and cheap construction. A few dollars extra spent for precision built windows and frames would save enough in fuel costs to pay for slight extra cost.

fundamental parts of a house which will only mean costly repairs, excessive heating bills and disgust and discomfort in years to come. Remember: if you can't replace them, make them good.

Base Burners No Longer Hold Charm For Lads and Lassies of Michigan

LANSING, Mar. 13—Something has happened to Michigan in the winter-time.

It is this colorful thing called "winter sports."

As a tonic for war jitters, view for a moment the following picture of Michigan's 1941 winter sport season and then judge for yourself whether it merits the verdict of a "truly remarkable development."

When grandma and grandpa were young, they were apt to hug the base-burners on snappy, wintery days. Now, Michigan's post-war, depression-jsired generation of lads and lassies don bright rainbow-hued duds, climb into a train or bus or automobile, and within a few hours they are reveling in the great outdoors.

To lean on a very trite saying—yes, times have changed!

Until a decade or two ago the northern summer playground of Michigan was practically isolated from easy public access during a seemingly long winter.

Today the highways of concrete are kept clear of snow, day and night, by huge motorized plows, "Big Berthas" of the road.

Railroad excursions transport thousands of city dwellers to northern sport centers for an inexpensive week end or Sunday holiday. Comfortable buses maintain schedules with regularity. Modern automobiles, warmed by heaters, are veritable Pullmans on rubber.

Add to this the short work-week, often ending on Friday afternoon, and the resultant expanse of leisure play time, and it all amounts to this: Winter sports constitute the fastest growing recreational field in Michigan today!

In every northern community you can find certain outdoor enthusiasts who for years have foreseen a bright future in our northern climate and our rugged hills and steep valleys.

Uncle Sam put it over.

Say what you care about federal spending, the fact remains that tens of thousands of dollars have literally poured into Michigan winter recreational facilities, money which otherwise would not have been available.

Due to generous support of the federal park service, state conservation department, and Civilian Conservation corps, Grayling offers today the finest public toboggan set-up in the entire United States, and this isn't paid ballyhoo. Six steel slides are the only ones of their kind anywhere not excluding Lake Placid or Sun Valley. Two ski tows have been in operation; next season there will be three.

Nineteen snow trains journeyed during the 1940-41 season to Grayling, a gain of nearly one-third over the previous high. The weekly payroll at the park is between $500 and $700. Soon Grayling will offer a semi-professional bobsled run with sleds guided by expert drivers. A 95-foot professional ski jump is to be ready for 1942.

On the west side of the state, lower peninsula, is another federal-sponsored project, the Cadillac winter sport area 15 miles from Cadillac, right in the heart of the Manistee National Forest.

Ski addicts enthuse of its 1200-foot ski tow that serves 15 downhill runs.

A toboggan slide, a half mile long, has a wide sweeping curve at the finish, requiring installation of a field telephone between starter and finish crew to assure public safety.

Unknown almost a year ago, the Cadillac area has soared quickly into high popularity. It serves a populous area from Grand Rapids to Chicago.

Over on the east side of the state is Silver Valley, a few miles west of East Tawas and situated in the Huron National Forest.

For a picturesque name, Silver Valley has all the word magic of Union Pacific's high-powered Sun Valley.

It is a lovely valley winding through a forest of pine and spruce. When wrapped with a white blanket of snow, it possesses startling grandeur.

Facilities: Skiing, tobogganing, ice skating. Attendance was double that of the previous season. Visitors widely proclaim Silver Valley to be an ideal winter playground.

At Gaylord, highest point of the lower peninsula, are two private ski clubs—the Otsego Ski club, with a log clubhouse overlooking the majestic Valley of White Sands through which the Sturgeon river twists and also the Vanderbilt Ski club, with its superb, breath-taking thrill of a 1400-foot run in a sheer 18 seconds' time.

Snow trains convey Detroit and Toledo sport lovers for a Friday-to-Monday holiday. The Gaylord Chamber of Commerce has been cooperating enthusiastically.

Harrison has two skating rinks, a new mile-long ski run, and a daredevil toboggan slide.

Lewiston's toboggan slide, the "baby" of 1941, is growing up fast.

The Newaygo winter sport park on M-37 has a toboggan slide, skating rinks and natural ski runs. A second toboggan slide is planned for 1942.

Petoskey and Alpena have been publicized for their ice skating. Petoskey has a public ski tow. Alpena claims its rink to be the finest in the north.

Ionia's Bertha M. Brock park on M-21 has skating, skiing and tobogganing. Handicap: Unpredictable thaws.

Other communities by the dozen hold winter carnivals with skating events, presided over by an inevitable winter queen.

CHILD KILLED, 3 OTHERS HURT IN CAR MISHAPS

JENNIE DORR, 10, OF NEAR CLINTON, DIES, CRASH AT BILLINGTON'S

A 10-year-old Clinton school girl was killed and three other persons, all from California, were seriously injured, in two automobile accidents near here, late yesterday afternoon and early evening.

Jennie May Dorr, aged 10 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dorr, who live about three-and-a half miles west of Clinton on US-112, was fatally injured at 4:30 o'clock, Wednesday, when she ran into the side of a passing car. The accident happened almost in front of the child's home.

State police said that Jennie May and her sister, Marjorie, aged 11, had just stepped out of an automobile, and that the child dashed across the highway and into the car, which she apparently did not see. She died instantly. An effort was made by her sister to save her but to no avail.

The car which the child hit was driven by Raymond F. Brekke of Gully, Minnesota. Coroner Paul Mott and state troopers investigated the fatality and decided, after Brekke's statement, that an inquest was not necessary and Brekke was not held.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoff and two-year-old daughter, of Chester, Calif., are in Tecumseh hospital suffering from injuries they received in a crash at Billington's Corners, the intersection of M-50 and M-52, three miles west of here, last evening at 6:15. Hospital reports said that they were suffering from bruises and lascerations about their heads and bodies, but that their condition is not believed dangerous. X-rays were to be made this morning.

This accident happened, state police said, when Hoff failed to observe a stop sign as he approached M-50 over M-52 from the south. The Hoff car was hit about the middle by a car driven by Paul W. Palmer of Hudson, Michigan, going west on M-50. Mr. Palmer escaped without serious injury.

Sportsmen's Smoker To Be Held Here, Mar. 31

Plans have been formulated by the Lenawee County Conservation League for a sportsman's party to be held in the Witherell hall on Monday evening, March 31, at 8 p. m., according to C. A. Wagner, local board member and secretary of the League.

Lenawee County Conservation Officer Leslie Olmstead will give a short discussion on phases of the game laws and will also be open to questions from the audience pertaining to the gamé laws. Refreshments will be served.

It is expected that this party will attract considerable attention from the vicinities of Tipton, Clinton, Britton and Tecumseh. Tickets are on sale at all of these points and those wishing to attend this party should obtain their tickets as soon as possible before the supply is exhausted.

Tickets may be obtained from Earl Griffin and at Kuster's Grocery, Britton; Milton Johnston Gas Station, Clinton; Ken Moore, Seven Acres; Red and White store, Tipton; and Baldwin Hdwe. Co., Wilson Super Service, Chris Taylor Barber Shop and Gamble Store, or league members at Tecumseh.

For 15 Years a Herald Reporter She Rhymes a Story About Her Job

Mrs. Irene C. Williams, Holloway correspondent for The Tecumseh Herald for about 15 years, and who has written hundreds and thousands of items about the folk living in that vicinity, last week read an editorial in The Herald, pointing out that there is no substitute in America for the American newspaper. It gave her a thought. She suddenly realized that for a decade and a half she had played a definite part in the newspaper game; that she was doing her bit to bring to the folk of this trading area the news about her neighbors and friends; news that they could not find except in the American home town newspaper.

Mrs. Williams is given to writing poetry, and to express her thought about a newspaper reporter's job, she penned the following rhyming story, entitled "My Job."

I've written for The Herald for fifteen years or more,
And, though I do ask questions,
no one has yet got sore.
I ask how this or that one feels,
when I hear they are sick,
And write it up the best I can.
Sometimes it's pretty slick!
I ask about their company, I ask about their trips;
They tell me of their measles and they tell me of their grips.
I ask about their husbands, and
I ask about their wives,
I think they like to tell me of how things affect their lives.
If weddings come along, I go right to the telphone
And ask and ask and ask and ask,
till my voice is harsh in tone.
I find out too, They tell me all about their weddings, nice;
About the service, dinner, trip, old shoes, "Bride's Gown," and rice.
When death comes, as it often does, and funerals, so sad;
I try to write so those who are left will not feel quite so bad.
I write of "Church," and meetings there, of suppers, served for money,
Of Sunday School, and Ladies Aid, entertainments grave or funny.
I write of schools and P. T. A., of programs grand or simple,
Of socials, teas, and luncheons and of boys and girls with dimples.
Oh! I just write of everything that folks around will tell me,
In fact, I do so write well they never try to quell me.
The best part of it all is this; It is a satisfaction
To know that folks are willing to cooperate with action.
I get the news and send it in. Tecumseh Herald prints it.
Folks read it and enjoy it, too. It is not long in transit,
And if, some day, I quit my job,
and some one else takes over.
I hope they'll love it, as I have,
through years of real endeavor.

SIMPLY GUESSING

If you have any doubt but that Democracy leads the parade so far as living standards are concerned, it would be well for you to read the survey recently completed by Sherman Rogers.

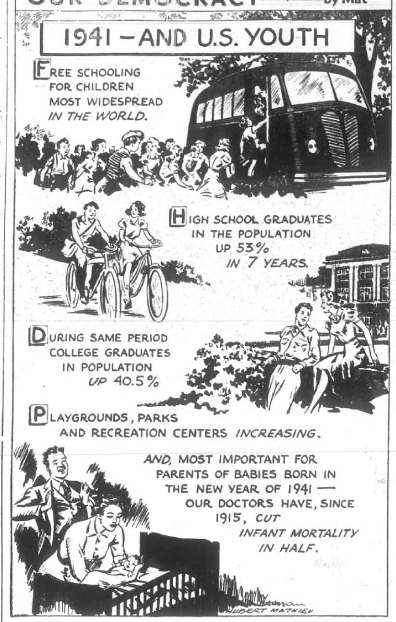
Mr. Rogers spent three weeks of his own time, going from place to place asking average employees of manufacturers how much they believed they were receiving from each dollar produced by the firm that employed them. Mr. Rogers interviewed 518 men. Of that number, 86 believed that they received less than one cent out of each dollar; 378, including the 86, believed that they got less than five cents, and only four out of the 518 thought they got as much as 10 cents.

But what were the facts. Statistics show that the men were entirely and wholly wrong. They were simply guessing. Apparently they had been misinformed, or had never given the question serious thought. Federal statistics show that out of all the income received and paid out by manufacturers of the United States, the employee received 84 cents of each dollar. That is some different than less than a cent, or even less than 10 cents, as the men believed.

And that also is why the average American can buy shoes, clothing, potatoes, butter—in fact more of everything with just an hour's work than can the workman in any other country in the world. America gives more cents out of every manufacturer's dollar, and as the result the buying power per hour's peak is in the United States.

There are many theories. There are those who would over-throw this government. There are those who prefer—they say—dictatorship to democracy. There are those who are dissatisfied, and who do their best to make the fellow working next to them dissatisfied.

There's no room in a democracy for these kind of people. American Democracy in every way is the greatest giver of freedom and prosperity on the earth.



TEACHERS GIVEN HEALTH DEPARTMENT BACKING IN NEW RULING

Teachers who send home boys or girls appearing with watery eyes, inflamed throats, fever or rash now have the authority of the Michigan Department of Health for their action, in protecting the health of their pupils.

Symptoms such as these may mean anything from measles to smallpox, and are sufficient reason for exclusion by the teacher under a new ruling of the State Council of Health.

"Good teachers have always been alert to the early symptoms of communicable disease, and have promptly excluded pupils showing such symptoms," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "Now for the first time teachers are given the backing of an official regulation of the Michigan Department of Health. Home and school cooperation in excluding boys and girls with suspicious symptoms of communicable disease may be the means of preventing epidemics.

"The new ruling of the State Council of Health puts our Health Department regulations in line with the best school health practice of today. The Department of Public Instruction is in hearty agreement with this policy of teacher responsibility. There are times when boys and girls ought not to be in school, both for their own good and for the protection of their classmates. We have outgrown the idea that a perfect attendance record should be achieved even at a risk to health."

The Corner Pulpit

"Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God." (St. Matthew 5:9)

Last week the problem of getting along with other people was discussed here, and the need for forgiveness was emphasized. Forgiveness was laid down as one of the necessary conditions for right relationships between man and God, and man and his fellows. Someone has offered ten practical rules for dealing with those with whom we differ, and as a continuation of last week's thought they are quoted:

"1. I will always seek to discover the best and strongest point in the other person's position.

2. I will credit him with sincerity.

3. I will not listen to gossip.

4. I will avoid classifying him, and assuming that he has all the characteristics of the class to which he is supposed to belong.

5. I will emphasize our agreements.

6. When others criticize, I will bring out favorable points.

7. When there is misunderstanding, either I of him, or he of me, I will go to him directly, if possible.

8. I will remember that God's truth is too big for any one mind.

9. I will never ridicule another's faith.

10. I will pray for those with whom I differ."

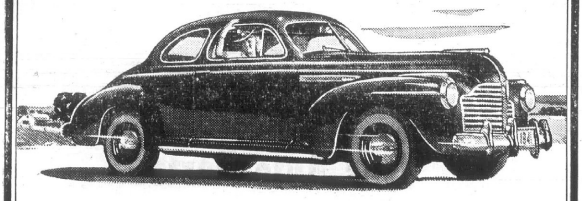
AIR'S FREE
so why not use it?



GETTING right down to it, one reason why you get as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon from a 1941 FIREBALL Buick with Compound Carburetion is that this engine is supplied with more air.

For it is a mixture of gasoline and air that gives you power.

A single carburetor, no matter how many jets it has, can handle only so much air.

But two carburetors that function as needed, as is the case in Compound Carburetion, can meet any fuel-supply need from low-speed to heavy-power use — and always provide a well-balanced mixture.

They can double the air supply as well as the gasoline feed — and that's something you can't do in any single-carburetor car.

So Compound Carburetion gets as much as 800 miles for the gas-cost of 700 in earlier Buicks of the same size.

It also provides a walloping big bank of reserve power, which means an up-and-at-'em lift and surge that's nothing short of thrilling to experience.

And you can have Compound Carburetion, you know, on any 1941 Buick — it's only a few dollars extra on the swell big SPECIAL pictured here, and standard equipment on all other models.

Church Army Captain To Give Lenten Talk

Sunday evening, March 23, the fourth in the series of Sunday evening Lenten lectures will be held in St. Peter's church, beginning at 7 o'clock. The speaker will be Captain Edgar A. Lucas of the Church Army in Detroit. His subject will be "The History and Work of the Church Army." Captain Lucas is the executive secretary of the Big Brother Movement in Detroit. This is an organized effort on the part of Detroit business men to rehabilitate boys who have come within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.

The Church Army began in the Church of England in 1882. In more recent years it started in the Episcopal Church in this country. It is somewhat like the Salvation Army, except that it is under the control of the church. It is made up of both men and women who are organized along military lines as an army of christians, and trained to evangelize and minister to people who are "down and out" and not ordinarily reached by the regular parochial methods. Most of its work in England and here is carried on in the larger cities where social problems are most acute. The work of Captain Lucas in the juvenile court in Detroit naturally comes within the program of the Church Army.

Tonight at 7:45, the vestry and all the men of St. Peter's church will meet in the office of the Tecumseh Finance Company on W. Chicago Blvd. for the second in a series of Lenten study classes on the prayer book.

Mr and Mrs B. W. Mominee win free tickets to Strand Theatre.

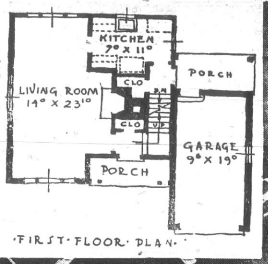
SECOND FLOOR PLAN

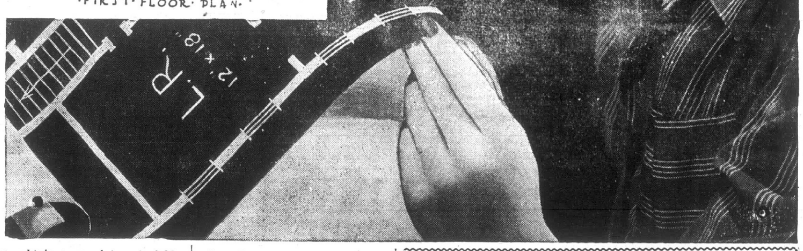


FIRST FLOOR PLAN

Planned as evidence that a story-and-a-half house can be adequate for all the needs of the family, the Cedars, is an All-American Home, featuring attractive dormer windows.

Exceptional is the brightness of the living room, with windows providing three-way light and ventilation. One of the unique details of the Cedars is the fact that its gracefully sloping roof descends to a lower level; enhancing the architectural design of the structure, and making the garage inconspicuous.

It will cost approximately $5,000 to build the Cedars right in this city, or its environs. Complete blue prints and specifications from which to start building immediately are being offered by this newspaper.



FHA Loan Will Help You Build, Own Your Home

INTRODUCING a brand new series of All American Homes for Families with High Standards and Modest Means, the Herald today presents The Cedars, pictured above.

Modern in every respect and planned by the Monthly Small House Club's architect to conform with FHA requirements. The Cedars can be built for approximately $5,000 and paid for as easily as you now pay rent.

Local interested merchants, collaborating with the Herald in presenting the All American Homes, are prepared to assist you toward the fulfillment of your own home owning dreams.

A coupon accompanying this announcement shows you how you may obtain a complete set of blue prints and building specifications, prepared by the Monthly Small House club, for the Cedars.

Investigate now by calling on any one of the firms collaborating in the presentation of The All American Series of Homes.

SCHOOL NOTES

Chapel

For Chapel last Monday, Miss Humphrey led us in singing "Little Brown Church in the Vale," and Gay Larsen favored us by playing the selection "Arabian Nights," on the piano. Reverend McGehee spoke on the question "What reason have we for living?" Are we living to be a good student or living to help others? He illustrated this point by telling us about two doctors who could have been the most famous doctors in the United States but who chose instead to go into the interior and work for almost nothing in order to help others. We all thought his talk was very interesting, and it was a topic that started us thinking about our reasons for living. We are looking forward to Reverend McGehee's next visit.

Chapel Notes

As usual our Monday morning chapel service was opened with a salute to the flag. A short selection was played by the band assisted by the girls' and boys' chorus. Our speaker of the morning was one of our own teachers, Mr Brazee. The theme of his talk was the thought of life.

Student Council Notes

The March 4 meeting of the Student Council was in the form of a discussion, principally about enlarging the Council. Dorothy Higgins, Dalton Van Valkenburg, and Ruth Brainard were appointed to draft a new Constitution, It was suggested that we allow the vice-presidents of the classes to be the additional members of the Council. It was also suggested that the Council charter organizations in the school and allow the charter organizations to elect representatives to the Council. The president suggested that we sponsor a Bible Study class. This would be made up of students only and would be of no particular denomination. No action was taken on this matter.

Show Case

The show case this week attracts the attention of everyone that passes. As you stop and linger you notice first a large white placard which says, "Why We Believe in Taking Art." It gives the following reasons: "1. It helps in preparing projects for other subjects. 2 Improves our perception of color, line and of proportion. 3 Deepens our appreciation which later may lead to one's vocations."

A group of puppets encircle the center of the show case. These were made by the eighth grade art class, who also made wooden plaques with copper designs.

The big attraction of the students made interesting and curious masks with paper, paste, and paints. The masks are placed in the show case just above the phases and puppets. At the right and left of the show case there may be seen cards containing the alphabet in different styles of printing, made by the high school art class. On one shelf there are several pieces of cloth with printed designs on the corners. The students took a square piece of linoleum and carved a design on it, then they inked it and stamped the piece of cloth with this design, with very pleasing results. In the lower corner of the show case there are crepe paper animals which are very funny and cute. Because the show case was so full, Miss Humphrey had to put a line outside the case to hold pictures drawn to the music of "Au Clair de Lune" and "Tales of Vienna Woods."

Eighth Grade Assembly Program

The eighth grade gave an assembly program on the morning of March 12th. The announcer was Sammy Watson.

To start the program a group sang "The Cat Came Back." Then our friend, Earl Cook, recited the poem, "The Spankweed." Next Theoyne Eggleston did her part by singing "Poor Little Butterfly." We had a Dutch wheelbarrow candy kisses to the audience. Lenore Larsen gave her version of how she studies Algebra. This was dramatized very cleverly.

At the conclusion of this, Barbara Kerby and Ruth Schneider did very well in a Military Tap Dance, which was received with much enthusiasm.

Arthur Cubberly recited "Betty and the Bear." Next there was a piano selection played by Winona Waldron. A few of the boys then put on a tumbling act. This was followed by a popular number, "Call of the Canyon," sung by Carol Batchelor. Then Richard played on her guitar and sang, "Back in the Saddle Again," and last, but not least, a trio played "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain."

The eighth graders did very well in their program. We appreciated it very much.

TAX AMENDMENTS BEFORE VOTERS

WILL BE DECIDED UPON AT THE SPRING ELECTION ON APRIL 7

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing, March 20 — Typical of a mental confusion which seems to prevail in Michigan, and apparently in the entire country for that matter, during these emotionally exciting days of 1941 is the current controversy over two amendments to Michigan's constitution to be submitted to voters at the April 7 election.

It may be news to you that Michigan just having amended its constitution in November with regard to civil service, is again busy with new proposals.

And, paradoxically enough, the two amendments have to do with how we could amend our constitution in the future, or initiate new legislation and veto or uphold legislation already enacted.

Whereas the civil service amendment was instituted by popular petition, the two amendments for April originated within the 1941 state legislature.

Complications are few, yet interesting.

Last year the Michigan State Supreme court ruled that election officials cannot go behind the face of petitions to challenge names and to prosecute persons who affix fraudulent signatures.

As the constitution now reads, any "qualified" voter is eligible to take part in instituting legislation, or asking for a referendum on legislative action, or even proposing an amendment to the constitution itself.

The flexibility of the word "qualified" and the difficulty of ascertaining the genuineness of signatures has led to abuses, particularly in the Detroit area. There a racket has sprung up whereby signatures for petitions are obtained for a price, and only careful and somewhat expensive checking can determine whether the signatures are real or faked.

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly became convinced that action should be taken to curb this petition fraud. He summoned Oakley Distil, secretary of the Wayne county election commission. The net result was a recommendation to the legislature that petition signatures be limited to "registered" voters.

Interestingly enough, this recommendation was made after the senate judiciary committee had suddenly reported out a resolution containing other drastic restrictions and after the senate had suspended its rules and passed it to the House. Recalled back to the senate (almost an unprecedented accomplishment), the resolution was amended and was again passed by the senate by almost unanimous vote. The house then voted overwhelmingly in favor of it.

There was no trace of partisanship in the legislature's move.

And here is where the confusion begins.

In itself an avowed reform, the amendments have been condemned by the League of Women Voters, at least in hundreds of telegrams dispatched to legislators, and also, strangely too, by several well-known reformers.

One is Professor James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan, so-called father of the 1937 civil service bill in its original form and a political science authority of considerable repute. He has labelled the amendments as being undemocratic in principle and hence not desirable.

John Lovell, long connected with good government movement in Wayne county, has also disapproved of the restrictions proposed.

Furthermore, the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research recently announced, in an analysis, that "there is no emergency requiring immediate action" and consequently that "minor changes should be deferred for consideration at the constitutional convention" should the voters decide in November, 1942, that such general revision was desirable.

The chief criticism against the two amendments centers on the use of one word, "registered," instead of "qualified."

So what?

Well, for one thing, admonish the critics, this change would result in disqualification of from 25 to 35 per cent of those persons who are eligible at present to sign petitions.

For example, Senator Earnest C. Brooks (D) of Holland objects on the ground that the constitution reserves to the "people" the right to initiate. As he sees it, a "registered" voter does not fit the definition of being a part of the "people," although as far as elections go in Michigan, certainly popular government today is limited to voters who are properly "registered" by name and address.

Do you find this distinction finely drawn? Well, here is an observation that is easy to follow. It is by William Markland, able Lansing correspondent of the Detroit News:

"From numerous conversations of the last two months, it seems probable that the desire for a curb on the initiation of constitutional amendments arose largely out of resentment and irritation at the passage of the civil service amendment last November.

"If the amendments to be submitted in April are approved, it will be more difficult for the people to undo what they have accomplished, but when the right time and the right legislature comes along, the legislators can submit, as easily as ever, the proper proposal to do the job."

One reason why the amendment controversy is marked with confusion has been the interest and activity of small loan companies in zealous support of the proposed changes.

The connection between the two amendments and small loan companies seems strangely farfetched, at first.

In the past decade the small loan companies have been harried repeatedly by both legislative and petition attempts to regulate the the rate of interest to be charged monthly.

These assaults have been of two kinds: (1) Genuinely conceived as a social reform; (2) deliberately conceived for mercenary purposes and flying under false colors of "reform" in the cause of the "people."

As long as petitions can be obtained fraudulently, the small loan group reasons that their defense will continue to cost them many good, hard-earned dollars. They welcome with open arms these amendments because in preventing petition fraud the amendments would also ease their burden of defense.

At the same time it can be truthfully said that the small loan companies' interest in the changes was entirely unknown to Secretary of State Kelly when he studied the problem. It is just one of those coincidences that make the situation at Lansing so unusual.

The titles to the amendments, as they will appear on separate ballots April 7, are even confusing in themselves.

The wording is lengthy and hazy. Instead of offering a succinct proposition of "preventing petitions fraud," which would automatically create a mental desire to vote affirmatively, the titles wander in loud terminology and leave the reader in darkness as to their real purpose.

The combination of all these factors (a reform being opposed by reformers, for example) has been to cloud the amendments with confusion, indecisiveness and even apparent contradictions — a condition that is surely in keeping with a greatly perplexed world and is perhaps a psychological by-product of our times.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 40:6,7) is: "All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isaiah 51:6): "Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look on the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Bake Eddy, include the following (p. 265): "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear."

NINETY - FIRST YEAR— NUMBER TWENTY-SIX. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1941. FIVE CENTS PER COPY.

APRIL DRAFT QUOTA BOOSTED

13 REJECTIONS IN MARCH LIST SEND NEXT MONTH'S NUMBER TO 97

Elmer J. Bryan of Tecumseh and William F. Kaiser of Clinton are among the 13 men from the March quota of Lenawee selectees who were rejected after physical examination in Detroit last Thursday and returned to their homes. Others rejected are Edward J. Harpst and Arnold F. Peters of Blissfield, Rex W. Heckman and Irvin O. Rudolph of Morenci, William H. Glisson and Claude W. Murphy of Adrian, Clarence M. Welch of Hudson, Russell C. Riley of Sand Creek, and Roy W. Weber of Addison. Martin J. Schneipp of Riga was deferred for one month.

Because of the rejections, the April quota is increased to at least 97 men.

Announcement has been made that selective service registrants who are placed in Class 1-B, will not be inducted into service as long as there is an adequate supply of Class 1-A men.

Claims for deferment of a registrant under the selective service act may be filed by any person who has cause to claim that such deferment should be made. There has been some doubt among registrants in the state as to the correct statement of claims for deferment and a bulletin issued by the state draft headquarters explains the procedure.

The registrant is entitled to present all the written evidence which he believes to be necessary to assist the local board in determining his proper classification, according to the bulletin. Such evidence, presented by the registrant, should be included in or attached to the questionnaire and may include documents, affidavits or depositions.

However, any other person claiming that the registrant should be deferred should obtain the proper form from the board, make out the claim and file it with the board. Such claims must be made within the five days allowed for the registrant to return his questionnaire.

It is not the intent of the regulations that only the employee can or should furnish information to substantiate a registrant's claim for deferred classification. Any other person may make such substantiating claims on the proper forms.

The bulletin says that the local board has the responsibility for determining if occupational deferment should be granted. It is very important that the board receive the maximum information available.

Men registered under selective service, if they meet other requirements, are also eligible for U. S. Naval aviation reserve training.

To be eligible for aviation training a man must be between 20 and 27 years of age and must have completed two years of college. He must be normally physically fit and his height must be not less than five feet six inches or more than six feet four inches. He must weigh between 132 and 200 pounds.

Applications for the training may be made by selective service registrants up to the time of actual induction into the Army. A new class begins the 15th day of each month. Applications may be made at any naval recruiting station or sub-station.

In addition to quarters and uniforms, men accepted will be paid $84 per month for the first month at Grosse Ile base. During the next seven months in which the course is completed, the trainee receives $105 a month. When he is graduated, he is commissioned as an ensign of the United States Naval Reserve at $205.56 per month. He must fill 18 months of commissioned service after which he can be placed on reserve or transferred to the regular navy with a $500 bonus for each year of active reserve duty.

Applicants must be in possession of birth certificate, college transcript and records, three letters of recommendation and a head and shoulders picture of himself in addition to a record written by himself, of his occupational or military service or training.

Local Firemen 'Speed' 20 M.P.H. To Scene of Blazing Farm House

While flames were consuming the two-story frame house on the old Lentz farm, a mile west and two miles south of Tipton, yesterday afternoon, firemen from the Tecumseh department hurried post haste—as much as 10 or 20 miles an hour—westward along M-50 and toward the scene of the blaze.

It wasn't that the Tecumseh department didn't want to get there—they did—but their derned old truck just wouldn't jog any faster. In fact she quit entirely at Tipton and an accommodating truck driver hooked on and towed the balky motor-powered mule to the scene.

Fortunately, firemen from the Adrian department had been called and their truck worked. They arrived in time to do a good job of fire fighting. Of course the house was damaged, but heaven only knows how much more extensive the loss would have been had Tecumseh been relied upon entirely for assistance.

The blaze started on the second floor of the dwelling where a brooder stove was said to have been in operation. Tecumseh firemen, upon their arrival, assisted the Adrian department. The farm is tenanted by a Mr. Johnson and his family.

Fire Chief B. W. Mominee said that the trouble with the rural truck was in the carburetor. It was driven homeward from the fire for some three or four miles and then towed to the fire barn.

It is understood that this is not the first time that the Tecumseh rural fire truck has balked, and it is likely that a "new fire truck wanted" sign will soon adorn the fire barn doors, unless some mechanic succeeds in finding a remedy for its present ailment.

Ray W. Puffer Buys Dettmann Store, Britton

Ray W. Puffer, for 10 years prior to 1927 manager of the Webster-Anderson dry goods store in Tecumseh, announced today that he had purchased the Lavina Dettman store in Britton, taking possession this week. The Britton store carries a complete dry goods stock, ready-to-wear and men's furnishings.

Mr. Puffer said that he plans to remodel the store extensively and to stock it with a complete line of not only dry goods but both men's and women's furnishings.

Mr. Puffer has had a wide experience in the dry goods and ready-to-wear business, having operated the Boston store in Milan, a style shop in Tecumseh, and for the past nine years has been on the road as a salesman for dry goods houses. He said that the Britton store would not be closed during the remodeling program.

Heart Attack Fatal To Myron J. Hughes

Myron J. Hughes, formerly of Tecumseh, died suddenly Saturday of a heart attack in Guthrie, Ky., where he had made his home since last June with a nephew, A. P. Brokaw.

Mr. Hughes who was 66 years of age was a son of the late John and Harriett Hughes and was born in Tecumseh. He was a retired New York Central railway clerk and made his home in Tecumseh for many years, also moving to Toledo. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and a former member of the Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. Hughes who was Adah Erskine of Tecumseh, before her marriage, died a number of years ago. Mr. Brokaw, the nephew by a second marriage is his closest living relative.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Immaculate Conception church in Clarksville, Tenn., and burial was in Greenwood cemetery in that city.

Tells Of Dakota Storm That Cost Lives Of 77

Francis N. Langthorne, a U. S. border patrol officer, and former resident of Tecumseh now of Mohall, N. Dakota, tells an interesting story of the severe blizzard and dust storm that swept that section, March 15. A total of 77 persons were frozen to death and hundreds of others were injured.

Langthorne says that the storm raged for about 10 hours, with the wind reaching a velocity of 70 70 miles at times. The air was choked with fine snow and dust and the temperature was 15 degrees below zero. Langthorne was not trapped in the storm but on the Sunday following his car broke down a mile and a half from aid and he was forced to walk the distance in a 10 below temperature and against a 40-mile wind. "I just got a taste of the weather," he puts it.

A clipping from the Minneapolis Star, which he enclosed in his letter to J. N. Satterthwaite here, tells how the wind, during the Saturday storm, pushed a Great Northern boxcar some 80 miles from Camp Livingston, La., on a 12-day furlough. He is a member of Co. B., 126th Infantry, Michigan National Guard.

Co, B originally was sent to Camp Beauregard, La., but was transferred to the new camp at Livingston on February 18. The camp is modern in every detail, tents are heated with gas stoves, and the meals are "simply great," according to the Tecumseh boy. He has gained 18 pounds since he entered the Army last fall, all of this despite almost daily hikes of from four to 20 miles, and breakfast at 6 a. m.

Camp Livingston now houses some 30,000 troops and new men are arriving daily under the selective service act. There has been but little illness in the camp, De Puy says, and the men are happy and contented. Livingston is one of the newest army bases, is about five miles by eight miles in size, and is less than 50 miles from the Texas border. Night temperatures sometimes fall below the freezing point, but afternoons are usually warm enough to warrant the wearing of slacks and sweat shirts.

Camp Life Is Great, Corp. De Puy Thinks

Hiking 15 to 20 miles daily with a rifle and a 40-pound pack on your back—well its just fun, according to Corp. William De Puy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil De Puy of Tecumseh, who is home from Camp Livingston, La., on a 12-day furlough. He is a member of Co. B., 126th Infantry, Michigan National Guard.

ENGLISH DINNER

BOAR'S HEAD BANQUET TO BE SERVED HERE ON TUESDAY BY D. A. R.

Following as nearly as possible the style of the old English boar's head dinners of the sixteeth and seventeenth centuries, th Abi Evans Chapter, Tecumseh, Daughters of the American Revolution, is arranging such a banquet, to be served in the gymnasium of the high school here on Tuesday evening, April 1, at 6:30 o'clock. Some 250 persons will be seated, and reservations already have been made by guests from all parts of the county.

The dinner, served in five courses including fish, roast suckling pig, turkey and mince pie, will be the first of its kind ever attempted in Tecumseh or Lenawee county. Entertainment will be furnished between each course, the climax being the arrival of the boar's head on a silver platter, carried by the court's chief steward.

While it is not necessary for those attending the dinner to dress in costume, it is hoped by those in charge that as many as can will appear in a costume of some other period, thus adding to the jollity of the affair.

MARSH ADMITS BURGER MURDER

ENTERS GUILTY PLEA, AWAITS EXAMINATION BY THREE PSYCHIATRISTS

Admitting that he killed Herman P. Burger, 69-year-old Adrian cigar store clerk, in his room in that city last week Wednesday night, Fred C. Marsh, 23-year-old handy man, entered a plea of guilty to a murder charge when he was arraigned in Circuit Judge G. Arthur Rathbun's court at Adrian, Tuesday afternoon. Judge Rathbun, after a conference with the slayer, accepted his plea but delayed sentence, pending Marsh's examination by three psychiatrists. Such an examination is required under Michigan law. Marsh also will be given an examination before the court to determine the degree of murder.

Marsh, a former resident of Tecumseh but who for several years has resided in Adrian, was arrested in Easton, Pa., on Friday, when he was removed from a bus, bound for New York City. He was returned to the County Seat City on Sunday afternoon by Police Commissioner Arch T. Wilson and a state trooper, dispatched to Pennsylvania following the arrest. Marsh readily admitted his guilt, giving as a cause for the murder that Burger had accused him of stealing from the Chaloner Cigar Store, where Burger was employed.

Marsh, according to officers, entered Burger's room, over a store on West Maumee street, knocked him down, choked him with his necktie, and forced a 12-inch ruler a distance of 11 inches down his throat. He also poured ink down the throat of his victim and left him for dead. He then took the cigar store keys from Burger's pocket and rifled a cash drawer in the store, escaping with about $200.

The slayer, after visiting beer spots in Adrian, hired a taxi-cab and went to Toledo, where he boarded a bus bound for New York. He had nearly $170 of the stolen money on his person when arrested.

WE'RE GROWING OLD

If we can believe statistics, and seldom do they fail to cast an accurate shadow, the population of the United States will have reached its peak in about the year 1980, and after that time the country will be known throughout the world as one populated by men and women, a majority of whom are past the age of 50 years.

As we consider population figures today, without giving them much serious thought, it is hard to believe that in another thirty-nine or forty years we will have aged so rapidly. However, U. S. Census Bureau calculations show that in another 20 years, or in 1960, one-fourth of the nation's population will be men and women past the 50 mark, and that by 1980, or another 20 years, more than one-third of the population will be aged beyond the half-century figure.

To bring this thought more closely to home, let us consider the Village of Tecumseh, with its present population of 3,000. Today, Census Bureau figures say that Tecumseh has some 600 persons who are past 50, or one-fifth of the total number. Nearly 35 per cent are under the age of 20 years and approximately 10 per cent are over 60 years. About 55 per cent of its residents are between the ages of 20 years and 59 years.

But what will be the picture in 1960 in Tecumseh. If Census Bureau figures are correct, those beyond the age of 50 years will number 1,000, and those over the 60 mark will number 14.4 per cent. Those under 20 years of age will number only 29.3 per cent, a drop of nearly six per cent in twenty years.

In the year 1980, one-fifth of Tecumseh's population, for example, will be aged beyond 60 years. Fifty-four per cent will be between the ages of 20 and 59 years, and only 26.1 per cent will be under the 20 mark.

All of this business of growing old, as a nation, is due, the Census Bureau says, to the fact that the nation's birthrate is falling off rapidly, and that the only thing that can save us from becoming a nation of old men and women is a sharp upswing.

Records show that the U. S. birth rate hit its peak in the year 1914 and started downward in 1915. The birth rate per 1,000 population in 1915 was 25.1. Five years later it was 23.7, and in 1930 it was 18.9. In 1939, or the last available record, the rate was 17 per cent, or a little more than an eight per cent drop over the year of 1915.

Statistics also show that at the present time the highest birth rate is n New Mexico with 32.8 per cent per thousand, and that the lowest is in industrial Connecticut, where the rate is 13.1 per thousand.

HOW NAZIS USE "HOMELY WOMEN" FOR SPIES

The Corner Pulpit

"Praise the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, praise His Holy Name . . . forget not all His benefits . . . who saveth thy life from destruction, and crowneth thee with mercy and loving-kindness." (Psalm 103)

Europe today is dying from a physical death. America is being seriously threatened by a spiritual death. A nation may die, even while the wheels of its factories and motor cars still turn. The springs of our life may dry up even while we are still moving about—if we yield to a cynicalde-spair and give up the hope of a better world, cleansed of man's inhumanity to man.

Of all the ways of redeeming life from destruction, the one most urgently needed today is this—buying back our dreams from the cynics.

The dreams worth buying back must have contact with reality. Some of our dreams are as remote from reality as the fairy stories of childhood.

At the other extreme are dreams so clearly capable of realization that all we need to make them come true is perseverence. Those are scarcely dreams—they are resolutions.

Between these extremes lie the truly great dreams — the dreams that touch at one end the actually true, and at the other the potentially true—that bridge the gap between the real and the ALMOST impossible—the dreams that are woven out of fact and faith.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.

2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.

3 Army reconnaissance cars — military vehicles of an entirely new type — are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks.

4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airframe assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

Junior Garden Club To Make Bird Houses

Tecumseh Garden Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. K. Anderson, president of the club. Roll call was responded to by name a favorite native bird. Mrs. Neil Pearson, Junior Garden Club chairman, reported the making of bird houses as a suggested project for her club members until time for making gardens. The club voted to include these bird houses in the annual spring flower exhibit and to award prizes for the work.

Mrs. F. C. Dickinson read a paper on "Michigan Birds" and Mrs. C. C. Ruppel, one on "Native Trees," each giving personal experiences in connection with her subject.

Mrs. Frank Buck was appointed library chairman, the papers written by club members to be kept in the public library.

Mrs. Frank K. Smith spoke of the recently organized Tecumseh Hospital auxiliary and its need for additional members; also of the work to be done repairing linens and sewing on new materials. A special drive for members is being conducted until May 1.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Don Heesen, Mrs. H. H. Hammel and Mrs. Pearl Elliott. The tea table was decorated in green and white and the centerpiece was a miniature garden with small pots of shamrock and lighted green tapers, all in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. B. J. Pulver and Mrs. Ralph Heizerman poured.

Mrs. M. R. Blanden, Mrs. Lyman Curtiss and Mrs. F. K. Smith were guests.

Mrs. C. H. Giltner will be hostess for the next meeting and will be assisted by Mrs. D. F. Wright, Mrs. Stanley Rees, Mrs. L. B. Lindbert and Mrs. Guy Pocklington. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Peele of Adrian will demonstrate flower arrangement and music will be furnished by Mrs. Robert H. Moore, Mrs. J. M. Mulvany and Mrs. Sam Sisson. Each member is to bring a package of seeds to be given to members of the Junior Club, also a seed catalog to assist them in decorating their garden note books.

The Tecumseh Garden Club, through its chairman of Junior Garden Clubs, Mrs. Neil Pearson, has secured the use of a ten acre plot of ground near the Globe mill, belonging to the Henry Ford properties, for the Junior Garden Club this season. The loan is made by E. J. Clark of Macon, superintendent of the Ford properties in this section. Membership in the club is open to children from the fourth grade through high school and garden prizes are offered by the senior club. The proposed slogan is "Gardens for Defense" and the growing of vegetables will be stressed, though it is hoped that many flowers will also be grown. The committee is composed of Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. A. Heizerman, Mrs. Lewis Lent and Mrs. D. C. Heesen.

Suggesting the rugged, age defying beauty of the homes along our New England seacoast, this All-American Home is distinguished by wide pilasters and features two floors with adequate cellar area.

Adding to the charm of the Elmsford, is the architectural specification for flush board siding for the second story, which has a further feature, the semi-circular louvre window so typical of early American home-building detail.

Moderate in building cost, the Elmsford can be erected in this city or a suburb for approximately $4500.

Complete informative building plans and specifications, are being offered by this newspaper for $3.75. Because every American family's deepest desire is home-ownership, you won't want to delay beginning building your own Elmsford.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
North Union Street

Service Sunday 10:45 a. m.
All literature at the public library.

"Reality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 30.

The Golden Text (Jeremiah 51:10) is: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 1:20): "For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead;"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Bake Eddy, include the following (p. 331): "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. Everything in God's universe expresses Him."

INCREASED SHARE OF HOUSEWIFE'S DOLLAR SPENT WITH A & P NOW GOES TO FARMER, HARTFORD ANNOUNCES

NEW YORK, March 27—Growers and shippers of fresh fruits and vegetables throughout the country are getting a 13 per cent larger share of the consumer's dollar on produce marketed thru the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company than they were four years ago, John A. Hartford, A & P president, announced today.

Pointing out that the 13 per cent increase meant growers and shippers are getting six and a half cents more of each dollar's worth of fresh fruits and vegetables sold in A & P retail stores, Hartford said 53.3 cents of each dollar now is being passed on by his company to growers and shippers. The return, he pointed out, is well above the national average for produce marketed through all channels.

Based on analysis of the company's operations and those of its buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company, during the first eleven months of 1940 as compared with the year of 1937, Hartford's report indicated that the constantly increasing return to growers results directly from continued improvement of the company's efficiency with attendant reduction of operating expenses and elimination of loss from spoilage and damages.

"Our company's report may be cited as significant evidence of what straight-line distribution is doing to help solve one of agriculture's major problems today, the vital need to return to farmers a larger share of the consumer dollar, and thus to bring about a greater parity between farm and industrial income," Hartford said.

The A & P president said this continuing progress, in addition to helping the growers, also allows millions of people to buy more food, thereby expanding the markets for fresh fruits and vegetables. More and more retailers, he added, are following the example of economical distribution set by his company and other mass merchandising organizations.

The major savings in A & P distribution during the four-year period the report showed, resulted from reduced operating expenses and a large decrease in damage and spoilage loss — operating costs dropping 19 per cent and spoilage 44 per cent.

Today Its Preparedness!

IN these times of War, when history is in the making every minute of the 24-hour day, the people of the United States are preparedness-minded.

They think of preparedness in terms of the nation; in terms of their own community; in terms of their families and themselves.

And the alert merchant, the alert manufacturer is prepared today as never before to serve this public. Like the nation, he too must be "on his toes," ready for service.

Newspaper advertising, a means through which the merchant and the manufacturer may tell his story to the public, is a part of the nation's merchandising service.

In Tecumseh there is no other medium through which this service may be performed other than The Tecumseh Herald, Lenawee County's Oldest Weekly Newspaper.

Pastor - Editor to Speak at Men's Meet

Thursday evening, April 3, at 6:45 o'clock, a Lenten dinner for all the men of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be served in the Boston Lunch on North Evans street. Following the dinner, there will be an address by the Rev. I. C. Johnon, rector of old St. John's church on Woodward Avenue at Vernor Highway in downtown Detroit. His subject will be, "A Parson Looks at the Contemporary Religious Scene."

The Rev. Mr. Johnson spoke at a similar meeting here a year ago, and his address was so enthusiastically received that the vestry of the parish under whose auspices these dinners are arranged endeavored to secure him again.

Mr. Johnson possesses unusual qualities which makes him very popular as a religious speaker at men's meetings. Probably the chief of these is the fact that he was originally trained for newspaper work and understands the layman's point-of-view better than most of the clergy. For many years before he was ordained, he rendered the church valuable service as a layman. At one time he was editor of the diocesan magazine, "The Michigan Churchman," and later he became diocesan director of boy's work. The latter gave him national recognition as an outstanding leader of boys and young men. He has also travelled widely in Europe and in the Orient. Shortly before the present war broke out he was in England.

There will be a musical program including a girls' duo from the North Street Bible Church and the A Capella Singers from the Memorial Baptist Church, both of Jackson; musical selections from the Lenawee Brotherhood Tabernacle and the Weston Baptist Church, and instrumental music from the Bethel Independent Tabernacle in Britton.

The speaker will be Dan E. L. Patch, chief of police of the Highland Park police department, well known author and speaker, who will be of especial interest to young people.

The meeting is open to the public and all young people are cordially invited to attend.

God HAS Blessed America

If you were standing somewhere outside the world and were told you could choose any country on earth to live in, which one would you, as a woman, pick? Where would you find the greatest amount of personal freedom for yourself...the widest range of opportunities for your children ...the highest standard of living for your family and the most recognition for you as an individual?

The answer is not hard to guess. You would choose America! Everything about this big, new country has combined to make it serve the individual in his or her "pursuit of happiness." Its vast wealth...its variety of climate...and above all, its form of government "of the people, by the people and for the people" makes this the best country in the world for women.

The state, in our democracy, exists for the sake of the individual and not the individual for the sake of the state, as in a totalitarian country. The result is a nation of independent, hopeful, ambitious, fearless men and women and rosy children who look forward to a life of the kind they choose to live.

And perhaps that s the most important thing about America in these fearful days. If your son wants to go into business, he may do so. If he wants to be an electrical engineer that, too, is all right. But in a totalitarian country all boys must be fitted into the same pattern. If you have a short wave radio you and your friends can listen to programs from all over the world. In dictator-ridden countries they must listen ONLY to the programs approved by the state. You read what you please and can get hold of. You can say what you please, "right out in the meetin'" if you have the courage to stand up in front of your club or your school or Sunday school. In dictator countries you may be arrested for the things you say, even to members of your own family in the privacy of your home. You can go to church if you like and to whatever church you choose. In totalitarian states religious freedom is a thing of the past. You can save money . . . if you can, at least a little of it almost every month, while in dictator countries more and more of it is confiscated by the state. Probably you have a car and go where you please. Only a few of the very rich women of dictator countries have cars and even they can't go where they please.

And—very important, too—your standard of living is such that you can buy more of the good and necessary things of life than people in other lands. Better goods, and more of them—and a wider choice of goods—all made possible by a free system of industrial enterprise unlike that in other lands.

It's a great country we live in broad in fertile acres—rich in resources and a free government, blessed by God!

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our beloved mother; to the Rev. Arthur T. Cox for his consoling words and for the many floral offerings; also to the bearers and G. E. Belding.

As sinks behind the hill
The glory of a setting star—

Her immortal soul is waiting
To welcome loved ones there.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

NINETY-FIRST YEAR— NUMBER TWENTY-SEVEN. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1941. FIVE CENTS PER COPY.

BIG VOTE SEEN AT POLLS HERE

BALLOTING IN TECUMSEH AND THROUGHOUT COUNTY LIKELY TO BE HEAVY

With two tickets in the field for township offices, a contest on an independent ticket for the circuit judgeship, and with interest running high throughout the state in connection with the political battle between Republicans and Democrats for the control of the Michigan Administrative Board, observers today forecast a heavy vote at the polls in Tecumseh on Monday, as well as throughout the county and the state. Locally, polling booths will be set up in the council building on South Evans street, and the polls will be open between 7 a. m., and 6 p. m.

"Regardless or how they vote, we want them to vote," Mayor Karl M. Schneider said today. "We want Tecumseh village and township to show the State of Michigan that here we appreciate our right of franchise. And so that no one will forget that it is election day, I have requested that the fire siren be sounded at 10 a. m., 12 o'clock noon, 3 p. m., and again at 5 p. m, to remind electors that as American citizens they have a duty to perform."

Voters will receive four ballots when they go to the voting booths. The township ballot offers a complete Republican ticket, and there is only one vacancy on the Democratic ticket. The Republican ticket is as follows: supervisor, A. O. Howard; clerk, H. H. Hanna; treasurer, Pearl Elliott; highway commissioner, Geo. Sanford; justice of the peace, H. W. McClure; board of review, Wm. Gibson; constables, B. W. Mominee, Geo. Isaacson, Neil DePuy and A. B. Harding. The Democratic ticket is: E. C. Heilman, supervisor; Wiley McCann, clerk; Otis Sisson, highway commissioner; Chris Taylor, justice of peace; L. E. Brown, board of review; John Truesdale, Ben Hammack, Fred Chase and Dale Tingley, constables.

On the independent ticket, the contest in which Tecumseh and Lenawee county is particularly interested is between G. Arthur Rathbun and James H. Baxter for the circuit judgeship. Judge Rathbun, for many years a practicing attorney here, is seeking reelection to the bench. Mr. Baker is an Adrian lawyer. Two justices of the state supreme court also will be named in the election.

Interest in the state ballot centers around the contest for state highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction. Le Roy C. Smith, Detroit, Republican, is opposing the election of Donald Kennedy, Democratic incumbent and assistant under D. Van Wagoner before his election to the governorship. Dr. Eugene Elliott, Republican state superintendent of public instruction, is being opposed for reelection by E. W. McFarland, Democrat. By virtue of their office, both state officials sit as members of the Michigan Administrative board, and should the Republicans succeed in winning both offices their party would have a balance of power on the state's most powerful board.

Also to be elected on Monday are two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the state board of agriculture and a member of the state board of education.

The amendment ballot, containing two proposals, should not confuse the electors, its size being much smaller than in previous elections. Both proposals deal with laws to regulate the fraudulent signing of petitions, and previously have been passed by large majorities in both houses of the legislature. The enactment of the proposals into law, it is said, would end many of the petition frauds that in recent years have shocked all parts of the state.

YOU CAN AND SHOULD VOTE TWICE

Voters, when they receive their state ballots, should note that they are asked to vote twice for Le Roy C. Smith or G. D. Kennedy, who are seeking the office of state highway commissioner.

Here is the reason:

One of the votes will be cast for either Smith or Kennedy to fill the unexpired term in the state highway office. The other vote will be to elect either Smith or Kennedy to the office.

The commissionership formerly was held by Murray Van Wagoner before his election to the governorship, and Kennedy, a Democrat, is now in charge, having been Van Wagoner's deputy. Smith, a Republican, is seeking election to both the unexpired term and for a full term.

The unexpired term ends June 30, 1941. The new term begins July 1, 1941.

Fire Truck Is All O. K. New Carburetor Needed

Tecumseh's rural fire truck, which failed to speed to a fire southwest of Tipton last week Wednesday afternoon, is quite O. K. today, village officials said. A new carburetor was all that was needed and a test run following repairs last week Thursday showed that the truck is now capable to doing 60 to 65 miles an hour.

On the run last week the truck started to backfire before it reached Waldron's hill on M-50 and finally at Tipton it refused to operate entirely. A kind hearted truck driver pulled the apparatus to the scene of the fire, which by that time was under control of Adrian fire fighters.

FREEDOM OF THE BALLOT:

Here in the United States is the only place left in the world where there is complete freedom of the ballot so far as electing government leaders is concerned. On Monday, April 7th, here in Michigan there is an all important election. The people themselves, by going to the polls, decide if they appreciate this greatest gift of God to our civilization.

The officers to be elected on April 7th are of major importance to every citizen of Michigan. They will have charge of building and maintaining our highway system for the next four years. And the people will select on this election day the six men who form the educational policies for our youth for the next six years and two members of the Supreme Court.

Voting slackers are today the greatest menace to the retention of our constitutional form of government. Michigan citizens should broadcast to the world her Americanism by voting.

97 MEN CALLED IN APRIL DRAFT

JUNE CALL EXPECTED TO BE HEAVIER; MAY CALL IS LIGHT

Lenawee county's (selective service draft quota for the month of April has been fixed at 82 men with an additional 15 to replace a shortage in the March call. With 67 ready and 13 tentatively set to go, following examinations, 2 are still needed to reach the total of 97. Examinations this week are hoped to fill the quota and if more than 28 are found physically fit they will be placed first on the list for the May call. In the last two examinations only 50 per cent were found to be physically fit but in earlier examinations, which included more volunteers, at least seven out of 10 passed their tests.

The May call is expected to be approximately 25 per cent less than April, and will be followed by a heavy call in June. All local boards have been notified to clean up shortages by the end of April. The release of a number of college students deferred until June, will aid in filling the heavy quota.

Out of 62 men inducted in three calls in Lenawee only five have been rejected which is a very low record in comparison to other communities.

The first Negro selectee from the county is Gerald Simmons of Adrian, a volunteer, who was inducted into service at Detroit Tuesday.

Robert M. Erlenbush of Tecumseh has enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Corps and is given a deferred status under the draft, because he is already in the armed service of the United States.

Maurice Tuckey and Gerald Craig who recently joined the Michigan National Guard will go to Jackson Monday to leave with the guard for Fort Knox, Kentucky. Later they will be sent to Camp Leonard Wood at Rolla, Missouri. Ray Hershey formerly of Tecumseh, is also a member of the Jackson company.

Olen Nye who was drafted for selective service from Ypsilanti is in Ann Arbor today for induction into the army.

BODIES FOUND

MISSING PETERSBURG BOYS DIED OF DROWNING, DOCTORS SAY

The bodies of Charles Heiden, 8, and Blair Elder, 9, missing from their homes in Petersburg since February 24, were found during the week end in the River Raisin near the shack where they had been playing. The body of the Heiden boy was found Saturday morning at 11:30 by Gour Trilby, Ohio, firemen who had volunteered to drag the river.

The body of the Elder child was located Monday afternoon about 1 o'clock by members of the Blissfield state police post who were dragging the river. The boy's ribs were fractured and his chest and lungs injured, thought to have resulted from blasting the ice. After post mortem examination it was decided both boys died of drowning and it is probable no coroner's inquest will be held.

Funeral services for the Heiden boy were held Tuesday in the Petersburg Presbyterian church. Services for the Elder boy will be private and will be held this afternoon in the home.

ENGLISH DINNER ATTENDED BY 250

BOAR'S HEAD BANQUET ADDRESSED BY SENOR DOMINGUEZ, MEXICAN CONSUL

An earnest plea for a more complete understanding of our Spanish speaking neighbors to the south — in keeping with President Roosevelt's good neighbor policy — was voiced here on Tuesday evening by Adolfo G. Dominguez, Mexican consul in Detroit, when he addressed some 250 persons following an old English boar's head banquet, in the gymnasium of Tecumseh high school. The dinner was sponsored by the Abi Evans Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and was the first affair of its kind ever attempted in Lenawee county. Guests were present not only from Tecumseh but from neighboring towns and counties.

Senor Dominguez, a career man with his government and who has held important posts in Canada and Washington, speaks English fluently. Briefly, he pictured the life of the Mexican people, told of their customs and characteristics, and declared that it is the problem of both the United States, Mexico and South America to "make the Americas safe for Americans," regardless of where they reside.

Speaking of Mexican customs, the consul told of the celebrations in his native land at time of birth, marriage and death. He declared that in Mexico the gardenia is the flower usually used at the funeral. "Here in America," he said, "the gardenia is classed with the orchid and is cherished, but should a Mexican boy give his girl friend a gardenia she would be insulted, believing he thought her dead."

Senor Dominguez paid tribute to Tecumseh, declaring that he had been honored to speak at the banquet in a community that sought more fully a complete understanding of its Mexican neighbors. "I am pleased with the honor you have shown me," he said, "and I assure you that my government will hear about Tecumseh and this banquet tonight."

The banquet, which took approximately two-and-a-half hours to serve, began with the entrance march of the minstrels of the manor, after the guests had been seated. The Rev. O. V. Robinson of the Baptist church asked the invocation and assembly singing of "America" was led by W. L. Berkhof.

The first course was an orange cup, the second fried smelt and chips, tartar sauce and rolls, the third, roast suckling pig, glazed apples, buttered carrots and tropical fruits. The fifth course was mince pie and coffee.

Mrs. Eugene C. Fisher welcomed the guests and acted as toastmaster in the absence of Judge G. Arthur Rathbun, who was unable to attend because of illness in his family. Assembly singing was led by Mr. Berkhof's direction and Shirley Ann Moore and Gloria Underwoor, presented a Mexican hat dance. Doris Jean Gilman of Clinton sang carols, Robert H. Moore carrying the Boar's head on a silver platter, acted as chief steward, and the pages were Gerald Tomezak and Jack Whelan. There was tap dancing by Lenore Larsen and George Wagner of Adrian sang two solos.

Mrs. E. D. Brown, regent of the local D. A. R. chapter, officially called the meeting to order, the Mexican national anthem was sung by Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. R. H. Moore and Frederick Dickinson. Senor Dominguez complimented the trio for their excellent expression. The consul was introduced by Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy, who has visited Mexico on several occasions.

Music during the banquet was furnished by the Tipton orchestra. The dinner was under the supervision of Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, home economics director of the school, and was served by home economics girls and boys of the Future Farmers of America. The general committee in charge of the banquet was Mrs. Fisher and Miss Marian Whelan.

Twenty-seven minutes and your battery is charged and analyzed. Let us do it while we are greasing or washing your car. It will save you money. Butler Motor Sales. —adv.

"INVENTIVE SECURITY"

Suddenly one day during the World War, the German troops on the Western Front were faced with an awe-inspiring sight. Big ungainly objects armored like oversized armadilloes were trundling towards their trenches. The troops fired at the strange creatures, but without effect. They could do nothing save beat a hurried retreat.

Those strange armored beings were, of course, the first British tanks—the first tanks, indeed, used in modern warfare. They were a "surprise weapon," effecting a decisive change in the course and temper of military events. It is only by producing such surprises that the defenses of any nation in this troubled world can be securely maintained.

In this light, it is certainly cheering to know that the United States is making due allowance for this factor at a time when the other phases of national defense are coming in for detailed consideration. The government some time ago established a National Inventors Council, headed by Charles F. Kettering, world-famous inventor in his own right, the man who conceived the self-starter for the automobile, and today President of General Motors Research Corporation.

Mr. Kettering and his associates will examine the thousands of ideas conceived by small inventors and large research laboratories which might be of value to the defense program. Undoubtedly, most of the ideas won't be particularly useful. But buried among them will be a few of the "surprise weapons" that can prove so decisively important.

We can be sure that many of these inventions will be valuable because the United States, more than any other country, has proved itself an "inventor's land." Here the men who create new ideas are protected by a patent system that is a model for the rest of the world. Here they have the industrial backing to develop the new thought they conceive. Men like Dr. Kettering are exemplars of that truth; others are continuing to prove it at the present time.

MEASLES TOWARD PEAK

Measles reported in March will probably total 20,000 cases, double the February total, the Michigan Department of Health says. Cases are being reported from all over the state.

"Why measles cases in an epidemic year should rise to a peak in spring has never been explained," says Commissioner H. Allen Moyer. "The high month this year likely will be either March or April. In the 1935 epidemic it was April with 25,000 cases reported, in 1938 the high month was March with 22,000 cases reported."

Dr. Moyer said that while the large spring rise in cases cannot be controlled, that parents should make every effort to keep babies and children under five away from anyone having measles. He said this also applies to an older child who is ill with another disease or recovering from one.

"If the physician is able to give a treatment within a few days after exposure to a case of measles, but not later than the eighth day after exposure, an attack of measles can be made shorter and lighter," Dr. Moyer said.
